Frisbee Buffs Call Him 'King'

By HARRY ATKINS

Associated Press Writer
HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — Jon Davis is a big man with big ideas about little things.

Here in the heart of Copper Country, in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, they call Davis "the Frisbee King." A portion of the small plastic disc has even been named in his honor.

The inside ridge of a Frisbee is known as "The Ditch of Davis" to the real Frisbee heavies," Davis says with a chuckle and a wink.

The 39-year-old son of a downstate circuit court judge came to Houghton to attend Michigan Technological University but decided innkeeping suited his skills more than mechanical engineering.

He bought an old two-story tavern known as the Board of Trade & Palm Gardens Cafe. He promptly renamed it The Library and has been here ever since.

These days — in addition to overseeing the popular watering hole — he also serves as president of the Chamber of Commerce; co-hosts a weekly radio talk show and is the driving force behind a Frisbee tournament that brings thousands flocking to the shores of Lake Superior every summer.

The 19th Annual International Frisbee Tournament, July

17-18, will be fun to watch, but it's no game for gramps and the kids on a family picnic.

"They call it 'guts Frisbee' and it's just what the name implies," Davis says. "Two five-man teams stand 15 yards apart and throw as hard as they can at one another."

"The object is to throw so hard the other team can't catch it in one hand cleanly."

Speeds of 90 m.p.h. have been clocked in guts Frisbee, Davis says.

The first Frisbee tournament in the Upper Peninsula was at Escanaba but moved just north of here to Eagle Harbor, on the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula, in 1969.

"Somehow it got too big," Davis says. "By about 1970 or 1971 they had rules. There are still some purists who claim it should be played with a can of beer in one hand and no practicing."

Davis counts himself among the purists, although he cannot deny he is pleased that last year's tournament drew 64 teams from around the country and thousands of fans, who left behind considerable amounts of money.

The winning team gets its name inscribed on the base of a cup made from tin cans with a pair of handcuffs mounted on top.

"The cup contains a penny, so nobody can say it's worthless," he says.

Davis' tournament, sanctioned by the International Frisbee Association, is a prelude to the World Frisbee Tournament, held in California later in the year.

The defending champions are a team from Rochester, Mich., known as the Air Aces. Others, however, opt for more exotic names. The affair was won one year, for instance, by a team from Ann Arbor calling itself the Humbly Magnificent Cham-

Muskegon Spree Costs Two Lives

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Edward Schultz never kept his appointment with a psychiatrist Thursday. Instead, he died with a policeman's bullet in his head after a shooting spree which left one man fatally wounded and the officer in critical condition. Also killed was Deron Weisner, 18, of North Muskegon. He died at Muskegon's Hackley Hospital Thursday after being shot at a filling station.

"It would appear that the shootings are without motive. It seems he was just shooting at anyone who moved," Muskegon County Prosecutor Gerald Warner said after Schultz was gunned down.

Warner said Schultz's mother arranged Thursday's psychiatric appointment for her 25-year-old son. The prosecutor added that relatives reported Schultz had "a mental breakdown about six months ago."

The prosecutor said he was not told what caused Schultz's breakdown and those contacted at Schultz's home refused to talk with reporters. Warner said Schultz had no record of serious trouble with the law.

Instead of seeing the psychiatrist, Schultz drove his green pickup truck to the nearby home of Dick Davis, 18, Warner said. Davis told Warner he believed Schultz wanted his help for a job cleaning septic tanks.

With Davis at the wheel and Schultz riding in the open bed of the truck, the two set out along Michigan 120, Warner said.

Warner said Davis reported hearing some shots as he drove. As the truck approached Ray's M-20 service station, Schultz leaped out and called, "Hi Tommy" to an attendant he knew and then "fired a gun," the prosecutor said.

Warner said the shot struck Weisner in the back just as he was stepping into the station.

The pickup — with Davis still at the wheel, although police said later he was under duress — sped from the station to a private airstrip about three blocks away. The owner told police he was threatened by a man who fired at a parked helicopter.

Sheriff's Lt. Orville Budd, 41, of Twin Lake, joined another deputy at the service station and the two men sped to the airport, where three shots greeted them. One bullet slammed into Budd's back as he tried to scramble from the cruiser.

Despite his wound, Budd, who has won many marksmanship awards, shot Schultz through the head with his .357 magnum pistol, police said.

The prosecutor reported witnesses said Schultz pointed the rifle at Davis when the pair reached the airport. "He was under duress," Warner said of Davis. No charges were filed against Davis and he was not held.

Budd was hospitalized in critical condition.

Gobles Schools Will Be Repaid For Trip

By LARRY MACINTYRE

Staff Writer

GOBLES — Members of the Gobles school board will repay costs incurred by their spouses who attended a national educators convention with them in San Francisco last month.

Karl Blaha, board president, said this morning that the members had planned to repay the costs even before the trip was taken.

"It was an oversight on my part," said Blaha in explaining why he didn't mention the repayment commitment Tuesday when commenting on the costs of the trip. "I just failed to mention it on Tuesday."

Supl. Guy Leversee who was also questioned about the trip Tuesday did not mention reimbursement plans either.

The issue arose from a Monday night school board meeting where a private citizen asked about the cost but received no figures. The board has since said costs of the trip would be reported at a board meeting June 14.

Based on figures compiled by this newspaper from school officials, the trip cost at least $1,082, totally.

The figure covered costs of the six board members, their spouses and Leversee. Leversee's wife paid her own way, school officials reported.

Blaha said today that prior to the trip, the board had agreed to foot the bill for air fare, hotel rooms and meals, but that board members would later have to repay costs incurred by their spouses.

Blaha said the decision was made because some board members had said they would not attend the convention if they could not take their wives, and they had also indicated they did not have enough money to pay in advance.

Leversee was reported to have told the Associated Press yesterday, "The common practice has been to repay the school district. That's the way it has always happened before."

Another board member, Carl Gilbert, said he understood "it was to be a personal conviction for each board member to settle the bill as he saw fit."

Carl Wilkinson, deputy executive director of the Michigan School Boards association, said the state contingent at the convention numbered about 800, including many spouses and children.

"We have told the school districts that board members must pay all costs for their spouses and children. These bills would not be considered a legal expense for a board of education," Wilkinson said.

Bass Won't Run For BH Mayor

Cornelius Bass Jr. announced today he will not be a candidate for mayor of Benton Harbor to succeed recalled Charles F. Joseph.

Four other people have taken out nominating petitions for commission seats vacated by the recall, according to the city clerk's office. They are Donna

Cooke legislative coordinator for the mayor-commission office, commissioner-at-large, James Dudley, for mayor; Norval Weiss, commissioner-at-large, and Nate Robinson, Third Ward commissioner.

City Manager James Peoples, Jr. said this morning Mrs. Cooke has not been at work in city hall since the May 18 recall of Mayor Joseph and Commissioners Barbara Huckaby, Charles Shepherd and Winston Minott.

Bass a Whirlpool executive, earlier announced he intended to run for the mayor's seat if the recall election was successful.

"Since my intentions to seek office if the recall were successful, I've had the opportunity to review the Benton Harbor situation with a great deal of perspective," Bass said. "It is my feeling that if I was elected, time demands would be greater than I could afford."

"I am, however, in agreement with the published articles suggesting that, at this point in the city's history, people of dedication for the city's interest and future foremost in mind must be selected," Bass said. "The events of the last five months have been trying, to say the least. I would hope that we can put the burned bridges behind and start the long haul of coming together and rebuilding."

The clerk's office reported that no one has yet filed for any of the commission seats up for election Aug. 3.

Deadline for filing for the seats is June 8.

Stripper Says JFK Affair 'Beautiful'

By HARRY ATKINS

Associated Press Writer

ECORSE, Mich. (AP) — Stripper Tempest Storm said Thursday she had an affair with the late President John F. Kennedy that began when he was a senator and continued while he was in the White House.

"I met him when he was a senator," she said in a backstage interview at the Harbor Theater where she is performing this week. "I also knew him when he was a President and he was a very charming man. To me he was a human being just like anyone else."

The red-haired, statuesque stripper said she didn't think anything of the affair at the time and was rather surprised that her revelation might cause a stir.

"I mean, I've had a lot of men in my life," she said. "Miss Storm, who bills herself as the only stripper to play Carnegie Hall, described Kennedy's marriage at the time as 'unhappy.'"

"To me he was a very charming man," she said. "He had a great personality and a great wit about him and a great sense of humor..."

Miss Storm wouldn't say exactly how she and JFK got together. "There are many ways," she said, "but I'd rather not divulge that. It was done very discreetly."

"I was aware that he had a wife. And I certainly didn't want to do anything that would ruin his political career. But we had a beautiful thing together and that's the way I would like to leave it."

The blue-eyed stripper said she was aware that other women have made similar claims of romance with the late President, but denied she was seeking to cash in on possible publicity. "It's not in my mind to use this as publicity for myself because I certainly don't need it," she said. "As I say, I wasn't aware this would cause a whole commotion, because it was so long ago."

She noted that she, too, was reasonably famous.

"A relationship between a male and a female, if it lasts long enough, I mean, naturally, one thing leads to the other and I guess, more or less, that I had an affair with him (JFK)," Miss Storm said. "I mean it's not the first affair I've had with a famous man."

"It was a beautiful thing between us and that's about all I can say. I admired the man."

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Advertising Comes Under First Amendment Blanket

Since the U.S. Constitution took effect in 1789 the courts have accorded the First Amendment's guaranty of free speech and free press a far ranging effect.

It has shown up mostly in suits for slander or libel.

Fellow editors, including those on our staff, incline to reserve full agreement with our judgment until the Supreme Court decides how far a trial judge can go in suppressing news in criminal trials as a means to assure the defendant a fair trial under the Sixth Amendment.

This is a matter of concern to everyone in our calling and should be to the public. The criminal already has enough strikes against the prosecution without adding further to the difficulty of putting him out of circulation.

Contrary to the protective degree extended to speech and the written words, the courts, comparatively speaking, have held a check rein on other forms and methods of communication.

Although the Federal Communications Act specifically declares the government, through the Federal Communications Commission, may not censor broadcast material, broadcasters do not feel at ease with that section in the basic statute.

A fairly recent statute banning the advertising of all smoking tobacco from the air waves is one example of governmental intrusion into their affairs.

So far no one selling hard liquor has felt sufficiently courageous to challenge an FCC memorandum issued years ago when the 18th Amendment was repealed to the effect that the Commission might have to take a look if any station peddling whisky or gin commercials was operating in the public's best interest. This public interest requirement is the key to being licensed to run a radio or television station.

The family viewing hour is another example of censorship in fact though not in name.

Equally disturbing is a line of thought urged by some lawyers and bureaucrats that the First Amendment does not apply to broadcasting because of no wording to that effect. This starchy proposition has yet to receive an airing in court.

Commercial advertising, printed or broadcast, has never enjoyed much, if any protection.

The Supreme Court stated in so many words back in 1942 that the Constitution does not mention commercial advertising. The decision upheld a New York City ordinance banning the distribution of handbills. Actually the opinion was one of the first judicial approvals of anti-littering laws.

This week the Court eliminated to a sizeable degree the anti-First Amendment precedent on commercial advertising.

By a 7-1 vote, with one abstention, it ruled a Virginia law forbidding the advertising of prescription drugs to be an undue infringement upon the First Amendment.

The majority based its reasoning on the consumerist argument that a blackout on price advertising has nothing to do with providing high professional standards and is intended as a ripoff of the customer.

Justice William Rehnquist dissented, principally on the ground that the majority should have examined its position in light of all price advertising prohibitions.

Specifically, he referred to the touchy question of doctors, lawyers, dentists, engineers and accountants advertising their services and fees.

Under their societal codes of ethics, reinforced in the laws of all the states, any reference beyond posting their names and addresses in professional directories is reason for lifting their licenses to practice.

Rehnquist wrote that the majority's decision on a druggist opens the door for a doctor to circulate what he will charge to amputate a leg or for a lawyer to state what he will take to obtain a judgment for the amputation.

If and when the advertising lawyer is hauled into court, or, as is more likely to be the case, a consumer group, pulling a professional society before the bench as it did in Virginia, Rehnquist's associates might well disagree with his dire prediction or at least not go sled length with it.

Dispensing a prescription is both providing a service and selling a product.

Examining a patient or preparing a law suit is strictly a personal service.

tion into the assassination of John F. Kennedy. On the one hand is the desire to know all that is pertinent about the murder of a President.

All the crackpot theories aside, there are legitimate questions which were not answered or even addressed by the Warren Commission. The question raised by members of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Activities concerning the Oswald Cuban connection is one.

Countering that reaction is the emotional dread of reopening the trauma on what could be nothing more than a fishing expedition with results no more conclusive than those of the Warren Commission. The only way of finding out if there is something of substance which has been largely overlooked is to proceed with a review. The doubts raised by the Senate Select Committee concerning the "why" of the assassination are substantial enough to warrant a limited investigation. Perhaps the greatest argument in favor of a new look at new evidence is the doubt which forever would surround the question if it is not resolved as judiciously but thoroughly as possible.

FAVORS LIQUOR AT LAWRENCE

Editor,

Why should the residents of our community (Lawrence) and their guests, as well as travelers, be deprived of their favorite beverage when they patronize a local tavern or restaurant?

They are deprived of this privilege because we have a local prohibition law that is not in keeping with the law that now pertains to areas of the state representing over 97 per cent of our population.

On June 7th, we have the opportunity to end this discrimination by voting yes on the proposition to permit the sale of liquor by the glass under provisions of the state law.

Is it so immoral to have a drink of our choice here at home when all one has to do is to drive a few miles, in any direction, to obtain his favorite beverage?

We all complain about taxes and the need of more money to operate our schools and local government — yet we are losing tax dollars by prohibiting the sale of all beverages within the corporate limits. We tell people they should not drink and drive, and yet we make it necessary for them to drive to some other place where they can obtain their favorite drink. I hope our citizens will vote yes on the liquor issue June 7th and bring our community in step with the rest of Michigan.

MAN IS INNOCENT TILL PROVEN GUILTY

Editor,

A recent issue of your paper carried an interesting headline story of Atty. Thomas McCoy's clearance of a perjury charge in connection with an event occurring nine years ago. According to the report it seems that perhaps Prosecutor John Smielanka, was more interested in a form of "persecution" than prosecution of Mr. McCoy in this particular case, according to the remarks of Judge James.

The last paragraph of the news story stated that Atty. McCoy is now facing some further charges regarding an alleged conspiracy to obtain some money fraudulently from an electric company. This indictment appears to be incredible to many of us who have known Mr. McCoy as an outstanding and very highly respected member of our community, noted for his honesty, integrity and fine character. He is an honored member of a number of our local civic and fraternal organizations with the highest regard from every member, who earnestly wish to uphold his good name and excellent reputation.

It is our hope that in this great American democracy of ours a man is innocent of all charges until proven guilty by proper court procedure, without any personal prejudice.

Ford Campaign Stumbles Along

WASHINGTON — A chap who does research for the Grant Old Party says he has found an H.L. Mencken quote which has application to Jerry Ford's campaign to become the real president. Mencken suggested that losing candidates, and their staffs, be quietly hung as a matter of public sanitation; otherwise, he explained, their grief might have an unsettling effect on the young.

As it applies to J. Ford, the witticism is undoubtedly somewhat early, but perhaps not premature. He is not yet officially a loser. But despite primary victories in Michigan and Maryland, the unelected incumbent remains the weakest standing president since Herbert Hoover, the least likely Republican prospect since Alf Landon, and given in the GOP remains "thicker" than Ron Reagan delegates.

The situation might not be so dismal for the sons of Lincoln were Ford having his present bloody scrap with a formidable opponent. But Reagan? In matters of intellectual combat, the Californian is forever unarmed. The story is that he has been against sex education in schools ever since his own kids were brought by the stork. He is an accomplished gentleman, but his philosophy has the characteristics of topsail in Nevada, ever so wide and an inch deep.

Still, Reagan has been able to all but mortally wound the President of the United States. And he's done it with clean hands. The result seems, at this stage, to be that although Ford will probably still win the nomination, he will stump for election as a political zombie.

Undoubtedly we will hear from multiplying numbers of pessimistic Republicans from here to election. And many of them will be trying to fix the blame for the party's predicament. Watergate will be lamented, as Gersell explains,

Carter Warming Up To His Foes

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter had a cordial telephone conversation with his former Democratic rival, Sen. Henry Jackson, the other day.

Carter contacted Jackson at his home on a Sunday, after several preliminary queries from his staff to Jackson's staff to ascertain that Jackson would accept the call.

Nothing dramatic happened, Carter did not suggest that Jackson might be in his choice as running mate if Jackson would release his 211 delegates in his favor. Jackson did not suggest that he was interested in endorsing Carter. "They talked about the weather," a Jackson adviser observed wryly.

Nonetheless, the exchange opened up the possibility of a private dialogue between the potential presidential nominee and one of the Senate's most powerful leaders, whose only relationship until then had been totally hostile. It was a small step toward unifying the party after the convention.

And it was proper that the courtesy call be initiated by Carter. It demonstrated that he is already thinking ahead to the general election, for if he is the nominee he will need the support of Jackson and others whom he does not need at the moment.

Carter's increasing willingness to reach out to party leaders and influential party forces who have ignored or opposed him is an encouraging sign that he is the kind of pragmatist who might be able to put a divided party back together. Clearly, he is no McGovern, who arrogantly refused to deal after he won the nomination with anyone but his own true believers.

The weekly ups and downs of primary victories and losses make the campaign headlines. And Carter's major concern is smashing his opponents before they smash him. But there is for having weakened both the spirit and bloodlines of Republicanism. And the official GOP luminaries, such as Charles Percy and Elliott Richardson, will be rapped for not having opposed Ford for the good of the party if not themselves.

But the interim President himself will likely and justifiably receive the most point-blank criticism. Even as a caretaker chief executive he had by dint of the White House mystique an extraordinary opportunity to extend the life of the Republican administration by at least eight years.

But he has chosen instead to convince the nation it can't do without him. In this regard he has promised an Illinois audience he would have the Pentagon reconsider the closing of an airbase there that is not scheduled to be closed. He has eaten half of a campaign lamé before discovering it was still in its wrapper. At stop after dreary stop he has reminded spectators of Sen. William McCade's 1912 remark about Warren Harding: "His speeches leave the impression of an army of phrases moving over the landscape in search of an idea."

He has unashamedly used the power of his un-won office for personal political gain, such as when he invited nine New Hampshire editors into the Oval Office for an exclusive primary-eye interview, and when he dangled an $80-million Veterans Administration hospital before the voters of Maryland.

And so as the end of the primaries nears, President Ford has convinced many people that the rumors of his leadership are true. When the Hot Line rings, he turns to his cabinet and says: "Henry, it's for you."

What's gone wrong with Ford's campaign is that it begin in the first place. When you ask voters to look at the record, they do.

considerable evidence that he is also carefully finding time to make quiet, reassuring duty calls that will have no immediate impact on the delegate count but may be important later.

Carter's delicate relationship with labor is a good example. He has moved slowly, cautiously to build lines to the big labor bosses, who distrust him because as governor he refused to fight a right-to-work law. He did not really get a foot in the door until his Pennsylvania victory made him look like the possible nominee.

Labor resisted George McGovern and contributed to his defeat. But this year labor is more angry at President Ford than at any Democrat. Ford has vetoed two measures important to the maritime and the building trades unions, and the entire AFL-CIO federation leadership is furious.

Meanwhile, Carter has been able to attract a respectable share of union members' votes in the primaries, despite the leaders' antipathy toward him.

He was able to take advantage of his Pennsylvania momentum to win the endorsement of United Auto Workers chief Leonard Woodcock. And he was finally granted an audience with AFL-CIO president George Meany, after months of Meany's cool indifference and open preference for others. The meeting, which was duly publicized, was interpreted as a clear signal that Carter might not be Meany's favorite but if he won the nomination he was going to be acceptable.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Advertising Comes Under First Amendment Blanket

Since the U.S. Constitution took effect in 1789 the courts have accorded the First Amendment's guaranty of free speech and free press a far ranging effect.

It has shown up mostly in suits for slander or libel.

Fellow editors, including those on our staff, incline to reserve full agreement with our judgment until the Supreme Court decides how far a trial judge can go in suppressing news in criminal trials as a means to assure the defendant a fair trial under the Sixth Amendment.

This is a matter of concern to everyone in our calling and should be to the public. The criminal already has enough strikes against the prosecution without adding further to the difficulty of putting him out of circulation.

Contrary to the protective degree extended to speech and the written words, the courts, comparatively speaking, have held a check rein on other forms and methods of communication.

Although the Federal Communications Act specifically declares the government, through the Federal Communications Commission, may not censor broadcast material, broadcasters do not feel at ease with that section in the basic statute.

A fairly recent statute banning the advertising of all smoking tobacco from the air waves is one example of governmental intrusion into their affairs.

So far no one selling hard liquor has felt sufficiently courageous to challenge an FCC memorandum issued years ago when the 18th Amendment was repealed to the effect the Commission might have to take a look if any station peddling whisky or gin commercials was operating in the public's best interest. This public interest requirement is the key to being licensed to run a radio or television station.

The family viewing hour is another example of censorship in fact though not in name.

Equally disturbing is a line of thought urged by some lawyers and bureaucrats that the First Amendment does not apply to broadcasting because of no wording to that effect. This starchy proposition has yet to receive an airing in court.

Commercial advertising, printed or broadcast, has never enjoyed much, if any protection.

The Supreme Court stated in so many words back in 1942 that the Constitution does not mention commercial advertising. The decision upheld a New York City ordinance banning the distribution of handbills. Actually the opinion was one of the first judicial approvals of anti-littering laws.

This week the Court eliminated to a sizeable degree the anti-First Amendment precedent on commercial advertising.

By a 7-1 vote, with one abstention, it ruled a Virginia law forbidding the advertising of prescription drugs to be an undue infringement upon the First Amendment.

The majority based its reasoning on the consumerist argument that a blackout on price advertising has nothing to do with providing high professional standards and is intended as a ripoff of the customer.

Justice William Rehnquist dissented, principally on the ground that the majority should have examined its position in light of all price advertising prohibitions.

Specifically, he referred to the touchy question of doctors, lawyers, dentists, engineers and accountants advertising their services and fees. Under their societal codes of ethics, reinforced in the laws of all the states, any reference beyond posting their names and addresses in professional directories is reason for lifting their licenses to practice.

Rehnquist wrote that the majority's decision on a druggist opens the door for a doctor to circulate what he will charge to amputate a leg or for a lawyer to state what he will take to obtain a judgment for the amputation.

If and when the advertising lawyer is hauled into court, or, as is more likely to be the case, a consumer group, pulling a professional society before the bench as it did in Virginia, Rehnquist's associates might well disagree with his dire prediction or at least not go sled length with it.

Dispensing a prescription is both providing a service and selling a product.

Examining a patient or preparing a law suit is strictly a personal service.

Taking that as a distinction in fact, a Supreme Court could find no trouble in holding there is a reason to free up one service for the benefit of the marketplace and to keep another under wraps to maintain high qualifications and standards.

At daybreak June 17 the old volunteer fire department in Benton Harbor will pass out of existence and a modern paid department will take its place. The ordinance making the change was passed at the council meeting last evening and the first chief under the new system, John A. Crawford, elected by the aldermen to serve for one year at a monthly salary of $55. Mrs. Cary thinks that the report printed in The News last evening regarding the address of Dr. Gibbons was a reflection upon that gentleman, in that it was stated that the doctor read a poem from a book of Walt Whitman which was excluded from the mails on account of its obscenity. The book was later admitted to the mails and Mrs. Cary thinks that "alleged obscenity" would have been the proper way of saying it. The poem read by the doctor was in every way suitable to the occasion and he himself called attention to the experience which it had in its early years.

GOP In Benton Is Fielding Full Slate

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

Benton township Republicans today announced formal filing of a full slate of candidates who will seek township offices under the "Citizens' Voice" banner in this year's election.

Heading the slate is Henry (Hank) Handy, candidate for the supervisor's post to be vacated by Democrat Martin Lane, who has announced he will not run for re-election this year.

Other members of the "Citizens' Voice" GOP slate are Betty "D" Womer, candidate for clerk; Oliver Reitor, candidate for treasurer; Walter Heritz and James Culby, candidates for two trustee positions; and George Schmalbach Jr., candidate for constable.

"The Citizens' Voice" team members, all long-time residents of the township, feel that the electors are faced with two alternatives — a return to citizen representation or politics as usual," Handy stated. "We are the alternative to politics as usual."

Handy, 1130 Golf road, operated the Handy Shell service station in Benton Harbor for 20 years and is now associated as a realtor with Tala Real Estate in Coloma.

He is a graduate of Benton Harbor high school and served five years with the Air Force during World War II. He and his wife Mildred, a teacher, have three children.

Betty "D" Womer, 295 Elvise, Fairplain, is public affairs director of radio station WSJM. She has served as a local and state delegate for the Republican party and as a member of the publicity committee for State Sen. Charles O. Zollar.

She has been active in a variety of civic organizations including Blossomtime and the American Cancer Society and is on the executive board of the St. Joseph Merchants Association. She and her husband, William, a teacher and coach in the St. Joseph school system, have one child.

Oliver Reitor, 443 Nickerson avenue, Fairplain, operates his own insurance agency and was on the township planning commission for 12 years.

He is a former president of both the Benton Harbor and Fairplain boards of education. He and his wife, Mary, have three grown children.

Walter Heritz, 3815 East Napier, farms 120 acres of fruit and vegetable crops and is current vice president of the Berrien County Farm Bureau, an organization he has served for six years as a member of the board of directors.

Heritz received the county's outstanding young farmer award in 1958 and has been active in the Future Farmers of America, 4-H and Junior Farm Bureau. He helped plan and build the Youth Memorial building at the county fairgrounds and was president of the Junior Farm Bureau when it was dedicated.

He and his wife Evelyn have two children.

James Culby, 1280 Hilldale, also is a fruit grower and has held several township offices.

TROOPS OUT IN YEAR

serving as treasurer five years, as a trustee three years, and on the planning commission three years.

Culby also served 12 years as a member of the Pearl school board, 15 years in scouting leadership and is a member of a variety of agricultural organizations. He is a graduate of Benton Harbor high school and

Michigan State university. He and his wife, Ruth Jean, have two sons.

George Schmalbach Jr., 4615 East Napier, has been co-owner of Selfridge Body Shop for 15 years. A Navy veteran of World War II, he has served on the board of directors for the Berrien County Youth Fair and is a former scoutmaster at

Holiday Trash Schedules

Three Twin Cities area municipalities have announced changes in regular Monday rubbish pickups because Monday, May 31, is Memorial Day. The regular Monday trash pickup in Benton township will be delayed until the following Monday. Both Benton Harbor and St. Joseph public works departments will pick up Monday's rubbish and trash on Tuesday. Residents of St. Joseph township will have trash picked up as usual on Monday.

BENTON PLANNERS APPROVE REZONING NAPIER AVE. AREA

The Benton township planning commission recommended last night that six blocks on the north side of Napier avenue — from Norwood avenue east to Pipestone road — be rezoned to accommodate professional office buildings. The planning commission voted to recommend to the board of trustees that the property fronting on the north side of the six blocks be rezoned from residential to D-2 commercial, a zoning classification which would allow office buildings.

Chairman James Benson said the action should be taken because that area of Napier is becoming increasingly commercial. He said the office classification would provide a "buffer zone" between retail business on the south side of Napier avenue and residential areas to the north of Napier. The office buildings would also draw less traffic on heavily-traveled Napier avenue than retail businesses, he said.

Norwood avenue is the third block east of M-139. The only dissenting vote against the recommendation was cast by planning Commissioner George Culverhouse who said certain types of retail businesses as well as office buildings should be allowed on the north side.

The township board of trustees will make the final decision on the recommendation. The planning commission is an advisory body that makes recommendations to the board of trustees. Prior to the recommendation, the planning commission voted to approve one request for an office building in the six-block area and tabled another request to construct a small group of retail stores in the area.

The planning commission approved a rezoning request by Elmer Stefan to construct a surveyor's office at 1381 East Napier. The commission tabled a request by Phillip Nadeau, of Nadeau Real Estate Company of Coloma, for rezoning at 1355 East Napier to construct a group of retail stores.

In other business, the planning commission learned that some $70,000 will have to be spent to extend sewer and water lines because of the widening of Napier avenue from M-139 to the I-94 interchange. Lyle Merrill, of Bargar Engineering, the township's engineering consultants, asked the planning commission what its plans are for the Napier avenue area to determine what the sewer and water needs for the area will be.

Merrill said the lateral sewer and water lines to individual properties from the trunk lines running under Napier will have to be extended because of the plans to widen Napier avenue from two lanes to five.

The planning commission approved a request by Mrs. Sue Burda, president of the Berrien County Association for Retarded Children, for a special use permit to operate the Maple Grove center at 332 East Napier as a foster home for nine retarded adults.

Sent to committee was a request for rezoning 4365 Highland avenue from rural to commercial. Robert Whitney made the request to construct a truck repair shop.

GOP In Benton Is Fielding Full Slate.

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

Benton township Republicans today announced formation of a full slate of candidates who will seek township offices under the "Citizens' Voice" banner in this year's election.

Heading the slate is Henry (Hank) Handy, candidate for the supervisor's post to be vacated by Democrat Martin Lane, who has announced he will not run for re-election this year.

Other members of the "Citizens' Voice" GOP slate are Betty "D" Womer, candidate for clerk; Oliver Rector, candidate for treasurer; Walter Heritz and James Culby, candidates for two trustee positions; and George Schmalbach Jr., candidate for constable.

"The Citizens' Voice" team members, all long-time residents of the township, feel that the electors are faced with two alternatives — a return to citizen representation or politics as usual," Handy stated. "We are the alternative to politics as usual."

Handy, 1130 Golf road, operated the Handy Shell service station in Benton Harbor for 20 years and is now associated as a realtor with Tala Real Estate in Coloma.

He is a graduate of Benton Harbor high school and served five years with the Air Force during World War II. He and his wife Mildred, a teacher, have three children.

Betty "D" Womer, 295 Eloise, Fairplain, is public affairs director of radio station WJSM. She has served as a local and state delegate for the Republican party and as a member of the publicity committee for State Sen. Charles O. Zollar.

She has been active in a variety of civic organizations including Blossomtime and the American Cancer Society and is on the executive board of the business division of the St. Joseph Merchants Association. She and her husband, William, a teacher and coach in the St. Joseph school system, have one child.

Oliver Rector, 443 Nickerson avenue, Fairplain, operates his own insurance agency and was on the township planning commission for 12 years.

He is a former president of both the Benton Harbor and Fairplain boards of education. He and his wife, Mary, have three grown children.

Walter Heritz, 3615 East Napier, farms 120 acres of fruit and vegetable crops and is current vice president of the Berrien County Farm Bureau, an organization he has served for six years as a member of the board of directors.

Heritz received the county's outstanding young farmer award in 1959 and has been active in the Future Farmers of America, 4-H and Junior Farm Bureau. He helped plan and build the Youth Memorial building at the county fairgrounds and was president of the Junior Farm Bureau when it was dedicated.

He and his wife Evelyn have two children.

James Culby, 1280 Hillandale, also is a fruit grower and has held several township offices, serving as treasurer five years, as a trustee three years, and on the planning commission three years.

Culby also served 12 years as a member of the Pearl school board, 15 years in scouting leadership and is a member of a variety of agricultural organizations. He is a graduate of Benton Harbor high school and

Michigan State university. He and his wife, Ruth Jean, have two sons.

George Schmalbach Jr., 4615 East Napier, has been co-owner of Selfridge Body Shop for 15 years. A Navy veteran of World War II, he has served on the board of directors for the Berrien County Youth Fair and is a former scoutmaster at Pearl school.

A breast cancer detection, in which up to 15 women residents of Berrien county may participate, will be conducted during the second week in June at the University of Michigan Breast Cancer Detection Center in Ann Arbor.

The program, sponsored by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute, is limited to women age 35 years and older who are not currently pregnant.

The examination will consist of a thorough medical history, physical examination of the breasts, a mammogram (an x-ray picture capable of showing early signs of cancer) and a thermogram (a photograph of heat given off by the skin surface that may indicate early presence of cancer cells).

There is no pain or discomfort in the examination which will take approximately one and one-half hours, according to Ernie Ringler, executive director of the Berrien County Cancer Service, Inc. The results will be referred to the woman's physician or the clinic of her choice.

Interested women may obtain further information and appointment scheduling by contacting the Berrien County Cancer Service in St. Joseph.

Weave Bicentennial Tapestry

North Lincoln School

Students in Diane Knickerbocker's fourth grade class at North Lincoln elementary school, St. Joseph, are working on a Bicentennial hanging using the tapestry technique.

The first step in the project, according to Mrs. Knickerbocker, was to select a design that would depict the nation's 200th birthday. Some ideas had to be discarded because they were too difficult to achieve in weaving, and some were not totally representative of the class members' goal, she said. The final design arrived at by mutual consent of class members represents "Freedom for 200 years," she said.

The warp as supplied by the school and the students and teacher provided scrap yarn for the warp. "We are using several shades of the various colors, hoping to achieve some depth," Mrs. Knickerbocker said.

The children helped calculate the number of threads needed by multiplying the number of spaces per inch by the width — 465 threads. "We determined the length by how long we wanted the final project to be plus one yard for loom allowance," Mrs. Knickerbocker said.

The children were then given experience on the warping board, a device for counting and measuring the warp.

Mrs. Knickerbocker did most of the transferring to the loom. "Eventually several students were able to thread the pattern through the heddles with great exactitude," she said.

The last step was to wind the warp on the back beam and secure the other end to the breast/cloth beam. Every student has had a turn at weaving. "Mistakes are usually quickly spotted by the children and unwoven," according to the teacher. "They have been constructively critical of their project and helping each other understand the process. Their work shows pride and a great deal of caring and concern," she said.

The class hopes the tapestry will be used this summer by the Berrien County Bicentennial committee and/or displayed at Maud Preston Palenske Memorial Library, St. Joseph, according to Mrs. Knickerbocker.

Summer Reading Program Scheduled

A summer reading program for students completing the fifth grade will be held this summer at the Maud Preston Palenske Memorial Library in St. Joseph, according to Mrs. Alfred (Alice) Thornycroft, children's librarian.

Students may register for the program at the library beginning Tuesday, June 1. All registrations are asked by June 15.

Those participating will read four books, an adventure story, a funny fantasy, a biography and a pioneer story, and will discuss or "rap" about what they have read.

The program will begin June 29 and will continue for six weeks. Sessions will be held Tuesday mornings from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

The program is entitled, "Make This Your Summer of Discovery." There will be a limit of 15 children and if more than 15 register, additional sessions will be scheduled.

During the first session, those participating will decide which book they want to read first.

At the conclusion of the program, students participating will be able to choose one book they liked best to keep.

The sessions will be led by Mrs. Thornycroft and by Mrs. Thomas (Lou) MacFarlane.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Rape Victims Can't Win

Dear Ann Landers: I've read several letters about rape in your column, plus a lot of front-page articles. Maybe you'd be interested in something I ran across in a magazine I picked up on the bus.

It was under Neat Trick of the Month. A 15-year-old chick was raped by an 18-year-old dude. She played it cool, told him how much she dug it and gave him her phone number. She made a date with him for the next night, and when they met at the appointed place, the cops grabbed him.

Excuse me if I'm wrong, but I have always been under the impression that it's impossible to rape a woman who is willing. — Just Wondering In Cassville

Dear Gae: If you are suggesting it isn't rape unless a woman screams and fights back, you're mistaken. The chick realized she was trapped in a no-win situation and decided to outsmart the rapist, which is exactly what she did.

Five will get you ten if that case was tried in court, the son-of-a-gun got off on grounds she was a willing partner. Unless a woman has two black eyes, a busted jaw and six teeth missing, the court assumes she "dug it." The way rapists go free in our country is a national disgrace.

Mean Kid

Dear Ann Landers: I need an answer to a problem that has been bothering me for a long time. It's an in-law. Not a father-in-law or a mother-in-law, but a little kid. He's our nephew — belongs to my husband's sister.

We dread family get-togethers because of this child. He interrupts adult conversations, is mouthy, insolent and respects no one. He beats up on his cousins and some smaller kid always ends up in need of first aid.

His parents make no attempt whatever to discipline him. My husband says we should not interfere. I say if it's our house we have a right to insist on good behavior. — Headache In Joliet

Dear Head: When parents refuse to discipline a child and he misbehaves outside the home, the host or hostess has every right to take over and straighten the child out.

You'd be surprised how fast the youngster will shape up. Kids don't enjoy running wild. They want to be told exactly what the limits are. So hop to it.

Dear L.J.: A man who has had 33 years of marriage to a woman he describes as a wonderful wife and mother — "the best" — then suddenly reaches into the past, to torture himself, needs counseling. I hope you will go soon and get your brains unbraided. Sounds like male menopause to me.

Fernwood Schedule

The last bird walks of the spring season at Fernwood Nature Center, located south of Berrien Springs on Range Line road, will be held Saturday and Sunday, May 29 and 30.

Participants in the walks meet at the Fernwood parking lot at 7 a.m.

There are still openings in a sketching and illustrating class which will be held at the meeting house Tuesday through Friday, June 1-4, from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Anyone interested in the course, instructed by Nancy S. Hart, may contact the nature center for further information. The course will include instruction in basic drawing skills, in a variety of media for the beginning and advanced student.

Nancy Hart is a staff artist with Morton Arboretum in Lisle, Ill., and specializes in technical illustrating, exhibit design, and teaching botanical art. At the Morton Arboretum, she is also curator of rare prints and drawings. She is a member of the Audubon Society, Defenders of Wildlife, and the East African Wildlife Society. Both the Encyclopedia Britannica and Compton's Encyclopedia have utilized her illustrations in nature related articles. Her work has also been published in "The Morton Arboretum Quarterly" and "The American Nurseryman."

The third program in Fernwood's lecture series will be presented Friday, June 4, at 8 p.m. at the meeting house. Dr. Fred J. Alsop III, assistant professor of biology at East Tennessee State University, will present "Birds Thru the Lens."

The lecture will be taken at the door for non-members. Dr. Alsop specializes in ornithology and its various aspects, including research, in-the-field study and photography. He has traveled widely identifying, studying, and photographing birds and has identified more than 600 species in the United States and Canada alone. He is a member of numerous scientific societies and, as a professional photographer, his bird portraits have appeared in "Natural History," "National Wildlife," and "National Geographic World" magazines. One of his portraits, which can be seen at Fernwood, is the cover of the 1976 Sierra club wildlife calendar. Dr. Alsop was also selected "Outstanding Young Man of America" in 1974 and 1974 and was selected as the "Outstanding American Educator" in 1975.

secrets. She said, "You have to educate your children in getting used to new dishes. I can serve my lentil casserole or whatever and get nothing but 'yuck,' the first three times, but by the fourth time around, the lentil casserole is an old friend."

That's beautiful. I've tried many times to establish a meaningful relationship between my children and my liver cake. It got to be such an old friend, it multiplied before their eyes, but somehow I couldn't get them to sit down at the same table together. They also felt nothing toward my garbage soufflé and Name That Burger!

My children have always had strange eating habits. They don't like any food they have to chew which rules out onions, coconut or celery. (Steak became the exception when it went to $2.65 a pound.)

They don't like foods that have died and come back into this world shriveled, such as raisins, prunes or apricots.

They don't like to be tricked into eating foods that are good for them. They feel all foods should carry a label warning, "THIS FOOD IS NUTRITIONAL AND MAY BE BENEFICIAL TO YOUR HEALTH!"

They don't like food they have never eaten before. This narrows their menus down to six staple items which were fed to them before they were old enough to develop memory.

So what's left? They DO like "Recreational Food." Food that can be used as entertainment like watermelon seeds that you can spit out, kernels of corn from the cob that can be placed over your front teeth and get a laugh, mashed potato dams filled with gravy, or fondue where you can spear everyone with your forks.

They DO like Contact Foods — like submerging French fries in a sea of catsup, spareribs that can be fondled or chicken that can be challenged to two falls out of three.

They DO like beverages such as catsup, steak sauce, and mayonnaise.

Yes, I'd like to try Mrs. Young's lentil casserole, but the truth is my kids don't make "friends" easily.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Rape Victims Can't Win

Dear Ann Landers: I've read several letters about rape in your column, plus a lot of front-page articles. Maybe you'd be interested in a magazine I picked up on the bus.

It was under Neat Trick of the Month: A 15-year-old chick was raped by an 18-year-old dude. She played it cool, told him how much she dug it and gave him her phone number. She made a date with him for the next night and when they met at the appointed place, the cops grabbed him.

Excuse me if I'm wrong, but I have always been under the impression that it's impossible to rape a woman who is willing. — Just Wondering In Cassville

Dear Cass: If you are suggesting it isn't rape unless a woman screams and fights back, you're mistaken. The chick realized she was trapped in a no-win situation and decided to outsmart the rapist, which is exactly what she did.

Five will get you ten if that case was tried in court, the son-of-a-gun got off on grounds she was a willing partner. Unless a woman has two black eyes, a busted jaw and six teeth missing, the court assumes she "dug it." The way rapists go free in our country is a national disgrace.

Mean Kid

Dear Ann Landers: I need an answer to a problem that has been bothering me for a long time. It's an in-law. Not a father-in-law or a mother-in-law, but a little kid. He's our nephew — belongs to my husband's sister.

We dread family get-togethers because of this child. He interrupts adult conversations, is mouthy, insolent and respects no one. He beats up on his cousins and some smaller kid always ends up in need of first aid.

His parents make no attempt whatever to discipline him. My husband says we should not interfere. I say if it's our house we have a right to insist on good behavior. May we have your opinion? — Headache In Holyoke

Dear Head: When parents refuse to discipline a child and he misbehaves outside the home, the host or hostess has every right to take over and straighten the child out.

You'd be surprised how fast the youngster will shape up. Kids don't enjoy running wild. They want to be told exactly what the limits are. So hop to it.

FOR SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally you are sharp and perceptive. Today, your thinking tends to be a little fuzzy. Perhaps you're too much of a daydreamer.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Guard your possessions carefully today. Don't leave anything lying around that someone unscrupulous might take a fancy to.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Avoid people who do things in a devious or underhanded way today. Though your motives are honorable, you'll be identified with these devious characters.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Rely solely on your logic and reason today. Your intuitions, which are usually reliable, may play cute tricks on you today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You need people around you today who are straightforward and honest. Avoid those who are pretentious or crafty, or you'll have to put them down.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't debate subjects you're unsure of with friends. It would be wiser to say nothing than to defend doubtful premises.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't debate subjects you're unsure of with friends. It would be wiser to say nothing than to defend doubtful premises.

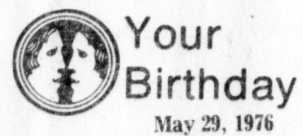

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be wary of doing business with those with whom you are not familiar. If you get careless, someone will gain, but it won't be you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your indecisiveness could be irritating today. You will say one thing, but mean something else. Your friends will recognize this.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you have little aches and pains, don't belabor others with them today. Recounting them will only bore your listeners.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A member of the opposite sex could be particularly flattering to you today. It may inflate your ego a bit, but don't take it too seriously.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're not a good closer today. This could be a disadvantage. Don't them and how if you really want something finalized.

May 29, 1976

Projects that you have sole control over this coming year could be successful. However, if you seek help from the wrong person, it could all go down the drain.

Suits Seek $310 Million From Utilities

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Two class-action suits have been filed against Michigan's largest electric companies seeking refunds of $110 million and punitive damages of $200 million for the companies' customers.

Filed this week in Oakland County Circuit Court, the suits charge the Detroit Edison Co. and Consumers Power Co. with "willfully and intentionally" misusing their fuel adjustment clauses.

It is the first time rate-payers have challenged certain aspects of the clauses in court.

A court victory on the suits, which would certainly be appealed by the utilities, would mean Edison's 1.7 million electric customers and Consumers' 1.2 million customers would be eligible for refunds on bills they have paid since 1972.

Plaintiffs in the suits are mainly apartment complex owners, though one plaintiff in the Consumers case is an Ingham County customer with no links to real estate. Plaintiffs own developments in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

The fuel adjustment clauses were authorized by the Michigan legislature in 1972 to help utilities immediately recover soaring fuel costs from customers without having to file a request for higher rates with the state Public Service Commission.

But the class-action suits claim the companies overcharged customers through the monthly bill charges by including the cost of ready-made power they buy from other utilities; by renegotiating coal contracts at higher cost instead of enforcing the contracts; and by deciding to burn less efficient power generators when there was no clear need to do so.

The suit against Consumers charges the company overcollected $103 million, which should be refunded to customers. The Edison suit claims the company overcollected $7 million.

Both suits seek $100 million in punitive damages.

Attorneys for both utilities said they have not seen the pleadings.

Milliken Hints Veto Of PBB Taint Ban

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken hinted Thursday he might veto a bill barring sale of food with any trace of the toxic chemical polychlorinated biphenyl.

While the measure won 5-4 approval of the House Agriculture Committee, Milliken said he wants administrative action rather than legislation to cut the allowable amount of PBB in food.

Milliken said administrative action would allow "greater flexibility" than a new law because it could be changed or rescinded quickly. He said a law, once on the books, is difficult to change.

Asked if he would urge Republican legislators to oppose a bill banning any products containing even traces of PBB, Milliken responded, "You could draw that conclusion."

The House bill matches the recommendations of Milliken's special scientific panel on PBB. It would prohibit the sale of meat containing more than 5 parts per billion PBB, and milk containing more than 1 part per billion PBB.

Current tolerance levels for both meat and milk are 300 ppb. PBB, a toxic fire retardant, was accidentally mixed with Michigan cattle feed in 1973, resulting in the slaughter of 30,000 cattle, 1.5 million chickens, and hundreds of hogs.

The scientists on the governor's panel said there is no evidence of short-term illnesses caused by human consumption of PBB-contaminated food, but that the long-term effects are not known.

Bul Allan Bass, attorney for Consumers, said the $103 million sought in the suit may be invalid if the amount is based on an estimate of overcharges that was listed in a PSC staff report earlier this year.

Bass said PSC staff has since corrected its estimate of Consumers overcharges to $12.8 million.

The $103 million figure is also used in a suit by the state against Consumers Power. That suit seeks refunds for reasons similar to those cited in the Oakland County suit.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Roderick Coy has said the state's suits will probably have to be amended because of new estimates from the PSC staff.

Castro Revenge Muled At Time Of JFK Slaying

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Shortly before the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, U.S. officials secretly studied the possibility that Fidel Castro might retaliate against American leaders for their attacks on Cuba, according to informed sources.

Existence of the study was kept secret from the Warren Commission, which investigated the possibility of a Cuban connection in the Kennedy slaying.

A BRICKED-UP portion of the Exchange building in Charleston, S.C., served for two years as the hiding place for patriot gunpowder in the British-held city. During the British occupation the Exchange was the notorious Provost Dungeon where hundreds of Charleston's citizens were imprisoned in cramped vaults for the slightest hint of patriot support, the World Almanac notes.

ing, and, until recently, from the Senate intelligence committee.

Committee investigators came across documents relating to the study in the course of their probe into the performance of the CIA and the FBI before and after the Kennedy assassination, the sources said Thursday.

The panel's findings are expected to be made public within two weeks.

In an article to be published today, the New Republic says the team which performed the study was created by then-Aide, Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. But the two sources told The Associated Press that although the attorney general was in over-all command of U.S. operations in Cuba, there is no evidence that he played a role in the workings of the group known as the "Cuban Coordinating Committee."

One source identified a member of the group as Desmond Fitzgerald, a CIA officer involved in a plot to kill Castro that was in progress on the same day President Kennedy was killed.

A second source said other members of the "Cuban Coordinating Committee" included John H. Crimmins, then a State Department Caribbean specialist who now is the U.S. ambassador to Brazil, and representatives of the FBI and Defense Department.

All members of the group were aware of the U.S.-supported commando raids against Cuba, but apparently only Fitzgerald knew about the assassination plot against Castro, sources said.

Existence of the group was first revealed last November in the intelligence committee's report on U.S. attempts to assassinate Castro.

The report described the group as an inter-agency panel established after the 1962 Cuban missile crisis "with responsibility for developing covert action proposals." The report didn't say anything about the group studying the possibility that Castro would strike back.

Two sources said it was not clear what had triggered the study of possible Cuban retaliation, but one source said the timing was consistent with the appearance in September 1963 of an AP dispatch which quoted Castro as saying, "U.S. leaders should think that if they are aiding terrorist plans to eliminate Cuban leaders, they themselves will not be safe."

Bus Tragedy Vigil Develops A 'Closeness'

By MARY GANZ
Associated Press Writer
CONCORD, Calif. (AP) — None were friends until they met in the hospital waiting room, each the parent of a child critically injured in California's worst school bus tragedy.

"Now, we have a special kind of closeness," said one. By Thursday, the four girls still patients at Mt. Diablo Hospital had improved enough to be listed in good condition.

The four were members of the Yuba City High School choir. They were traveling to another school for a concert a week ago today when their chartered bus sailed off a highway exit ramp. It landed upside down 25 feet below.

Twenty-eight students and a music teacher were killed. Memorial services were planned today at Yuba City High School and two nearby high schools.

The heart of one of the dead — 15-year-old Donald Wright — was transplanted to a 33-year-old man at Stanford Medical Center.

The Alameda County coroner's office confirmed that the body of Wright, whose father is a physician, was taken to Stanford soon after his death. His vital organs were kept functioning with mechanical aids.

Deputy Coroner Kenneth Pollard said young Wright's kidneys and the corneas of his eyes also were used in transplant operations.

The heart recipient was described as a New York resident who had spent some time in Israel before returning to the United States.

JoAnn Watt, whose 18-year-old daughter, Reese, is at Mt. Diablo Hospital, said that before the accident she did not know any of the parents who have become close friends during the hospital vigil. "All the children we knew the parents of were killed," she said.

At least one parent of each of the hospitalized girls has been spending the week in Concord, about 85 miles from home in Yuba City. When they're not in the rooms with their children, they're talking with each other in a conference room set aside for their use.

Their biggest worry now is how their children are taking the news that many of their friends were killed.

"We know now they're going to be physically okay. It's mentally we're worried about," said Mary Kearns, mother of 10-year-old Colleen.

Reese Watt is taking it especially hard — so hard that doctors delayed her removal from intensive care for a day in fear she would hear television reports about the magnitude of the crash.

"I've had knots in my stomach dreading the day I'd have to tell her," Mrs. Watt said.

THE VICTOR: Greasy and exhausted, Midshipman Dwight Eugene Orevell of Las Vegas, Nev., sits on shoulders of his classmates after they successfully assaulted a greased Horn-don Monument at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. It was Orevell who finally made it to the top of the 20-foot granite obelisk to remove the cap that officially signifies upper class status to the 1,000 Plebe, or freshman, class. The admiral's cap he wears was presented by Rear Adm. Kinnaid H. McKee, academy superintendent to symbolize Orevell's victorious climb. (AP Wirephoto)

Castro Revenge Mulled At Time Of JFK Slaying

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Shortly before the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, U.S. officials secretly studied the possibility that Fidel Castro might retaliate against American leaders for their attacks on Cuba, according to informed sources.

Existence of the study was kept secret from the Warren Commission, which investigated the possibility of a Cuban connection in the Kennedy slaying.

A BRICKED-UP portion of the Exchange building in Charleston, S.C., served for two years as the hiding place for patriot gunpowder in the British-held city. During the British occupation the Exchange was the notorious Provost Dungeon where hundreds of Charleston's citizens were imprisoned in cramped vaults for the slightest hint of patriot support, the World Almanac notes.

ing, and, until recently, from the Senate intelligence committee.

Committee investigators came across documents relating to the study in the course of their probe into the performance of the CIA and the FBI before and after the Kennedy assassination, the sources said Thursday.

The panel's findings are expected to be made public within two weeks.

In an article to be published today, the New Republic says the team which performed the study was created by then-Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. But the two sources told The Associated Press that although the attorney general was in over-all command of U.S. operations in Cuba, there is no evidence that he played a role in the workings of the group known as the "Cuban Coordinating Committee."

One source identified a member of the group as Desmond Fitzgerald, a CIA officer involved in a plot to kill Castro that was in progress on the same day President Kennedy was killed.

A second source said other members of the "Cuban Coordinating Committee" included John H. Crimmins, then a State Department Caribbean specialist who now is the U.S. ambassador to Brazil, and representatives of the FBI and Defense Department.

All members of the group were aware of the U.S.-supported commando raids against Cuba, but apparently only Fitzgerald knew about the assassination plot against Castro, sources said.

Existence of the group was first revealed last November in the intelligence committee's report on U.S. attempts to assassinate Castro.

The report described the group as an inter-agency panel established after the 1962 Cuban missile crisis "with responsibility for developing covert action proposals." The report didn't say anything about the group studying the possibility that Castro would strike back.

Two sources said it was not clear what had triggered the study of possible Cuban retaliation, but one source said the timing was consistent with the appearance in September 1963 of an AP dispatch which quoted Castro as saying, "U.S. leaders should think that if they are aiding terrorist plans to eliminate Cuban leaders, they themselves will not be safe."

Bus Tragedy Vigil Develops A 'Closeness'

By MARY GANZ
Associated Press Writer
CONCORD, Calif. (AP) — None were friends until they met in the hospital waiting room, each the parent of a child critically injured in California's worst school bus tragedy.

"Now, we have a special kind of closeness," said one.

By Thursday, the four girls still patients at Mt. Diablo Hospital had improved enough to be listed in good condition.

The four were members of the Yuba City High School choir. They were traveling to another school for a concert a week ago today when their chartered bus sailed off a highway exit ramp.

It landed upside down 25 feet below.

Twenty-eight students and a music teacher were killed. Memorial services were planned today at Yuba City High School and two nearby high schools.

The heart of one of the dead — 15-year-old Donald Wright — was transplanted to a 33-year-old man at Stanford Medical Center.

The Alameda County coroner's office confirmed that the body of Wright, whose father is a physician, was taken to Stanford soon after his death. His vital organs were kept functioning with mechanical aids.

Deputy Coroner Kenneth Pollard said young Wright's kidneys and the corneas of his eyes also were used in transplant operations.

The heart recipient was described as a New York resident who had spent some time in Israel before returning to the United States.

JoAnn Watt, whose 16-year-old daughter, Reene, is at Mt. Diablo Hospital, said that before the accident she did not know any of the parents who have become close friends during the hospital vigil. "All the children we knew the parents of were killed," she said.

At least one parent of each of the hospitalized girls has been spending the week in Concord, about 85 miles from home in Yuba City. When they're not in the rooms with their children, they're talking with each other in a conference room set aside for their use.

Their biggest worry now is how their children are taking the news that many of their friends were killed.

"We know now they're going to be physically okay. It's mentally we're worried about," said Mary Kearns, mother of 16-year-old Colleen.

Reene Watt is taking it especially hard — so hard that doctors delayed her removal from intensive care for a day in fear she would hear television reports about the magnitude of the crash.

"I've had knots in my stomach dreading the day I'd have to tell her," Mrs. Watt said.

Hays Readying 'Payroll' Defense

By GEORGE ESPEY
Associated Press Writer
BELMONT, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, back home in the quiet of his Ohio farm, is preparing his defense against allegations that he put bosomy Elizabeth Ray on the congressional payroll as his mistress.

The Democratic chairman of the House Administration Committee said Thursday he stands by a statement issued earlier by his press secretary, Carol Clawson. In the statement, the 65-year-old Hays said he has no intention of resigning and "will stand and face the facts that will vindicate him."

Hays and his bride of six weeks, Pat, arrived in the picturesque farmlands of eastern Ohio late in the day after a six-hour drive from Washington. Hays declined to talk to waiting reporters and went immediately inside the big red brick home.

His 21-year-old daughter, Geeta, and her husband, Paul Steiner, were waiting there.

Hays scheduled a campaign appearance today near Steubenville, the largest city in his eight-county congressional district and the home town of two of his opponents.

As Hays was preparing to leave Washington Thursday, Rep. Romano L. Mazzoli, D-Ky., told the House the Ohio congressman should resign to help restore the legislative body's prestige. Hays was not in the chamber at the time.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., said there was "great concern" among Democrats about Hays' position as chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee.

The committee will funnel about $500,000 in private political contributions to House Democrats campaigning for reelection this fall, and the chairman's signature appears on the checks.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said wryly that the scandal "couldn't happen to a nicer guy." Goldwater, in an interview with ABC radio, added that Hays has been a "thorn in the side" of Congress for years and said "he's in real trouble" because of the Ray affair.

Mrs. Clawson said Hays "has been meeting attorneys, putting together all relevant information concerning allegations in the Washington Post. The information will be presented to the proper forum at the proper time." The Hays-Ray relationship was first reported by the Post.

Mrs. Clawson did not elaborate but Justice Department sources in Washington said a federal grand jury has begun hearing testimony about the 33-year-old Miss Ray's position with the Hays committee.

Feminists Charge Congress 'Feudal'

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A women's political caucus says the Rep. Wayne Hays affair shows there is a feudal and discriminatory job situation in Congress, which always exempts itself from the civil rights and equal pay laws it imposes on others.

"This is still a very traditional, chauvinistic world where there are no rules" on employment of women, said Miriam Dorsey, coordinator of the 200-member Capitol Hill Women's Political Caucus.

"Congress is not covered under any civil rights laws or equal pay laws, so something like this can exist because each member has his own little fiefdom and what one member does with his employees is no other member's business," Ms. Dorsey, who prefers that designation, said Thursday.

She said the revelation that Hays had an affair with Elizabeth Ray, who contends she was placed on the government payroll to be Hays' mistress, "really damages the image of women on Capitol Hill," Miss Ray says she was unable to do office work and couldn't even type.

Ms. Dorsey said, "An incident like this just perpetuates the myth that women are not here just for work."

Ms. Dorsey, a legislative aide for Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C., says she believes there is a "definite problem" of male bosses pressuring women employees for special favors at the Capitol.

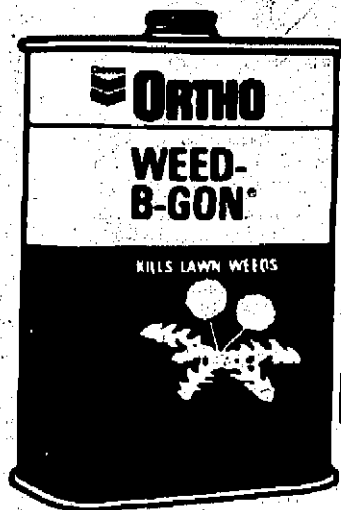

"Mainly this is because the members are so enamored with their own power," she said.

Dissidents Hit Union Chiefs' High Living

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A small group of union dissidents is charging widespread corruption among Teamster union officials, saying they make six-figure salaries, use a fleet of private jets and dine on French cuisine prepared by chefs on the union payroll.

The Professional Drivers Council, known as PROD, charged that the Teamsters is run by "money-hungry and power-hungry" executives lavishly lining their pockets at the expense of the rank-and-file. The council pledged to mount a campaign to force government action if the union refuses to "clean its own house."

The 2,000-member group, representing a handful of the union's 2.3 million members, documented its charges in a 177-page book showing that Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons and numerous other union leaders collect six-figure salaries, have unlimited expense accounts, receive expensive gifts and arrange for their own lucrative pensions.

Arthur Fox, an attorney who serves as PROD's staff director, told a news conference Thursday his organization found wholesale violations of federal labor laws during a 10-month investigation of union financial records filed with the Labor Department.

Teamsters officials declined comment.

While many of the charges in its report were not new, the group presented for the first time in a single document a broad picture of Teamsters officials allegedly abusing their power.

"Power in the Teamsters union does not flow uphill to the president from the rank-and-file; rather, the president derives his sweeping powers to dictate policy and dominate both officials and the rank-and-file directly from the union's constitution," PROD declared.

The report noted that on the union headquarters' payrolls are a barber, a physical fitness expert, two French chefs and at least one chauffeur. It added that by way of contrast, the union's entire safety department consists of only two men who are paid about what the two cooks receive.

In addition to high salaries from multiple union jobs — at least 17 officials earn more than $100,000 a year — PROD said at least six officials have unlimited expense accounts covering everything from "a bag of groceries to greens fees at La Costa," the union-financed country club in California.

The 2,000-member group, representing a handful of the union's 2.3 million members, documented its charges in a 177-page book showing that Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons and numerous other union leaders collect six-figure salaries, have unlimited expense accounts, receive expensive gifts and arrange for their own lucrative pensions.

Arthur Fox, an attorney who serves as PROD's staff director, told a news conference Thursday his organization found wholesale violations of federal labor laws during a 10-month investigation of union financial records filed with the Labor Department.

Teamsters officials declined comment.

While many of the charges in its report were not new, the group presented for the first time in a single document a broad picture of Teamsters officials allegedly abusing their power.

"Power in the Teamsters union does not flow uphill to the president from the rank-and-file; rather, the president derives his sweeping powers to dictate policy and dominate both officials and the rank-and-file directly from the union's constitution," PROD declared.

The report noted that on the union headquarters' payrolls are a barber, a physical fitness expert, two French chefs and at least one chauffeur. It added that by way of contrast, the union's entire safety department consists of only two men who are paid about what the two cooks receive.

In addition to high salaries from multiple union jobs — at least 17 officials earn more than $100,000 a year — PROD said at least six officials have unlimited expense accounts covering everything from "a bag of groceries to greens fees at La Costa," the union-financed country club in California.

4th Candidate Seeks Cass Post

CASSOPOLIS — Mrs. Sharon Majewski, route 3, Cassopolis, has become the fourth candidate to enter the race for Cass county treasurer.

Mrs. Majewski, 36, yesterday

MRS. SHARON MAJEWSKI Seeks nomination

filed nominating petitions with County Clerk Kenneth Pae for a spot on the Aug. 3 primary election ballot as a Republican. Her opponent in the GOP primary will be the incumbent treasurer, Mrs. Sharon Frieke.

Two other women are seeking the Democratic nomination in the primary. They are Mrs. Thekla Huston and Mrs. Darlene Willmington.

Mrs. Majewski is secretary to the juvenile division of Cass probate court. She served more than three years as deputy clerk in the treasurer's office from 1970 to 1973 under the late Helen Burch.

A 1957 graduate of Dowagiac high school, Mrs. Majewski and her husband, Richard, are parents of two teenage girls. Her husband is employed by Miles Laboratories, Elkhart, and also farms.

She said that if elected, she would do her best to "provide efficient, courteous and friendly service to the people of the county."

Nuclear Testing Treaty Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev today signed a precedent-setting treaty that will open some Russian nuclear test sites to American inspectors for the first time.

The simultaneous ceremonies here and in Moscow followed 18 months of complex negotiations and may, according to U.S. officials, spur negotiations in Geneva to reach a long-delayed agreement limiting strategic nuclear weapons.

Terms of the five-year treaty permit American inspectors to visit sites when the Russians conduct certain underground nuclear tests that have potential use for changing the levels of rivers or excavating for minerals. Years ago, American scientists abandoned the idea of experimenting with underground nuclear explosions for those purposes.

But the Soviets remain interested in such projects, and the treaty limits the megaton level of any single blast for such a purpose to 150 kilotons — the equivalent of 150,000 tons of TNT.

Until now, the Soviet Union has refused to permit any foreign inspectors on Russian soil.

Although weapons sites remained off-limits, U.S. officials said the breakthrough could eventually remove a principal obstacle to a treaty prohibiting all nuclear testing.

pions of the Universe. "In the early days, many of the teams were from Berkley, fun places like that," Davis says. "Now they come from all over."

But why here? "The thimbleberry blossom, plus the air off Lake Superior, make the Frisbee fly truer — and farther," he says. "Simple as that."

Apparently the event has been blessed with fair weather, as well, a fact that doesn't go undocumented by Davis.

"Thur Anderson claims responsibility for the weather," Davis says. "Thur's an inspector for the labor department in Gary, Ind."

"You can laugh, but it only rained the year Thur missed the tournament."

So it will probably be clear skies and good air this summer when Davis once again dons the purple, white and orange tied-dye shirt he wears once a year — prior to the finals.

"I don't make a speech or anything," he says. "The crazy outfit was given to me by a group from Boston and it's kind of a part of Frisbee now."

Davis, too, is a part of Frisbee now — although he's only a shadow of his former self.

On April 2, 1974, he joined Weight Watchers after heaving his 6-foot-11 frame onto the scales and registering 338 pounds. Today he is a svelte 230 and his waist has gone from 58 inches to 37.

"I have an unquenchable thirst," he says, "so now I only drink water — about a six-pack a day."

Apartment Dweller Clubs An Intruder

An intruder at an apartment got a beating with a wooden club and fled after he was thrown down a flight of stairs early Thursday, the resident of the apartment told Benton Harbor police.

Jerome Miller, 26, of 441 Broadway, said he and his wife awoke about 4 a.m. to find a man standing in their bedroom. Miller reported the man said he was looking for "Rosie." Miller said he began beating the man with a club he had in the bedroom then pushed him down the stairs.

Miller told police he didn't believe the man was intoxicated because he detected no smell of liquor. Police said entry was made through a bathroom window of the second floor apartment.

Four citizens' band radios and a police radio monitor were among six thefts reported to Benton township, Benton Harbor and St. Joseph township police Thursday.

CB thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were:

— A $240 unit from the car of John Dziekanowski, route 2, box 407, Buchanan, parked in the lot at Sears, 640 West Main street.

— A $180 radio from the car of Al Wilson, route 2, box 242A, Grand Junction, parked in the 900 block of Columbus avenue.

CBs reported stolen to Benton township police were:

— A $200 radio from the car of Jim Martin, 260 Elvren, Fairplain, parked in the lot at the Pizza Hut, 1940 M-139.

— A $200 unit from the car of William Milhauser, 1062 Woodward avenue, Fairplain, parked at Blossom Lanes bowling alley, 2305 M-139.

Mark Zitta, 3254 Lincoln avenue, told St. Joseph township police a four-channel police monitor, valued at $120, was taken from his pickup truck parked at his home.

Benton township police said assorted hand tools, valued at $125, were reported stolen from a garage at the Rolland Ott residence, Hillandale road.

Today In MICHIGAN

On To The Senate

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The House passed bills Thursday appropriating $90.3 million in general fund money to the Department of Corrections and $29.1 million to the Department of Education. The measures were approved 88-17 and 84-19, respectively, and sent to the Senate. Both bills, which appropriate money for the upcoming fiscal year, originally passed in the Senate, but return there for concurrence in increased funding. As the House passed the corrections bill, it contains $4.7 million more in general fund money than the Senate version and $10.3 million more than Gov. William Milliken originally recommended. The House version includes adding 47 new prison guard positions, addition of two parole board members, and funding for a new retirement plan. The education department bill appropriates $100,000 more in general fund money than the Senate version, but $600,000 less than Milliken originally asked for.

Instead, A Commendation

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne County social worker who uncovered substandard conditions at a Detroit adult care facility has been cleared of misconduct charges. State Social Services Director John Dempsey made the ruling Thursday, saying Bonnie Russell's supervisors did not have valid reasons for transferring her from casework. Miss Russell protested the transfer as a means of punishing her for repeated complaints about the Adams Adult Foster Care Facility in Detroit, which was closed March 8 after a patient there was fatally beaten. Miss Russell brought the incident to Dempsey's attention by calling him at his home after filing reports on conditions at the home for more than a year. Dempsey ordered a commendation be placed in her personnel file and offered her a new job with the agency in Lansing.

Workers Comp Bogs Down

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Negotiations over revisions in the state worker's compensation system are so bogged down there is virtually no chance of approval before lawmakers adjourn this summer. And some key lawmakers give the crucial legislation only an even chance of passing before Dec. 31, when all bills die and the legislature recesses. Legislators involved in discussions between labor and business groups say the two sides are still too far apart to begin even considering compromise legislation. With the press of budget bills and the upcoming election campaign, worker's compensation has been put on the back burner. A special committee made up of lawmakers from both parties and representatives of the governor's office has not met in two weeks. Two task forces — one representing labor and one business — have been working, however. Workers compensation revision was billed the major legislative task for 1976 when lawmakers returned this year after a 1975 session filled with major action. But the issue has proven thornier than anyone dreamed.

Circuit Judge Suspended

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court ordered Circuit Court Judge Willard L. Mikesell suspended for 18 months Thursday when it upheld a Judicial Tenure Commission ruling. Mikesell's jurisdiction includes Eaton and Barry counties. The tenure commission said Mikesell was "grossly lacking" in judicial temperament and "devoid of the basic concepts of impartiality in the conduct of trials." The high court said the record showed Mikesell was hostile to attorneys, defendants and witnesses. But the Supreme Court refused to remove Mikesell from office as the tenure commission had recommended. It said his personal integrity "is beyond reproach and he is industrious in the work of the law." The suspension means Mikesell may not be paid during those months, though he may practice law "if otherwise qualified," the court said. A former Eaton County prosecutor, Mikesell was elected circuit judge in 1970.

Wives Still Excluded

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — For the second time, the House refused Thursday to include beaten wives in a crime compensation bill after opponents argued the same people would keep showing up. "It's not that I don't like women," said Rep. Richard Fessler, R-Union Lake. But he said beaten wives who file charges against their husbands often "kiss and make up" later and drop the charges. Soon the wives are beaten again and the cycle begins anew. "By the time the bill is paid off, we're not going to have a prosecution or any correction of the incident. We're going to find the same people coming back every six months or a year," he said. The bill provides financial compensation — up to $15,000 — for crime victims' medical expenses and loss of wages. However, under the bill, persons residing in the same household with a person who criminally injures them would only be compensated for out-of-pocket medical expenses.

'Cutbacks . . . Inevitable'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken warned Thursday that state services would have to be cut if the legislature continues proposing appropriations that exceed his recommendations. Milliken said appropriations bills at various stages of completion in the legislature run roughly $280 million over his recommendations. Milliken in February proposed a $3.2 billion state general fund budget. He already has ordered cutbacks in spending and various measures to avoid deficit spending, which is banned by the state Constitution.

Lawrence Fight Warrant Issued

LAWRENCE — The Van Buren prosecutor's office has authorized a warrant for the arrest of a Chicago man on a charge of felonious assault in connection with a fight in Lawrence Sunday night in which one Lawrence man was hurt.

Lawrence police said yesterday that they believe the Chicago man, Robert E. Williams, Jr., and another suspect are now in Chicago.

Police said Kenneth Mann, 19, 121 North Third street, Lawrence, was released from Lake View Community hospital; Paw Paw, on Monday following observation. Mann was struck over the head with a tire iron following the theft of about $15 from his wallet, police said. Kenneth Letourneau, 19, and Eric Haugard, 19, both of Lawrence, were also struck by fists during the melee, but did not require treatment, according to police.

Police said the three had been playing basketball in the village park when Mann noticed money was missing from his wallet. Mann, who is white, asked a nearby group of black youths if anyone had taken the money, police said. Police said a fight resulted during which Mann was struck once in the head with a tire iron. Six persons fled the scene in a car which was later found abandoned near 54th street and CR-215, officers said. According to police, the car was registered to Robert E. Williams, Sr. of Chicago.

Police Scanners In Auto Against Law

NILES — "It pays to listen," so the old saying goes — but not to portable police scanners inside your motor vehicle. Unless, of course, your motor vehicle is a patrol car.

Ronald R. Groshans, 30, Niles, found that out early this morning when he was arrested for possession of two police scanners (radio-type equipment that monitors police calls) in a motor vehicle and possession of stolen property (the two police scanners).

State police at the Niles post said they stopped Groshans' auto near the corner of South 11th street and US-31 for a traffic violation around 12:30 a.m. While officers were checking his identification they overheard a police signal being monitored from inside Groshans' auto. A subsequent search of the vehicle turned up the two portable police scanners, the officers reported.

Further investigation by police revealed the two portable scanners were stolen from Colfax Electronics, Plaza drive, Benton Harbor, on Feb. 26.

Sgt. Richard Kolenda of the Niles state police post said "few people realize that it's against the law to carry police monitoring radios in the passenger compartment of a vehicle, whether the devices are turned on or off."

Kolenda said popular Citizens-Band radios (C-B's) in motor vehicles are not against the law, however.

Driver Charged

St. Joseph police Thursday arrested the alleged driver of a pickup truck that clipped a barricade and leveled two highway signs before coming to rest in the construction area of the new Morrison channel bridge.

Patrolmen Cliff Munson and Cliff Ward said the barricade blocked access to the new bridge at the intersection of Ship and Wayne streets. The truck hit a load limit sign, traveled along a parking lot and struck another sign on a traffic island at the intersection of Wayne and Port streets before traveling about 90 feet into the construction area. The accident occurred about 7:30 p.m.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants was John Ford Mikowski, 26, of 1438 South Aurilia drive, St. Joseph township. He was uninjured, police said.

Car Fire

Benton township police said the engine area of a car was burned out in a fire that apparently started when the car overhauled because of a braken water pump Thursday.

Patrolman Robert Polmanter said he found the 1973 Pontiac Grand Prix in flames about 8:25 p.m. and used a portable fire extinguisher to keep the fire from spreading until township firemen arrived.

Owner of the car, Lawrence Riley, 4142 Morton lane, Lincoln township, told police he stopped the car near the intersection of M-139 and Pipestone road when it overheated.

Today In MICHIGAN

On To The Senate

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The House passed bills Thursday appropriating $90.3 million in general fund money to the Department of Corrections and $29.1 million to the Department of Education. The measures were approved 88-17 and 84-19, respectively, and sent to the Senate. Both bills, which appropriate money for the upcoming fiscal year, originally passed in the Senate but return there for concurrence in increased funding. As the House passed the corrections bill, it contains $4.7 million more in general fund money than the Senate version and $10.5 million more than Gov. William Milliken originally recommended. The House version includes adding 47 new prison guard positions, addition of two parole board members, and funding for a new retirement plan. The education department bill appropriates $100,000 more in general fund money than the Senate version, but $600,000 less than Milliken originally asked for.

Instead, A Commendation

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne County social worker who uncovered substandard conditions at a Detroit adult care facility has been cleared of misconduct charges. State Social Services Director John Dempsey made the ruling Thursday, saying Bonnie Russell's supervisors did not have valid reasons for transferring her from casework. Miss Russell protested the transfer was a means of punishing her for repeated complaints about the Adams Adult Foster Care Facility in Detroit, which was closed March 6 after a patient there was fatally beaten. Miss Russell brought the incident to Dempsey's attention by calling him at his home after filing reports on conditions at the home for more than a year. Dempsey ordered a commendation be placed in her personnel file and offered her a new job with the agency in Lansing.

Workers Comp Bogs Down

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Negotiations over revisions in the state worker's compensation system are so bogged down there is virtually no chance of approval before lawmakers adjourn this summer. And some key lawmakers give the crucial legislation only an even chance of passing before Dec. 31, when all bills die and the legislature recesses. Legislators involved in discussions between labor and business groups say the two sides are still too far apart to begin even considering compromise legislation. With the press of budget bills and the upcoming election campaign, worker's compensation has been put on the back burner. A special committee made up of lawmakers from both parties and representatives of the governor's office has not met in two weeks. Two task forces — one representing labor and one business — have been working, however. Workers compensation revision was billed the major legislative task for 1976 when lawmakers returned this year after a 1975 session filled with major action. But the issue has proven thornier than anyone dreamed.

Circuit Judge Suspended

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court ordered Circuit Court Judge Willard L. Mikesell suspended for 18 months Thursday when it upheld a Judicial Tenure Commission ruling. Mikesell's jurisdiction includes Eaton and Barry counties. The tenure commission said Mikesell was "grossly lacking" in judicial temperament and "devoid of the basic concepts of impartiality in the conduct of trials." The high court said the record showed Mikesell was hostile to attorneys, defendants and witnesses. But the Supreme Court refused to remove Mikesell from office as the tenure commission had recommended. It said his personal integrity "is beyond reproach and he is industrious in the work of the law." The suspension means Mikesell may not be paid during those months, though he may practice law "if otherwise qualified," the court said. A former Eaton County prosecutor, Mikesell was elected circuit judge in 1970.

Wives Still Excluded

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — For the second time, the House refused Thursday to include beaten wives in a crime compensation bill after opponents argued the same people would keep showing up. "It's not that I don't like women," said Rep. Richard Fessler, R-Union Lake. But he said beaten wives who file charges against their husbands often "kiss and make up" later and drop the charges. Soon the wives are beaten again and the cycle begins anew. "By the time the bill is paid off, we're not going to have a prosecution or any correction of the incident. We're going to find the same people coming back every six months or a year," he said. The bill provides financial compensation — up to $15,000 — for crime victims' medical expenses and loss of wages. However, under the bill, persons residing in the same household with a person who criminally injures them would only be compensated for out-of-pocket medical expenses.

'Cutbacks . . . Inevitable'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken warned Thursday that state services would have to be cut if the legislature continues proposing appropriations that exceed his recommendations. Milliken said appropriations bills at various stages of completion in the legislature run roughly $260 million over his recommendations. Milliken in February proposed a $3.2 billion state general fund budget. He already has ordered cutbacks in spending and various measures to avoid deficit spending, which is banned by the state Constitution.

Lawrence Fight Warrant Issued

LAWRENCE — The Van Buren prosecutor's office has authorized a warrant for the arrest of a Chicago man on a charge of felonious assault in connection with a fight in Lawrence Sunday night in which one Lawrence man was hurt.

Lawrence police said yesterday that they believe the Chicago man, Robert E. Williams, Jr., and another suspect are now in Chicago.

Police said Kenneth Mann, 19, 121 North Third street, Lawrence, was released from Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, on Monday following observation. Mann was struck over the head with a tire iron following the theft of about $15 from his wallet, police said. Kenneth Letourneau, 19, and Eric Haugard, 19, both of Lawrence, were also struck by fists during the melee, but did not require treatment, according to police.

Police said the three had been playing basketball in the village park when Mann noticed money was missing from his wallet. Mann, who is white, asked a nearby group of black youths if anyone had taken the money, police said. Police said a fight resulted during which Mann was struck once in the head with a tire iron. Six persons fled the scene in a car which was later found abandoned near 54th street and CR-215, officers said. According to police, the car was registered to Robert E. Williams, Sr. of Chicago.

Police Scanners In Auto Against Law

NILES — "It pays to listen," so the old saying goes — but not to portable police scanners in side your motor vehicle. Unless of course, your motor vehicle is a patrol car.

Ronald R. Groshans, 30, Niles, found that out early this morning when he was arrested for possession of two police scanners (radio-type equipment that monitors police calls) in a motor vehicle and possession of stolen property (the two police scanners).

State police at the Niles post said they stopped Groshans' auto near the corner of South 11th street and US-31 for a traffic violation around 12:30 a.m. While officers were checking his identification they overheard a police signal being monitored from inside Groshans' auto. A subsequent search of the vehicle turned up the two portable police scanners, the officers reported.

Further investigation by police revealed the two portable scanners were stolen from Colfax Electronics, Plaza drive, Benton Harbor, on Feb. 26.

Sgt. Richard Kolenda of the Niles state police post said "few people realize that its against the law to carry police monitoring radios in the passenger compartment of a vehicle, whether the devices are turned on or off."

Kolenda said popular Citizens-Band radios (C-B's) in motor vehicles are not against the law, however.

Driver Charged

St. Joseph police Thursday arrested the alleged driver of a pickup truck that clipped a barricade and leveled two highway signs before coming to rest in the construction area of the new Morrison channel bridge.

Patrolmen Cliff Munson and Cliff Ward said the barricade blocked access to the new bridge at the intersection of Ship and Wayne streets. The truck hit a load limit sign, traveled along a parking lot and struck another sign on a traffic island at the intersection of Wayne and Port streets before traveling about 90 feet into the construction area. The accident occurred about 7:30 p.m.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants was John Ford Mikowski, 26, of 1458 South Aurilla drive, St. Joseph township. He was unhurt, police said.

Car Fire

Benton township police said the engine area of a car was burned out in a fire that apparently started when the car overheated because of a broken water pump Thursday.

Patrolman Robert Polmanter said he found the 1973 Pontiac Grand Prix in flames about 9:25 p.m. and used a portable fire extinguisher to keep the fire from spreading until township firemen arrived.

Owner of the car, Lawrence Riley, 4142 Morton lane, Lincoln township, told police he stopped the car near the intersection of M-139 and Pipestone road when it overheated.

Bangor's School Chief Suspended

BANGOR — Frederick Stap, administrative assistant at Bangor schools, has been appointed acting superintendent to replace Supt. Howard Beyer who has been suspended by the board indefinitely.

HOWARD BEYER
Indefinite suspension

School board Secretary Mrs. Peggy Phillips confirmed yesterday that the board, at a special session Tuesday night, suspended Beyer with pay and appointed Stap to take his place on a temporary basis.

She said Beyer was suspended because he failed to tell the board of the requested transfer to the Lawrence district of a 240-acre farm owned jointly by William Colgren Sr. and William Colgren Jr.

The farm has an estimated state equalized valuation of about $65,000, according to county officials.

The loss of the farm's tax base to the Bangor district resulted in another board charge against the 56-year-old superintendent along with his suspension, she said.

The new charge was made against Beyer in a 10-minute public meeting Tuesday night, just before the board went into a private hearing to hear testimony on 13 previous charges filed by the board against the superintendent.

Those charges include hiring relatives at salaries they should not have been paid, paying relatives for hours they did not work, and buying property for personal use from surplus sources normally restricted to governmental use.

Beyer has been superintendent at Bangor since July, 1964, and has two years to go yet on a current contract paying him an annual $28,900 salary.

Mrs. Phillips said the Van Buren intermediate school district on March 16 wrote Beyer and informed him of the request by the Colgrens to transfer their jointly owned farm to the Lawrence school district.

The intermediate board on

May 5 approved the transfer.

Ernest Shaw, superintendent of the intermediate district, said yesterday the intermediate board did not receive any notice that the Bangor school board had "done anything" on the transfer request.

The Bangor school board had until May 15 to appeal the transfer.

Mrs. Phillips said the board did not learn of the transfer until after the appeal period had expired.

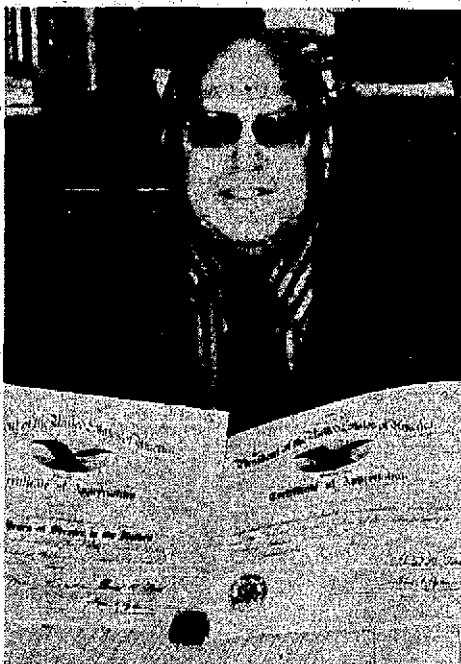

The vote Tuesday night to suspend Beyer was 8 to 0, with board member George Denny absent.

Mrs. Phillips said the latest charge was signed by all board members: Dr. Frederick Durham, Mrs. Mildred Royal, Mrs. Clara Singer, Harold Wright, Mrs. Phillips and Otto Watkins Jr.

The effective date of the charge is May 25, she said.

Any hearing on the charge must be held within 30 to 45 days of the effective date.

The 13 previous charges, along with the latest charge, were all filed under state regulations on teacher tenure.

Chief Of Schools Leaving Lawton

LAWTON — Lawton School Supt. George Dannecker is leaving Lawton to become superintendent of the Merrill school district in Saginaw county.

"The district has the same kinds of needs as Lawton had when I came here," said Dannecker, who has been the Lawton superintendent since 1966. He said he is looking forward to undertaking an expansion program in the district which is about 15 miles west of Saginaw. He is to begin his new job July 1.

The Merrill district has a student population of about 1,580, compared to Lawton's 1,020, he said.

Dannecker, 52, came to Lawton from Kingsley, Mich., near Traverse City, where he had also been a superintendent.

The Lawton school board at a special meeting Monday accepted Dannecker's resignation from the $23,400-a-year post and is now beginning a search for a replacement.

Dannecker said he and his wife, Margaret, are now preparing to move from their Paw Paw home to Merrill. The couple has two daughters.

Father Told To Pay Back Support

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Eight years ago Thursday a Niles man appeared in Berrien Circuit court for his divorce. Yesterday he was also in circuit court, but this time was placed on probation for failing to pay his child support.

Held in contempt of court for $7,105 arrears for two children on ADC was Adrian Albert Adams, of 2731 East street, Niles. Judge Julian Hughes placed Adams on two years probation and ordered him to sign a wage assignment of $24 weekly support plus $6 each week towards the arrearage.

Hughes also threatened that the next time Adams is in court for failing to pay child support he'll go to jail. Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, said Adams has made only 10 support payments in the last four years. He also noted Adams yesterday paid $1,160 towards the arrearage.

Still Trying

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co., fresh from a losing attempt to secure a natural gas rate hike, is going back to the state with a new request for a $4.1 million annual increase.

Company officials also sought permission Thursday to begin charging its 975,000 natural gas customers $27.8 million of the higher rates immediately.

Consumers said the full increase would be 7 per cent for the average residential gas customer. The firm said bills for customers using gas for residential space heating would rise an average $2.55 per month or 4.6 per cent.

Commercial and industrial customers would experience increases ranging between 6 and 11 per cent, Consumers said.

On March 8, the Michigan Public Service Commission denied the company rate hikes beyond the $29.1 million annual increase granted on an interim basis on June 2, 1975.

Hecht, Jewell Seek 3rd Terms

Berrien county Register of Deeds Judith L. Hecht has filed nominating petitions with the Berrien clerk's office as a candidate for a third term on the Republican ticket in the Aug. 3 primary.

Also filing petitions was Berrien Sheriff Forrest (Nick) Jewell, who announced earlier this month that he also would seek a third term as a Republican candidate.

Mrs. Hecht, 33, of 701 Shaker Farm road, Berrien Springs, has worked in the register of deeds office for 14 years, the last 7½ as register. Mrs. Hecht has served in various capacities with the state association of registers of deeds and is a member of the group's legislative committee.

Mrs. Hecht currently serves as acting vice chairman of the county Republican party, and has been appointed to the Governor's Awards Commission for Distinguished Public Employees. She is also a member and past president of the Republican Women's Federation, and a member of the board of directors of Blossomland United Way.

She is married to Dr. Philip F. Hecht and has one son.

Jewell, 46, joined the sheriff's department as a deputy in 1955 and currently is chairman of the Berrien Police Services council, chairman of the Twin City Traffic and Safety committee,

BERRIEN COUNTY Intermediate Board Okays Wage Hikes

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien County Intermediate school board Thursday night approved wage increases ranging from 5 to 9 per cent for non-administrative employees of the district during the 1976-77 school year.

Supt. Raymond Sreboth said the increases will take effect July 1 and will apply to 83 employees, including special education instructors, instructional aides, data processing workers, custodians and the secretarial staff.

The board deferred action on salaries of the intermediate district's 11 administrators until its next regular meeting June 3.

Almost half the non-administrative employees who received increases are covered by the master agreement between the district and the Berrien Intermediate Education Association.

Sreboth said increases under the master agreement amount to 5 per cent in salaries and an additional 1.3 per cent in fringe benefits, specifically a dental plan and improved hospitalization premiums.

He said salary costs alone would amount to a $26,897 increase for 41 employees covered by the agreement while fringe increases would total $11,400.

Under the master agreement, base salaries remain the same but incremental steps on the salary schedule are increased. The new maximum for a bachelor's degree is $13,350 compared to $12,690 last year while top pay for a master's degree plus 30 credit hours will be boosted from $16,990 to $17,873.

Instruction aides received a straight $100 pay hike, boosting the pay scale to a minimum of $6,550 and a maximum of $8,550.

Clerical-secretarial employees' pay range was increased to a minimum of $5,725 and a maximum of $10,112 for next year. The range during the present year is $5,450 to $9,450.

Custodial workers received increases of from 20 to 25 cents an hour, boosting top pay to $4.40 an hour.

The biggest increases, which Sreboth said average about 9 per cent, were granted to five data processing employees in an attempt to bring their salaries more in line with going rates paid by other employers.

This hiked a computer operator's annual salary from $7,750 to $8,450 and an analyst-programmer's salary from $13,100 to $14,000.

The district's supervisor of trainable mentally impaired, Kathy Williams, whose salary is related to the master agreement, was given an increase from $14,844 to $15,766.

Three Enter Race For Berrien Board

Two Democrats and a Republican have filed nominating petitions with the Berrien county clerk's office for three different seats on the Berrien board of commissioners.

Filing were incumbent Victor E. Greer, for District 4, Richard L. Camp for District 13, and Joseph Garbert, II, for District 11.

Greer, 44, of 1130 Salem street, Benton Harbor, seeks his fifth term on the county board from a district which includes all of the First and Third wards of Benton Harbor and sections of the Second and Fourth wards.

Greer, a Democrat, serves on the county board's affairs committee, was chairman of the city's charter commission, and is president of Durable Products, Inc., of Benton Harbor.

Camp, 53, of 618 South St., Joseph avenue, Niles, is running for his first term on the county board seeking the District 13 seat, which covers most of the City of Niles.

Camp, a Democrat, is semi-retired and previously owned and operated Camp's drug store in Niles for 20 years. He has served on the city's board of public works for 10 years.

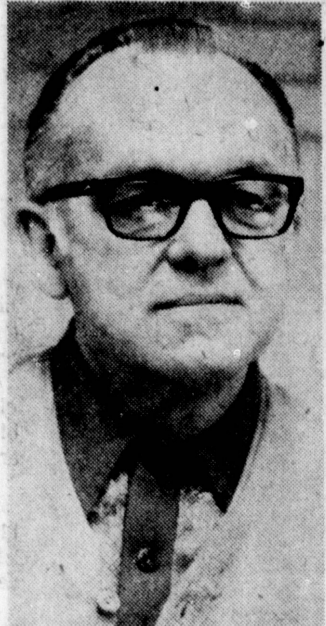

Garbert, 28, of 503 West Roe, Buchanan, previously announced he would seek the Republican nomination for District 11, which includes Galien, Bertrand, and western Buchanan townships, and Buchanan city and north Niles township.

Garbert, a former Buchanan mayor, is manager of the Sexton Furniture company in Buchanan.

Bangor's School Chief Suspended

BANGOR — Frederick Stap, administrative assistant at Bangor schools, has been appointed acting superintendent to replace Supt. Howard Beyer who has been suspended by the board indefinitely.

HOWARD BEYER
Indefinite suspension

School board Secretary Mrs. Peggy Phillips confirmed yesterday that the board, at a special session Tuesday night, suspended Beyer with pay and appointed Stap to take his place on a temporary basis.

She said Beyer was suspended because he failed to tell the board of the requested transfer to the Lawrence district of a 240-acre farm owned jointly by William Colgren Sr. and William Colgren Jr.

The farm has an estimated state equalized valuation of about $65,000, according to county officials.

The loss of the farm's tax base to the Bangor district resulted in another board charge against the 56-year-old superintendent along with his suspension, she said.

The new charge was made against Beyer in a 10-minute public meeting Tuesday night, just before the board went into a private hearing to hear testimony on 13 previous charges filed by the board against the superintendent.

Those charges include hiring relatives at salaries they should not have been paid, paying relatives for hours they did not work, and buying property for personal use from surplus sources normally restricted to governmental use.

Beyer has been superintendent at Bangor since July, 1964, and has two years to go yet on a current contract paying him an annual $28,900 salary.

Mrs. Phillips said the Van Buren Intermediate school district on March 16 wrote Beyer and informed him of the request by the Colgrens to transfer their jointly owned farm to the Lawrence school district.

The intermediate board on

May 5 approved the transfer.

Ernest Shaw, superintendent of the intermediate district, said yesterday the intermediate board "...did not receive any notice that the Bangor school board had done anything" on the transfer request.

The Bangor school board had until May 15 to appeal the transfer.

Mrs. Phillips said the board did not learn of the transfer until after the appeal period had expired.

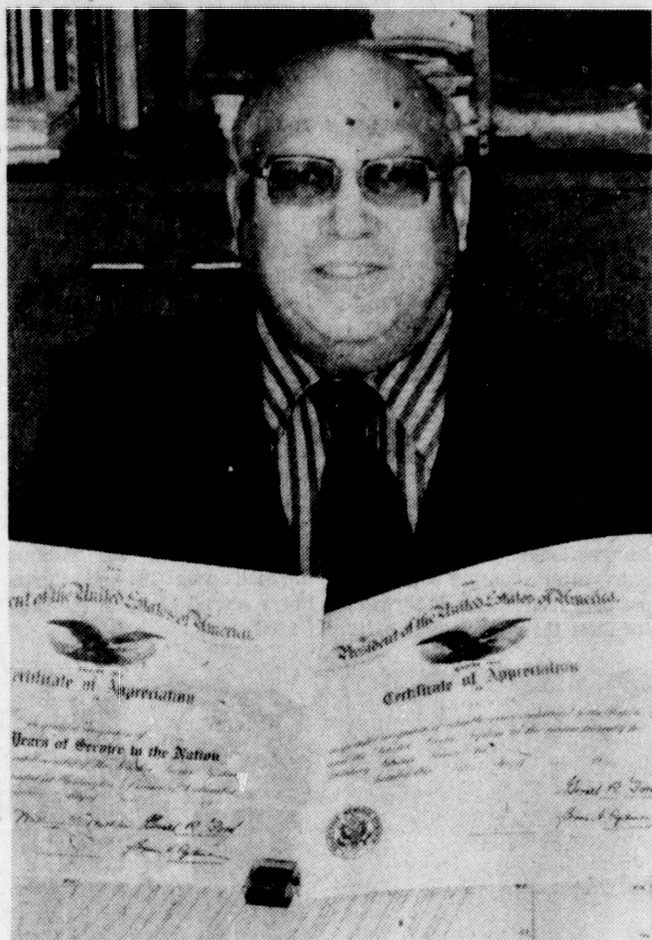

The vote Tuesday night to suspend Beyer was 6 to 0, with board member George Denny absent.

Mrs. Phillips said the latest charge was signed by all board members. Dr. Frederick Durham, Mrs. Mildred Royal, Mrs. Clara Singer, Harold Wright, Mrs. Phillips and Otto Watkins Jr.

The effective date of the charge is May 25, she said.

Any hearing on the charge must be held within 30 to 45 days of the effective date.

The 13 previous charges, along with the latest charge, were all filed under state regulations on teacher tenure.

Chief Of Schools Leaving Lawton

LAWTON — Lawton School Supt. George Dannecker is leaving Lawton to become superintendent of the Merrill school district in Saginaw county.

"The district has the same kinds of needs as Lawton had when I came here," said Dannecker, who has been the Lawton superintendent since 1966. He said he is looking forward to undertaking an expansion program in the district which is about 15 miles west of Saginaw.

He is to begin his new job July 1.

The Merrill district has a student population of about 1,680, compared to Lawton's 1,020, he said.

Dannecker, 52, came to Lawton from Kingsley, Mich., near Traverse City, where he had also been a superintendent.

The Lawton school board at a special meeting Monday accepted Dannecker's resignation from the $23,400-a-year post and is now beginning a search for a replacement.

Dannecker said he and his wife, Margaret, are now preparing to move from their Paw Paw home to Merrill. The couple has two daughters.

Father Told To Pay Back Support

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Eight years ago Thursday a Niles man appeared in Berrien Circuit court for his divorce. Yesterday he was also in circuit court, but this time was placed on probation for failing to pay his child support.

Held in contempt of court for $7,105 arrears for two children on ADC was Adrian Albert Adams, of 2731 East street, Niles. Judge Julian Hughes placed Adams on two years probation and ordered him to sign a wage assignment of $24 weekly support plus $6 each week towards the arrearage.

Hughes also threatened that the next time Adams is in court for failing to pay child support he'll go to jail. Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, said Adams has made only 10 support payments in the last four years. He also noted Adams yesterday paid $1,100 towards the arrearage.

Still Trying

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co., fresh from a losing attempt to secure a natural gas rate hike, is going back to the state with a new request for a $54.1 million annual increase.

Company officials also sought permission Thursday to begin charging its 975,000 natural gas customers $27.9 million of the higher rates immediately.

Consumers said the full increase would be 7 per cent for the average residential gas customer. The firm said bills for customers using gas for residential space heating would rise an average $2.55 per month or 4.6 per cent.

Commercial and industrial customers would experience increases ranging between 6 and 11 per cent, Consumers said.

On March 8, the Michigan Public Service Commission denied the company rate hikes beyond the $29.1 million annual increase granted on an interim basis on June 2, 1975.

Hecht, Jewell Seek 3rd Terms

Berrien county Register of Deeds Judith Litke Hecht has filed nominating petitions with the Berrien clerk's office as a candidate for a third term on the Republican ticket in the Aug. 3 primary.

Also filing petitions was Berrien Sheriff Forrest (Nick) Jewell, who announced earlier this month that he also would seek a third term as a Republican candidate.

Mrs. Hecht, 33, of 701 Shaker Farm road, Berrien Springs, has worked in the register of deeds office for 14 years, the last 7½ as register. Mrs. Hecht has served in various capacities with the state association of registers of deeds and is a member of the group's legislative committee.

Mrs. Hecht currently serves as acting vice chairman of the county Republican party, and has been appointed to the Governor's Awards Commission for Distinguished Public Employees. She is also a member and past president of the Republican Women's Federation, and a member of the board of directors of Blossomland United Way.

She is married to Dr. Philip F. Hecht and has one son.

Jewell, 46, joined the sheriff's department as a deputy in 1955 and currently is chairman of the Berrien Police Services council, chairman of the Twin City Traffic and Safety committee,

BERRIEN COUNTY Intermediate Board Okays Wage Hikes

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien County Intermediate school board Thursday night approved wage increases ranging from 5 to 9 per cent for non-administrative employees of the district during the 1976-77 school year.

Supt. Raymond Sreboth said the increases will take effect July 1 and will apply to 83 employees, including special education instructors, instructional aides, data processing workers, custodians and the secretarial staff.

The board deferred action on salaries of the intermediate district's 11 administrators until its next regular meeting June 3.

Almost half the non-administrative employees who received increases are covered by the master agreement between the district and the Berrien Intermediate Education Association.

Sreboth said increases under the master agreement amount to 5 per cent in salaries and an additional 1.3 per cent in fringe benefits, specifically a dental plan and improved hospitalization premiums.

He said salary costs alone would amount to a $26,897 increase for 41 employees covered by the agreement while fringe increases would total $11,400.

Under the master agreement, base salaries remain the same but incremental steps on the salary schedule are increased. The new maximum for a bachelor's degree is $13,350 compared to $12,690 last year while top pay for a master's degree plus 30 credit hours will be boosted from $16,990 to $17,873.

Instruction aides received a straight $100 pay hike, boosting the pay scale to a minimum of $6,550 and a maximum of $8,550.

Clerical-secretarial employees' pay range was increased to a minimum of $5,725 and a maximum of $10,112 for next year. The range during the present year is $5,450 to $9,450.

Custodial workers received increases of from 20 to 25 cents an hour, boosting top pay to $4.40 an hour.

The biggest increases, which Sreboth said average about 9 per cent, were granted to five data processing employees in an attempt to bring their salaries more in line with going rates paid by other employers.

This hiked a computer operator's annual salary from $7,750 to $8,450 and an analyst-programmer's salary from $13,100 to $14,000.

The district's supervisor of trainable mentally impaired, Kathy Williams, whose salary is related to the master agreement, was given an increase from $14,844 to $15,766.

Miss Lyons will attend Michigan State university this fall to major in accounting. Husenita will attend Western Michigan university beginning in the fall for a pre-law course of study.

Three Enter Race For Berrien Board

Two Democrats and a Republican have filed nominating petitions with the Berrien county clerk's office for three different seats on the Berrien board of commissioners.

Filing were Incumbent Victor E. Greer, for District 4, Richard L. Camp for District 13, and Joseph Garbert, II, for District 11.

Greer, 44, of 1130 Salem street, Benton Harbor, seeks his fifth term on the county board under a district which includes all of the First and Third wards of Benton Harbor and sections of the Second and Fourth wards.

Greer, a Democrat, serves on the county board's affairs committee, was chairman of the city's charter commission, and is president of Durable Products, Inc., of Benton Harbor.

Camp, 53, of 618 South St. Joseph avenue, Niles, is running for his first term on the county board seeking the District 13 seat, which covers most of the City of Niles.

Camp, a Democrat, is semi-retired and previously owned and operated Camp's drug store in Niles for 20 years. He has served on the city's board of public works for 10 years.

Big Surge Destroys Phoenix

Explosive Celtics Romp

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Boston's pro basketball fans are used to watching the Celtics destroy opposing teams with one explosive period. But rarely have they witnessed anything like what they saw in the second game of the 1976 National Basketball Association championship series.

With a capacity crowd of 15,320 screaming loudly Thursday night, the Celtics combined near-perfect offense and defense for the first five minutes of the third period, outscoring the jittery Phoenix Suns 20-2. After that, the Celtics had to put down only one belated Phoenix rally before registering a 105-90 victory and assuming a 2-0 lead in the nationally televised best-of-seven series. "The crowd really got psyched," Phoenix' rookie center Alvan Adams said afterwards.

What really set the crowd afire was a deliberate foul called against former Celtics' backcourt man Paul Westphal with Boston leading 51-41 early in the third quarter.

Westphal was called for the rare infraction when he grabbed Boston's Jo Jo White from behind as the Celtics' guard headed for what appeared to be an easy layup after he had stolen the ball from his ex-teammate.

"When they saw their beloved Paul (until then still a favorite of the Boston fans even one year after his trade to Phoenix) do something they didn't like ... it got the crowd rockin', it got the Celtics rockin', too," said Adams.

Phoenix Coach John MacLeod protested the call against Westphal and was tagged with a technical foul.

White, although infuriated, sank all three free throw attempts and the Celtics were winging.

White's steal had been preceded by a theft and an easy layup by Charlie Scott, and those two plays unglued the young, inexperienced Suns, who have not beaten the Celtics in 12 games on Boston's home court in five years.

After White's three foul shots, Scott and John Havlicek hit long jump shots, giving the Celtics 12 consecutive points in the first three minutes of the period and a 55-41 lead. Adams broke the string with a tipin, but Boston came right back with eight points in a row and it was 66-43.

Later in the period, the lead had ballooned to 80-52. The Suns, after shooting a poor 33 per cent from the floor through the first three periods, finally found the range in the fourth quarter, but it was too late.

With the help of 14 points in a row, they whittled Boston's lead to 88-80 with 3:18 left, but the poised, unrelenting Celtics didn't let them get any closer. They scored the next eight points, and that was all for the game — but under-manned — Suns.

Havlicek led Boston's balanced offense with 23 points, while Scott and Dave Cowens each scored 18. Westphal, Phoenix' leading scorer during both the regular season and playoffs but limited to just eight points in the Celtics' 98-97 opening-game victory, paced the Suns with 28. Adams finished with 19 and Curtis Perry scored 15, 13 in the final period.

JANET QUALIFIES: Race driver Janet Guthrie, who failed to make the field at Indianapolis, qualified Thursday for Sunday's World 600 stock car race and will be the first woman ever to drive in the race. Janet drove her Chevrolet Chevelle through two laps of time trials at an average speed of 152.797 mile per hour. (AP Wirephoto)

Janet Gets Race Spot

First Woman To Qualify For Stock Event

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — "I think she realizes now that I'm not bullying her," engine-builder Ralph Moody said Thursday after Janet Guthrie became the first woman to qualify for a major stock car race.

Miss Guthrie, failed in her recent attempts to make the Indianapolis 500 field, averaged 152.797 miles an hour in the former Chevrolet of A.J. Foyt to land the 27th starting position for Sunday's 17th annual World 600 at Charlotte Motor Speedway.

"She has proven she can drive a Grand National car and that will help her confidence," said Moody, who built Miss Guthrie's engine. He was half of the former Holman-Moody team whose cars dominated the sport for so many years. "She will get faster and be able to tell us more about the car's handling as she gets experience."

Miss Guthrie, a 38-year-old physicist from New York City, helped bump the likes of veterans Buck Baker, Bobby Isaac and David Sisco from the field. Her two-lap qualifying sprint around the 1.5-mile super speedway was the 12th quickest of the day as 15 drivers made the 40-car field and 18 others were left to vie for 10 spots Friday.

"Don't ask me about that woman driver," quipped Baker, who at age 57 is attempting to make a comeback. "She has already made a fool out of me with my prediction (of 145 m.p.h.). She's in the field and I'm not. I'm ready to believe anything. Even that she can win the race." Baker, who said Miss Guthrie wouldn't make the field, averaged 151.281 in a Chevrolet, about a mile and a half slower than her.

"I wouldn't say that I felt nervous today," Miss Guthrie said. "There's a word that fits the situation better. I call it butterflies."

Foyt Rated Indy Favorite

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A.J. Foyt, the seemingly ageless speedster who has been looking for nearly a decade for a record fourth victory here, gets the nod as a slight favorite over a quartet of other former winners for victory in Sunday's 60th annual Indianapolis 500.

The fifth annual Associated Press poll of drivers, mechanics, officials and newsmen rated Foyt a 4-1 favorite, with 5-1 odds on pole position starter Johnny Rutherford, Gordon Johncock, Al Unser and Mario Andretti.

Defending champion Bobby Unser, with a new team this year, was listed at no better than 11-1.

The 42-year-old Foyt, who has had more than his share of troubles this month, reportedly has solved the problems that resulted in his qualifying a relatively poor fifth in the 33-car lineup.

If there is a dark horse in the field, it figures to be the veteran Roger McCluskey, the 1973 national champion, who has been here 15 times now, led the race twice but never come away better than third.

McCluskey is driving a new machine designed by the fellow who laid out the specifications for Dan Gurney's fabulously successful Eagle a few years ago, and this new machine appears to be the best of the lot. McCluskey is starting in the fifth row, but his qualifying speed is sixth fastest over all.

Here's the line on the other drivers queuing behind Foyt:

At 5-1: Rutherford, a proven driver, proven car, proven team — what more could you ask? Johncock should have no shortage of horsepower with the new George Bignotti engine. Watch out for Al Unser if his Casworth-powered machine is running at the finish. Andretti, he won't be 19th very long.

At 6-1: Wally Dallenbach, the hard luck loser of last year should be as tough as ever with a little better fortune.

At 8-1: Lloyd Ruby, after what he and his team did in just three days to get him in the show, you have to give him a good shot at it.

At 9-1: Panch Carter, still a little inexperienced like Sneva, but driving a car that is a proven winner. Bill Vukovich, the driver is very capable if the car can finish. Mike Mosley, the perennial dark horse, with an even more intense desire to win this year.

At 10-1: Gary Bettenhausen, a very good journeyman race driver who could win with the right breaks.

At 11-1: Bobby Unser, no question about the driver, but the team has trouble keeping engines together lately.

The remaining drivers in the field were rated at 15-1 or worse. The AP poll accurately picked Mark Donohue in 1972 and Johncock in 1973. Rutherford, who won in 1974, was a co-favorite that year with Foyt, as was Bobby Unser last year.

LeFlore Extends Hit Streak To 30

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak is one that will last forever, many baseball sages have claimed.

Rin LeFlore's streak with the Detroit Tigers has just reached 30 games — still a long way off. But DiMaggio's record has got to be the foremost item on the minds of those plugging for LeFlore.

"I think he's definitely the type of player who has a chance," said Baltimore pitcher Ken Holtzman, whose first pitch Thursday was tagged by LeFlore for a triple.

"I threw it as hard as I could throw," Holtzman said of that first offering, "and it looked like he took it right out of Dave's (catcher Dave Duncan's) mitt."

LeFlore also beat out a bunt single down the first base line to open the third inning, a hit fielded by Holtzman.

"He passed me like I was standing still," Holtzman said of the fleet LeFlore.

The 30-game string has been reached only 12 times in American League history and just nine times in the National League, including four in the pre-1900 era.

"You don't realize how great it is until you see those names and see how many have done it," Tiger Manager Ralph Houk said of LeFlore's, string — which includes at least one hit in each of the games he has batted. He leads the major leagues with a .392 average.

A national sports magazine has sent a reporter in to do a feature on LeFlore, primping

Houk to say he was surprised at the national attention the streak is getting.

On DiMaggio's record, set in 1941 with the New York Yankees, Houk said: "I've always said there is no way you could hit in 56 straight games; I think it would be very difficult to break it. I would like to see Ronnie do it, but it would be one hell of a feat."

He said LeFlore still needs to develop a smooth bunting technique so he could get more "leg" hits.

"Imagine if he could bunt like (Phil) Rizzuto did," Houk said.

LeFlore's streak equals the longest by a Tiger since 1934. That's when Goose Goslin hit in 30 straight games. In 1924, Sam Rice of Washington had a 31-game string. If LeFlore gets that far, the rest of the AL streaks to shoot for are:

Hennie Manush, Washington, 33 games in 1933; Dom DiMaggio, Boston (1949), George McQuinn, St. Louis (1938), Jonathan Stone, Detroit (1939), and George Sisler, St. Louis (1925), all 34 games; Ty Cobb, Detroit, 35 in 1917; Cobb with the Tiger record of 40 in 1911; Sisler with 41 in 1922; and DiMaggio, 56 in 1941.

LeFlore also is hearing Sisler's season-opening record of 34.

In the modern NL era, Stan Musial of St. Louis had a 30-game streak in 1950. Rico Carty of Atlanta and Willie Davis of Los Angeles had 31-game strings in 1970 and 1969, respectively. St. Louis' Rogers Hornsby hit in 33 consecutive in 1922, and Tommy Holmes of Boston owns the modern NL record with 37 in 1946.

Elmer Smith of Cincinnati had a 30-gamer in 1896. Louisville's Fred Clarke had 31 in 1895. Bill Dahlen, Chicago, had 42 in 1894. And Willie Keeler of the old Baltimore club had a 44-game streak in 1917.

Big Surge Destroys Phoenix

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's pro basketball fans are used to watching the Celtics destroy opposing teams with one explosive period. But rarely have they witnessed anything like what they saw in the second game of the 1976 National Basketball Association championship series.

With a capacity crowd of 15,320 screaming loudly Thursday night, the Celtics combined near-perfect offense and defense for the first five minutes of the third period, outscoring the jittery Phoenix Suns 20-2. After that, the Celtics had to put down only one belated Phoenix rally before registering a 105-90 victory and assuming a 2-0 lead in the nationally televised best-of-seven series.

"The crowd really got psyched," Phoenix' rookie center Alvan Adams said afterwards.

What really set the crowd afire was a deliberate foul called against former Celtics' backcourt man Paul Westphal with Boston leading 51-41 early in the third quarter.

Westphal was called for the rare infraction when he grabbed Boston's Jo Jo White from behind as the Celtics' guard headed for what appeared to be an easy layup after he had stolen the ball from his ex-teammate.

"When they saw their beloved Paul (until then still a favorite of the Boston fans even one year after his trade to Phoenix) do something they didn't like ... it got the crowd rockin', it got the Celtics rockin', too," said Adams.

Phoenix Coach John MacLeod protested the call against Westphal and was tagged with a technical foul.

White, although infuriated, sank all three free throw attempts and the Celtics were winging.

White's steal had been preceded by a theft and an easy layup by Charlie Scott, and those two plays unglued the young, inexperienced Suns, who have not beaten the Celtics in 12 games on Boston's home court in five years.

After White's three foul shots, Scott and John Havlicek hit long jump shots, giving the Celtics 12 consecutive points in the first three minutes of the period and a 58-41 lead. Adams broke the string with a tip, but Boston came right back with eight points in a row and it was 66-43.

Later in the period, the lead had ballooned to 80-52. The Suns, after shooting a poor 33 per cent from the floor through the first three periods, finally found the range in the fourth quarter, but it was too late.

With the help of 14 points in a row, they whittled Boston's lead to 89-80 with 3:16 left, but the poised, unrelenting Celtics didn't let them get any closer. They scored the next eight points, and that was all for the game — but under-manned — Suns.

Havlicek led Boston's balanced offense with 23 points, while Scott and Dave Cowens each scored 16. Westphal, Phoenix' leading scorer during both the regular season and playoffs but limited to just eight points in the Celtics' 98-87 opening-game victory, paced the Suns with 28. Adams finished with 19 and Curtis Perry scored 15, 13 in the final period.

JANET QUALIFIES: Race driver Janet Guthrie, who failed to make the field at Indianapolis, qualified Thursday for Sunday's World 600 stock car race and will be the first woman ever to drive in the race. Janet Gets Race Spot

First Woman To Qualify For Stock Event

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — "I think she realizes now that I'm not bulling her," engine-builder Ralph Moody said Thursday after Janet Guthrie became the first woman to qualify for a major stock car race.

Miss Guthrie, foiled in her recent attempts to make the Indianapolis 500 field, averaged 152.797 miles an hour in the former Chevrolet of A.J. Foyt to land the 27th starting position for Sunday's 17th annual World 600 at Charlotte Motor Speedway.

"She has proven she can drive a Grand National car and that will help her confidence," said Moody, who built Miss Guthrie's engine. He was half of the former Holman-Moody team whose cars dominated the sport for so many years. "She will get faster and be able to tell us more about the car's handling as she gets experience."

Miss Guthrie, a 38-year-old physicist from New York City, helped bump the likes of veterans Buck Baker, Bobby Isaac and David Sisco from the field. Her two-lap qualifying sprint around the 1.5-mile super speedway was the 12th quickest of the day as 15 drivers made the 40-car field and 18 others were left to vie for 10 spots Friday.

"Don't ask me about that woman driver," quipped Baker, who at age 57 is attempting to make a comeback. "She has already made a fool out of me with my prediction (of 145 m.p.h.). She's in the field and I'm not. I'm ready to believe anything. Even that she can win the race." Baker, who said Miss Guthrie wouldn't make the field, averaged 151.281 in a Chevrolet, about a mile and a half slower than her.

"I wouldn't say that I felt nervous today," Miss Guthrie said. "There's a word that fits the situation better. I call it butterflies."

Foyt Rated Indy Favorite

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A.J. Foyt, the seemingly ageless speedster who has been looking for nearly a decade for a record fourth victory here, gets the nod as a slight favorite over a quartet of other former winners for victory in Sunday's 60th annual Indianapolis 500.

The fifth annual Associated Press poll of drivers, mechanics, officials and newsmen rated Foyt a 4-1 favorite, with 5-1 odds on pole position starter Johnny Rutherford, Gordon Johncock, Al Unser and Mario Andretti.

Defending champion Bobby Unser, with a new team this year, was listed at no better than 11-1.

The 42-year-old Foyt, who has had more than his share of troubles this month, reportedly has solved the problems that resulted in his qualifying a relatively poor fifth in the 33-car lineup.

If there is a dark horse in the field, it figures to be veteran Roger McCluskey, the 1973 national champion, who has been here 15 times now, led the race twice but never come away better than third.

McCluskey is driving a new machine designed by the fellow who laid out the specifications for Dan Gurney's fabulously successful Eagle a few years ago, and this new machine appears to be the best of the lot. McCluskey is starting in the fifth row, but his qualifying speed is sixth fastest over-all.

Here's the line on the other drivers queuing behind Foyt:

At 5-1: Rutherford, a proven driver, proven car, proven team — what more could you ask? Johncock should have no shortage of horsepower with the new George Bignotti engine. Watch out for Al Unser if his Cosworth-powered machine is running at the finish. Andretti, he won't be 19th very long.

At 6-1: Wally Dallenbach, the hard luck loser of last year should be as tough as ever with a little better fortune.

McCluskey, if you're a betting person, watch this one — this very well could be his year. At 7-1: Tom Sneva, only a relative lack of experience keeps him from being rated better this year.

At 8-1: Lloyd Ruby, after what he and his team did in just three days to get him in the show, you have to give him a good shot at it.

At 9-1: Pancho Carter, still a little inexperienced like Sneva, but driving a car that is a proven winner. Bill Vukovich, the driver is very capable if the car can finish. Mike Mosley, the perennial dark horse, with an even more intense desire to win this year.

At 10-1: Gary Bettenhausen, a very good journeyman race driver who could win with the right breaks.

At 11-1: Bobby Unser, no question about the driver, but the team has trouble keeping engines together lately.

The remaining drivers in the field were rated at 15-1 or worse. The AP poll accurately picked Mark Donohue in 1972 and Johncock in 1973. Rutherford, who won in 1974, was a co-favorite that year with Foyt, as was Bobby Unser last year.

LeFlore Extends Hit Streak To 30

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak is one that will last forever, many baseball sages have claimed.

But DiMaggio's record has just reached 30 games — still a long way off. But DiMaggio's record has got to be the foremost item on the minds of those plugging for LeFlore.

"I think he is definitely the type of player who has a chance," said Baltimore pitcher Ken Holtzman, whose first pitch Thursday was tagged by LeFlore for a triple.

"I threw it as hard as I could throw," Holtzman said of that first offering, "and it looked like he took it right out of Dave's (catcher Dave Duncan's) mitt."

LeFlore also beat out a bunt single down the first base line to open the third inning, a hit fielded by Holtzman.

"He passed me like I was standing still," Holtzman said of the fleet LeFlore.

The 30-game string has been reached only 12 times in American League history and just nine times in the National League, including four in the pre-1900 era.

"You don't realize how great it is until you see those names and see how many have done it," Tiger Manager Ralph Houk said of LeFlore's string — which includes at least one hit in each of the games he has batted. He leads the major leagues with a .392 average.

A national sports magazine has sent a reporter in to do a feature on LeFlore, prompting Houk to say he was surprised at the national attention the streak is getting.

On DiMaggio's record, set in 1941 with the New York Yankees, Houk said: "I've always said there is no way you could hit in 56 straight games. I think it would be very difficult to break it. I would like to see Ronnie do it, but it would be one hell of a feat."

He said LeFlore still needs to develop a smooth bunting technique so he could get more "leg" hits.

"Imagine if he could bunt like (Phil) Rizzuto did," Houk said.

LeFlore's streak equals the longest by a Tiger since 1934. That's when Goose Goslin hit in 30 straight games. In 1924, Sam Rice of Washington had a 31-game string. If LeFlore gets that far, the rest of the AL streaks to shoot for are:

Heinie Manush, Washington, 33 games in 1933; Dom DiMaggio, Boston (1949), George McQuinn, St. Louis (1938), Jonathan Stone, Detroit (1930), and George Sisler, St. Louis (1925), all 34 games; Ty Cobb, Detroit, 35 in 1917; Cobb with the Tiger record of 40 in 1911; Sisler with 41 in 1922; and DiMaggio, 56 in 1941.

LeFlore also is hearing Sisler's season-opening record of 34.

In the modern NL era, Stan Musial of St. Louis had a 30-game streak in 1950. Rico Carty of Atlanta and Willie Davis of Los Angeles had 31-game strings in 1970 and 1969, respectively. St. Louis' Rogers Hornsby hit in 33 consecutive in 1922 and Tommy Holmes of Boston owns the modern NL record with 37 in 1945.

Elmer Smith of Cincinnati had a 30-gamer in 1898. Louisville's Fred Clarke had 31 in 1895. Bill Dahlen, Chicago, had 42 in 1894. And Willie Keeler of the old Baltimore club had a 44-game streak in 1897.

Angels Snap Sox String

Melton, Tanana Key California Win

ANAHEIM (AP) — Bill Melton drove in three runs and Frank Tanana weathered 11 Chicago hits Thursday night as the California Angels cooled off the White Sox 5-3.

The decision snapped a 10-game winning streak for the White Sox, their longest since 1967.

Ironically, it was Tanana, who was the last pitcher to defeat the White Sox, turning the trick on May 17 in Chicago.

Tanana struck out nine to take over the major league strikeout lead from teammate Nolan Ryan with 82.

California snapped a 3-3 tie with two runs in the seventh. Jerry Remy singled, stole second and Joe Lahaud walked before Bobby Bonds drilled a run-scoring single. Melton got the second run over on an infield grounder.

Relief pitcher Francisco Barrios, 0-1, was charged with the loss.

The victory was the fifth in a row for Tanana, 6-3, and it ended a four-game California losing streak.

The Angels collected 12 hits off three Chicago pitchers with Remy producing three singles.

Ferguson Jenkins is suffering from a bad back, but he's been nothing but a pain in the neck to American League hitters of late.

Despite pitching with a "sharp, nagging pain like a toothache," the Boston Red Sox pitcher won his third straight game Thursday, a four-hit, 2-1 beauty over the Milwaukee Brewers.

"On a couple of plays I thought my back would fall off," said the right-hander.

Jenkins has been pitching with violent muscle spasms in his back for a couple of years now, although you'd never know it. He won 25 games for the Texas Rangers in 1974 and 17 last year before his trade to the Red Sox.

In the other American League games, the Oakland A's beat the Minnesota Twins 5-3; the Cleveland Indians stopped the New York Yankees 5-3; the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Detroit Tigers 4-3; and the Texas Rangers beat the Kansas City

Royals twice, winning the completion of a suspended game 5-4 in 10 innings before taking the regularly scheduled contest, 6-4.

While Jenkins provided the arm for the Red Sox, Doug Griffin provided the legs and Cecil Cooper the bat. Griffin scored the winning run on Cooper's seventh-inning sacrifice fly.

With the score tied 1-1 and one out in the seventh, loser Pete Broberg, 1-4, hit Griffin with a wild pitch attempt by Broberg and continued to third when first baseman George Scott was slow to retrieve the ball near the grandstand railing.

After an intentional walk to Rick Miller, Cooper followed with his pinch-hit sacrifice fly to center. Jenkins, 4-5, struck out eight and allowed only three runners to reach scoring position after serving up Darrell Porter's first home run of the year in the first inning.

Pinch-runner Larry Lintz stole second and then scored the tie-breaking run on an error in the seventh inning as Oakland defeated Minnesota. With the score tied 3-3 going into the seventh, losing pitcher Bert Blyleven gave up a leadoff single to Larry Haney. Lintz ran for Haney and stole second.

Bill North bunted Lintz to third, and when third baseman Steve Braun made a wild throw to first, Lintz continued home as North moved to second. Bert Campaneris sacrificed North to third and Don Baylor got the insurance run home with a sacrifice fly.

Pinch hitter Boog Powell stroked a tie-breaking single and Frank Duffy executed a suicide squeeze bunt for an insurance run as Cleveland scored twice in the seventh to defeat New York. Singles by George Hendrick and Charlie Spikes at the start of the seventh knocked out Yankee starter Rudy May, 3-2. Dick Tidrow relieved and surrendered the single to Powell, giving the Indians a 4-3 lead and their eventual winning run.

Ken Singleton broke a tie with a run-scoring double in the seventh inning, sending Baltimore over Detroit. Ron LeFlore of Detroit opened the Tiger first with a triple to extend his hitting streak to 30 games. LeFlore, who also had a hit single in the third, entered the game as the major league's leading hitter with a .392 average.

Jim Sundberg singled with a lead share of the SAC baseball title with a thrilling 1-0 win over Decatur Thursday at the Raiders' field.

The win gave the Cardinals a 9-1 league record, while Decatur finished at 9-3. All Bloomington has to do is win a makeup game at Marcellus June 2 to win the crown outright. Should the Cardinals lose that game, they would be forced to finish a tie game with Martin. The game, played May 20, was tied 2-2 after nine innings when called by darkness.

In other SAC action Thursday, Martin split with Marcellus, winning the first game 8-6 and dropping the nightcap 2-0. Gobles blanked Lawrence 4-0.

Tom Rigney and Mike Stone teamed together on a nifty four-hitter in Bloomington's win. Rigney worked the first three innings, allowing three hits and Stone finished up and gave up just one more.

Jim Snola, who relieved Decatur starter Jim Overley in the fifth, took the loss.

The Cardinals scored the game's only run in the fifth inning as Mike Fritz singled and Pat Barnes tripled him in.

Decatur got runners as far as second base in both the third and fifth innings, but couldn't bring them home.

Fritz was the only player on either team with more than one hit, slugging a pair of singles. Martin broke a 4-4 tie with four runs in the seventh to edge Marcellus in the first game. Ken Demann's two-run triple keyed the decisive frame.

Joe Perry belted a double and a single and Richard Collier added a pair of hits for Marcellus.

Collier hurried a three-hitter in the nightcap to help Marcellus run its league record to 5-6. Collier fanned 10 and walked just three.

Demann took the loss for Martin, now 6-5.

Rick Thompson, who collected three hits, drove in the only run Collier needed with a first-inning single.

Tim Launis pitched a two-hitter in Gobles' win. The junior right-hander fanned six and walked just two as the Tigers finished with a 5-7 SAC record.

Gobles scored the only two runs Launis required in the second inning. Pat Walburn walked, and Doug Adams, John Hunt and Paul Tomlinson followed with singles to make it 2-0.

The winners added two more in the fifth. Terry Elmore took the loss for Lawrence, which finished 6-6.

Angels Snap Sox String Melton, Tanana Key California Win

ANAHEIM (AP) — Bill Melton drove in three runs and Frank Tanana weathered 11 Chicago hits Thursday night as the California Angels cooled off the White Sox 5-3.

The decision snapped a 10-game winning streak for the White Sox, their longest streak since 1967.

Ironically, it was Tanana, who was the last pitcher to defeat the White Sox, turning the trick on May 17 in Chicago.

Tanana struck out nine to take over the major league strikeout lead from teammate Nolan Ryan with 82.

California snapped a 3-3 tie with two runs in the seventh. Jerry Remy singled, stole second and Joe Lahoud walked before Bobby Bonds drilled a run-scoring single. Melton got the second run over on an infield grounder.

Relief pitcher Francisco Barrios, 0-1, was charged with the loss.

The victory was the fifth in a row for Tanana, 6-3, and it ended a four-game California losing streak.

The Angels collected 12 hits off three Chicago pitchers with Remy producing three singles.

Ferguson Jenkins is suffering from a bad back, but he's been nothing but a pain in the neck to American League hitters of late.

Despite pitching with a "sharp, nagging pain like a toothache," the Boston Red Sox pitcher won his third straight game Thursday, a four-hit, 2-1 beauty over the Milwaukee Brewers.

"On a couple of plays I thought my back would fall off," said the right-hander.

Jenkins has been pitching with violent muscle spasms in his back for a couple of years now, although you'd never know it. He won 25 games for the Texas Rangers in 1974 and 17 last year before his trade to the Red Sox.

In the other American League games, the Oakland A's beat the Minnesota Twins 5-3; the Cleveland Indians stopped the New York Yankees 5-3; the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Detroit Tigers 4-3; and the Texas Rangers beat the Kansas City

Royals twice, winning the completion of a suspended game 5-4 in 10 innings before taking the regularly scheduled contest, 6-4.

While Jenkins provided the arm for the Red Sox, Doug Griffin provided the legs and Cecil Cooper the bat. Griffin scored the winning run on Cooper's seventh-inning sacrifice fly.

With the score tied 1-1 and one out in the seventh, loser Pete Broberg, 1-4, hit Griffin with a pitch. Griffin took second on a wild pickoff attempt by Broberg and continued to third when first baseman George Scott was slow to retrieve the ball near the grandstand railing.

After an intentional walk to Rick Miller, Cooper followed with his pinch-hit sacrifice fly to center. Jenkins, 4-5, struck out eight and allowed only three runners to reach scoring position after serving up Darrell Porter's first home run of the year in the first inning.

Pinch-runner Larry Lintz stole second and then scored the tie-breaking run on an error in the seventh inning as Oakland defeated Minnesota. With the score tied 3-3 going into the seventh, losing pitcher Bert Blyleven gave up a leadoff single to Larry Haney. Lintz ran for Haney and stole second.

Bill North bunted Lintz to third, and when third baseman Steve Braun made a wild throw to first, Lintz continued home as North moved to second. Bert Campaneris sacrificed North to third and Don Baylor got the insurance run home with a sacrifice fly.

Pinch hitter Boog Powell stroked a tie-breaking single and Frank Duffy executed a suicide squeeze bunt for an insurance run as Cleveland scored twice in the seventh to defeat New York. Singles by George Hendrick and Charlie Spikes at the start of the seventh knocked out Yankee starter Rudy May, 3-2. Dick Tidrow relieved and surrendered the single to Powell, giving the Indians a 4-3 lead and their eventual winning run.

Ken Singleton broke a tie with a run-scoring double in the seventh inning, sending Baltimore over Detroit. Ron LeFlore of Detroit opened the Tiger first with a triple to extend his hitting streak to 30 games. LeFlore, who also had a bunt single in the third, entered the game as the major league's leading hitter with a .392 average.

Jim Sundberg singled with the bases loaded to score Roy Howell in the bottom of the 10th inning and give Texas a victory over Kansas City in the completion of a suspended game. The game was suspended with the score tied 4-4 early Thursday morning after Kansas City had beaten Texas 14-2 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Designated hitter Jim Fregosi blasted a two-run homer to cap a four-run Texas fourth inning and the Rangers went on to beat Kansas City in the second game and move within a half game of the Royals in the American League West.

Bloomington clinched at least a share of the SAC baseball title with a thrilling 1-0 win over Decatur Thursday at the Raiders' field.

The win gave the Cardinals a 9-1 league record, while Decatur finished at 9-3. All Bloomington has to do is win a makeup game at Marcellus June 2 to win the crown outright. Should the Cardinals lose that game, they would be forced to finish a tie game with Martin. The game, played May 20, was tied 2-2 after nine innings when called by darkness.

In other SAC action Thursday, Martin split with Marcellus, winning the first game 8-6 and dropping the nightcap 2-0. Gobles blanked Lawrence 4-0. Tom Rigney and Mike Stone teamed together on a nifty four-hitter in Bloomington's win. Rigney worked the first three innings, allowing three hits and Stone finished up and gave up just one more.

Jim Smola, who relieved Decatur starter Jim Overley in the fifth, took the loss.

The Cardinals scored the game's only run in the fifth inning as Mike Fritz singled and Pat Barnes tripled him in.

Decatur got runners as far as second base in both the third and fifth innings, but couldn't bring them home.

Fritz was the only player on either team with more than one hit, slamming a pair of singles.

Martin broke a 4-4 tie with four runs in the seventh to edge Marcellus in the first game. Ken Demann's two-run triple keyed the decisive frame.

Joe Perry belted a double and a single and Richard Collier added a pair of hits for Marcellus.

Collier hurled a three-hitter in the nightcap to help Marcellus run its league record to 5-6. Collier fanned 10 and walked just three.

Demann took the loss for Martin, now 6-5.

Rick Thompson, who collected three hits, drove in the only run Collier needed with a first-inning single.

Tim Launis pitched a two-hitter in Gobles' win. The junior righthander fanned six and walked just two as the Tigers finished with a 5-7 SAC record.

Gobles scored the only two runs Launis required in the second inning. Pat Walburn walked, and Doug Adams, John Hunt and Paul Tomlinson followed with singles to make it 2-0.

The winners added two more in the fifth. Terry Elmore took the loss for Lawrence, which finished 6-6.

Crump Resigns At LMC

Art Crump has resigned as head basketball coach at Lake Michigan College.

Crump, 34, has been the LMC cage coach the last three years. "Basically I just wanted to devote more of my time to just one position," states Crump, who will continue to serve as Dean of Students at LMC.

Crump posted an overall record of 38-48 in his LMC tenure. LMC finished 11-17 during the 1975-76 season. His 1973-74 team went 18-11 overall and finished second in the Western Division of the Michigan Junior College Athletic Association.

"I'm proud of the fact that many of our former ball players have gone on to four-year colleges to continue their education and also excel in basketball there," comments Crump. "I've really enjoyed the relationship I've established with the players. It's been a great experience to work with athletes at this level."

Garrett Pounds McGraw Fastball

Cubs Edge Past Cardinals

FROM ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wayne Garrett vs. Tug McGraw.

"I'm saying to myself, 'don't try and pull him. Just try to go the other way,'" said Met pinch-hitter Garrett.

Two outs and the bases loaded. Ninth inning. Phils ahead 2-1.

"I remember playing with him and he's a good hitter," said ex-Met McGraw, working in relief.

The count is 2-2. "With the bases loaded and two out, I don't look for the fastball," said Garrett.

"I tried to keep the ball away from him," said McGraw. "There is no earthly way he'll give me a fastball," said Garrett.

"I tried to sneak the fastball by," admitted McGraw.

In comes the fastball. CRUNCH. Out goes the fastball. Three runs score and Garrett winds up on third with a triple. Mets win 5-2.

"My eyes really lit up when I saw that fastball," said Garrett. "Sometimes they pop 'em up, sometimes they hit a line drive, sometimes they miss it," said McGraw. "It's a round ball and a round ball ... and anything can happen."

There were only two other games played Thursday in the National League. Chicago beat St. Louis 2-1 and San Diego topped San Francisco 3-1.

The Phils built their 2-1 lead against Jerry Koosman on the strength of Bob Boone's RBI single in the fourth and Ollie Brown's homer in the sixth. Dave Kingman's 17th home run of the season, tops in the majors, accounted for the New York offense until the ninth.

A pinch-hit single by John Milner and an error by Phils starter Jim Kaat started the Mets' rally, and a force play and a brilliant throw by center-fielder Garry Maddox to cut down Bud Harrelson at home on Ed Kranepool's single almost ended it.

Reliever Gene Garber walked Kingman intentionally to load the bases before McGraw came on to face Garrett and the left-handed batter drilled his three-bagger. Roy Staiger got Garrett home with a double for the final run.

Koosman, 6-1, won it with relief help from Skip Lockwood. Garber, 1-1, lost it. The Phils saw their four-game win streak ended but they still lead the National League East by five games.

Steve Renko and Darold Knowles combined on a six-hitter Thursday as the Chicago Cubs posted a 2-1 victory.

Making his second start for the Cubs and first in Chicago since being acquired from Montreal, Renko, 1-1, scattered five hits before leaving in the seventh inning. Knowles allowed only one hit the rest of the way.

The Cubs broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth when Jerry Morales doubled and took third as Manny Trillo beat out a bunt single. Steve Swisher then grounded to shortstop Don Kessinger, but Mike Tyson dropped Kessinger's toss at second to blow the inning-ending double play as Morales scored with what turned out to be the winning run.

The Cubs took a 1-0 lead in the first on singles by Rick Monday and Bill Madlock and a sacrifice fly by George Mitterwald.

The Cardinals tied it in the second on a walk to Willie Crawford and singles by Hector Cruz and Tyson. The Cardinals then loaded the bases on a sacrifice bunt and an intentional walk, but Kessinger fouled out to end the inning.

Renko didn't allow another base runner until Cruz singled with one out in the seventh. Ron Fairly followed with a pinch single and Knowles came in to retire the next two batters and end the threat.

Brent Strom, 5-2, and Butch Metzger combined to stop San Francisco on seven hits. Dave Winfield drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and scored another on Doug Rader's double. Ed Halicki, 2-8, was the loser.

Vikings Get Title Share

BATTLE CREEK — John Dentzman slammed a triple, a double and a single Thursday to help Bangor topple Battle Creek St. Philip 9-6 here, clinching a share of the KVA baseball title for the Vikings.

Bangor finished with an 11-3 league mark to close out the season in a deadlock with Delton for the league crown.

Carl Johnson picked up the victory for the Vikings with relief help from Dentzman, who worked the final three innings. Bangor broke the game open in the fourth inning. Leading just 3-2, the Vikings tallied three more times. Rick Zantello walked and scored on Johnson's double. Carl Smith then walked and Fred Dukes singled in Johnson. Sophomore Tim Gargus followed with a single to plate Smith.

The Vikings scored what proved to be the winning run in the fifth inning on a throwing error.

Gargus finished with a triple and a single for the winners, now 13-7 overall.

'Monster' Beats Pros

Bies Holds One-Stroke Lead At Muirfield

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — Muirfield Village came to grips with pro golf's hotshots for the first time Thursday. With few exceptions, it was no contest. The course won.

Jack Nicklaus' $7 million project even turned on its creator, depriving him of a share of the lead with Don Bies with a bogey-double bogey finish.

Shortly after his 68, four under par over the 7,072 yards that once served as Nicklaus' childhood hunting grounds, Bies offered tips on how to handle the 2-year-old monster.

"You have to be conservative. You have to think defensively. You have to lag every putt, even uphill," observed the quiet 16-year veteran, a single shot up on leading money-winner Hubert Green.

Gibby Gilbert, stalking a second consecutive victory, lost a share of the lead with a double bogey at 17 and was two off the pace.

Despite his horrendous finish — "I played like a yo-yo" — Nicklaus was one of just seven to master par in the field of 94. He was at 71 with Jerry McGee, Hale Irwin and Roger Maltbie.

Caught in the course's tree-lined, lake-filled vices were some of the game's biggest names. Bruce Crampton had 77. So did Tom Weiskopf. Lee Trevino needed a 15-foot par putt on 18 to crack 80.

"I hit every fairway, had no three-putt greens, but the balls I brought today were thirsty. I hit four of them in the water," cracked Trevino.

The scores were so high — 16 at 80 or higher — in the warm, sunny weather that a 137 was the projected cut figure today. That would be a whopping 10 strokes higher than the year's previous high, 147 at the Heritage.

Bies, 38, said his was a shaky lead, considering the new course's toughness. "Look at Jack today. That can happen if you get three or four under. You don't feel very secure. You have to work all the way."

The leader hit every fairway and missed just two greens. "The score was great, but it was not a fantastic round," he said. Nicklaus' erratic performance was spiced with one double bogey, five bogeys, six birds and an eagle. In one eight-hole stretch, he had no pars.

"All the mistakes were made by me, not something else," said Nicklaus. "It was a lack of concentration. I rarely play a round like that."

The final rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally (CBS-TV).

Red Wings Pull Surprise In Draft

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings have two "Fats" on their club today.

General Manager Alex "Fats" Delvecchio pulled a surprise in the National Hockey League draft Thursday by picking center Fred "Fats" Williams of the Saskatoon Blades as his No. 1 choice.

The Wings picked up eight players Thursday in the opening eight rounds of the draft but passed up their chances to draft in the final three rounds.

Delvecchio, who had said the Wings needed help at center and defense, passed up Bernie Federko, scoring champ of the Western Canada Hockey League, and Paul Gardner, who was close behind.

Instead he went for the chunky 5-foot-11, 178 pound Williams who had 127 penalty minutes last season and was rated as a hardnosed "aggressive kid who wants to play."

"He is what we're looking for," Delvecchio said. "It remains to be seen how he does in training camp, but we'll certainly give him every opportunity. His first preference was Detroit and he's real elated."

In the second round, the Wings dipped into the college ranks as they took U.S.-born Reed Larson of the University of Minnesota. The 19-year-old defenseman impressed Detroit scouts with his play in the NCAA hockey finals last season.

What A Performance! Next Week, "East Lynne"!

What's involved here is the carrier-salesman's greatest single hazard to success — yes, an even greater hazard than blisters or bitter weather! We speak of the slow paying customer.

In a small business like the Herald-Palladium carrier's, profit is completely dependent upon collections. The margin is narrow. A handful of hold-outs can mean a profitless month. Even one hold-out hurts!

Most carriers are just normal boys — not latent impressarios like Roger. They can't stage "Collection Method No. 17" to melt the heart of the slow payer. They can only keep asking — and singing the praises of their quick-pay customers!

Amusement Park Opens Near Chicago

ELECTED: Lewis Mason has been elected commander for 1976-77 of Buchanan's Ralph Rumbaugh Post 51 of American Legion. Other officers chosen included B.G. Harker, first vice commander; Marvin Davis, second vice commander; Keith Dittymple, adjutant; John Jorgenson, finance officer; John Eger, chaplain; and Robert Pinkerton, sergeant-at-arms.

Can a 200-acre family amusement park succeed in the midwestern climate in the 14 weeks between Memorial Day and Labor Day?

Marriott Corp., of Washington, D.C. is betting $50 million that it can.

Marriott's "Great America" theme park will open at 9 a.m. Saturday at Gurnee, Ill., midway between Chicago and Milwaukee on I-94 near the Illinois-Wisconsin border.

Doreen Warvi, Marriott's goodwill ambassador, visited the Twin Cities and said the park has 40 rides, shows and attractions, 35 shops, 36 restaurants, theaters and pavilions and five theme areas.

Attendance the first season is expected to be more than a million. Marriott has purchased 900 acres. The theme park including parking, covers 200 acres. The remaining holdings will be used for a future Marriott hotel site and industrial use.

Great America has its cartoon heroes, just as Disneyland and Disney World have. In Great America Bugs Bunny, Sylvester the Cat, Daffy Duck and other Warner Bros. cartoon characters will star in Broadway type shows.

Great America will be open daily from May 29 to Sept. 6 and Saturdays and Sundays Sept. 11 to Oct. 3. Dedication weekend is scheduled for June 5 and 6.

Miss Warvi, 22, of Gurnee, named the "First Lady" of Great America, extended a personal invitation to Southwestern Michigan residents to visit the newest attraction in the Midwest.

Miss Warvi has been touring the Midwest inviting residents to Great America.

Located on I-94, at Illinois Route 132 (Grand avenue), the park is 45 miles north of Chicago, not far from the Illinois-Wisconsin state line.

Miss Warvi estimated it would take about three hours to reach the park from the Twin Cities.

The park is divided into five historic American theme units. They are: Hometown Square, a rural American town of the 1820's; Yukon Territory, the Klondike during the gold rush; Yankee Harbor, a 19th century

New England fishing village; Great Midwest Livestock Exhibition and County Fair, the midwest at the turn of the century; and Orleans Place, the Old South in the mid 1880's.

The one gale price of $7.95 for adults and $6.95 for children under 12 includes unlimited use of all facilities.

Owner and developer is the Marriott Corp. of Washington, D.C. The Marriott Corp. began with an eight-story hotel here in Washington in 1927 by J. Willard Marriott, now chairman of the board.

Worldwide the company has 45,000 employees, 700 hotels, restaurants, in-flight kitchens and other operations and serves more than a million meals daily.

The Marriott Corp. opened a regional family entertainment center near San Francisco last year and another park will open in 1978 in the Washington - Baltimore area.

AWARD WINNER: Thomas Deckard, Mattawan, has received district "Flight Instructor of Year" award from federal Aviation administration and Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association Air Safety Foundation. Award qualified Deckard for consideration in regional award program. He is flight instructor at Western Michigan university, Kalamazoo.

Milliken said the election schedule includes a July 13 primary election, if necessary, and an Aug. 3 general election, coinciding with the statewide primary election.

PERSONAL INVITATION: Miss Doreen Warvi, 22, the First Lady of Marriott's "Great America," is the official representative of more than 2,000 hosts and hostesses who will be on hand when the park opens 9 a.m. Saturday. Rules For Accountants

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill which will mean stiffer regulation for public accountants was signed Thursday by Gov. William Milliken. The law repeals the present Michigan Accountancy Act and creates a six-member state Board of Accountancy. The board will have authority to make rules and set licensing standards. The law also lists activities for which the board may revoke or suspend an accountant's certificate. Milliken also signed a bill providing three-year terms on township zoning boards. It also establishes the size for zoning appeals boards.

Group Eyes Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the United States celebrates its Bicentennial, an organization that ferrets out government waste is pushing for a second constitutional convention that would amend the Constitution to require balanced federal budgets.

The National Taxpayers Union says 12 states have approved the call for a new constitutional convention. The approval of 34 states is needed before such a convention can be created. It would be the first convention since the founders met in Philadelphia in 1787.

While the states consider such a move, the NTU continues its hunt for what it considers waste in government spending that is paid for by taxes from the average American citizen.

CBS Examines Busing Issue

By JAY SHARBUIT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Those of you who aren't roaring off for the Memorial Day weekend should take a look tonight at a timely, excellent CBS News special with the straightforward title of "Busing."

It's a calm, valuable examination of the continuing and at times violent protest over the court-ordered busing of children to achieve desegregation in a number of public schools in America.

Narrated and reported by Charles Collingwood, this one-hour special basically is a tale of two cities — Boston and Charlotte, N.C.

In the former, he notes, "busing is still a fighting word" after two years of trial, but in Charlotte, where busing was ordered in 1970, the practice "has achieved grudging acceptance."

The show, which examines how parents, kids and officials of the two cities are reacting to court-ordered busing, also goes into two deeper issues of national consequence.

They are whether busing has helped or harmed the quality of education for the kids involved and what effect the Justice Department's possible Supreme Court test of busing will have — before the court reaches any decision — in areas where busing exists and is being fought.

CBS says the program will be updated before air time in the event Atty. Gen. Edward II. Levi decides if the Justice Department will use a school desegregation case as a test of busing.

The department said Tuesday that Levi is considering using a case in Wilmington, Del., for the court test, but hasn't decided if the department will intervene in Boston's busing fight.

The striking thing about tonight's program, aside from its thoroughness, is that it doesn't exhibit television's tendency to play up the violence that has accompanied court-ordered busing.

Scenes of violence in Boston and Charlotte are brief, few and far between when used to illustrate the obvious point that passions run high on the issue of busing.

The emphasis is on the thoughtful, low-key statements of officials, civil leaders and educators involved in the busing fight — those who'd abolish busing, those who defend it and those who suggest alternatives to busing or ways of refining it to ease existing tensions.

The general effect of "Busing" is to provide a forum for the voices of reason, not passion, on a subject that's awfully easy to dramatize and extremely hard to explain.

So give it a look tonight. It's a comprehensive, responsible show.

On less weighty matters, the 60th annual Indy 500 is being run Sunday, but you'll have to wait until 9 p.m. EDT to see it on the tube. That's when ABC will air two hours of taped highlights of the day's big race, with Jim McKay, Chris Economaki and Jackie Stewart presiding.

If you're a B-movie buff, you might check out CBS' Sunday morning show called "Camera Three." It'll profile low-budget movie maker Roger Corman, rumored to be a cult figure in cinema circles.

FRENCH SUPERMARKET EXPERIMENT No-Name Products Jolt Industry

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — Shoppers using the largest supermarket chain in France find the usual name brands on the shelves, but since April 1 they also have been finding goods in plain, white packages or cans bearing only the name of the product inside — "Coffee," "Spaghetti," "Beans."

According to an official of the chain, the shoppers also are finding that the goods in the white packages — called "free products" — are 7 to 30 per cent cheaper than the name brands on the same shelves.

The new idea of the Carrefour chain, which has 38 giant supermarkets throughout France, has come under sharp attack from competitors, manufacturers, advertisers and consumer organizations.

The plan is similar to what American supermarket chains do in marketing their own brands of foods at prices cheaper than big-name brands. But Carrefour cuts costs even more because packaging and advertising are less expensive.

Carrefour, which had a turnover of $2.2 billion last year, launched the idea in a nationwide blaze of publicity and reported that it increased the number of customers by 9 per cent in its first four weeks.

A claimer of indignation has come from all sides. The scheme "undermines the very basis of the free enterprise system," thundered one leading food processor. "It has done more to pave the way to a socialist society in France than all the leaders of the Communist party taken together."

The sponsor of the idea, 62-year-old distribution tycoon Marcel Fournier, is one of the pillars of the French capitalist system and the very antithesis of a Communist. His associates say Fournier shrugs off the attacks as a combination of spite and envy.

Competitors have accused Fournier of unfair trading practices. Advertising agencies have denounced the multi-million-dollar publicity campaign for the "free products" as false and misleading. Manufacturers' associations have tried — unsuccessfully — to organize a boycott to cut off Carrefour's sources of supply. Even the consumer organizations are up in arms, claiming that Carrefour has no proof of its assertion that the nameless products are cheaper and at least as good as nationally advertised brands.

The controversial idea came from Fournier's team of marketing experts headed by Etienne Thil, a former journalist. Only 50 of the 35,000 products sold by the Carrefour chain are affected by the scheme thus far, but Thil says it is so successful that it will undoubtedly be expanded.

A spot check in the chain's 215,000-square-foot supermarket south of Paris showed that nearly every shopper had at least one "free product" in his cart.

A two-pound package of nameless spaghetti was 2.98 francs (85 cents), while the name brand next to it was 3.84 francs (83 cents). A 10-pound box of nameless detergent was 22 francs ($4.78) while the name brand was 27.20 francs ($5.91).

The price differences are enough to convince thousands of housewives to abandon their familiar brands, Thil said. In the first four weeks of the campaign the "free products" sold by Carrefour represented nearly 4 per cent of the chain's total turnover and nearly 14 per cent of the grocery turnover.

At an annual rate, this could put about $380 million worth of the no-name brand products into French shopping carts by next April. Thil expects the total sales to be substantially higher as the campaign gains momentum.

"The manufacturers' associations are all very vociferous in denouncing our idea," he said. "But individually, many manufacturers come to us on the quiet and ask to produce 'free products' for us."

One of Europe's largest food processing firms has refused to have anything to do with the scheme. Its products continue to be sold in Carrefour stores, but the turnover has dropped sharply, Thil said.

France's largest coffee packaging firm took a different attitude, and agreed to supply Carrefour's nameless coffee.

"As a result, our sales of this firm's brand of coffee have dropped by 20 per cent, but sales of the same firm's coffee without a brand name represent some 40 per cent," Thil said. "On balance, the firm has gained substantial sales and is very happy with our scheme."

The record is held by toilet tissue, where the "free product" has captured 60 per cent of Carrefour's tissue sales. Nameless candy sales in the first four weeks represented 50 per cent of Carrefour's total, detergents 30 per cent, cooking oil 28 per cent. The over-all average was 30 per cent.

"Our customers remain completely free to choose a free product or a brand product," Thil said. "Free choice is the essence of our idea. We believe that many people resent paying for brand names, but we are not forcing their hand by offering a non-brand product to the exclusion of the others."

A seagull "free as the air" is the symbol of the advertising campaign for the scheme. The real test of the nameless products will come some time this summer, when France's two leading consumer organizations plan to publish the first comparative tests, comparing the "free products" with their brand rivals for quality, price and packaging.

"We have nothing to fear," Thil said.

CBS Examines Busing Issue

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Those of you who aren't roaring off for the Memorial Day weekend should take a look tonight at a timely, excellent CBS News special with the straightforward title of "Busing."

It's a calm, valuable examination of the continuing and at times violent protest over the court-ordered busing of children to achieve desegregation in a number of public schools in America.

Narrated and reported by Charles Collingwood, this one-hour special basically is a tale of two cities — Boston and Charlotte, N.C.

In the former, he notes, "busing is still a fighting word" after two years of trial, but in Charlotte, where busing was ordered in 1970, the practice "has achieved grudging acceptance."

The show, which examines how parents, kids and officials of the two cities are reacting to court-ordered busing, also goes into two deeper issues of national consequence.

They are whether busing has helped or harmed the quality of education for the kids involved and what effect the Justice Department's possible Supreme Court test of busing will have — before the court reaches any decision — in areas where busing exists and is being fought.

CBS says the program will be updated before air time in the event Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi decides if the Justice Department will use a school desegregation case as a test of busing.

The department said Tuesday that Levi is considering using a case in Wilmington, Del., for the court test, but hasn't decided if the department will intervene in Boston's busing fight.

The striking thing about tonight's program, aside from its thoroughness, is that it doesn't exhibit television's tendency to play up the violence that has accompanied court-ordered busing.

Scenes of violence in Boston and Charlotte are brief, few and far between when used to illustrate the obvious point that passions run high on the issue of busing.

The emphasis is on the thoughtful, low-key statements of officials, civil leaders and educators involved in the busing fight — those who'd abolish busing, those who defend it and those who suggest alternatives to busing or ways of refining it to ease existing tensions.

The general effect of "Busing" is to provide a forum for the voices of reason, not passion, on a subject that's awfully easy to dramatize and extremely hard to explain.

So give it a look tonight. It's a comprehensive, responsible show.

On less weighty matters, the 60th annual Indy 500 is being run Sunday, but you'll have to wait until 9 p.m. EDT to see it on the tube. That's when ABC will air two hours of taped highlights of the day's big race, with Jim McKay, Chris Economaki and Jackie Stewart presiding.

If you're a B-movie buff, you might check out CBS' Sunday morning show called "Camera Three." It'll profile low-budget movie maker Roger Corman, rumored to be a cult figure in cinema circles.

FRENCH SUPERMARKET EXPERIMENT

No-Name Products Jolt Industry

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — Shoppers using the largest supermarket chain in France find the usual name brands on the shelves, but since April 1 they also have been finding goods in plain, white packages or cans bearing only the name of the product inside — "Coffee," "Spaghetti," "Beans."

According to an official of the chain, the shoppers also are finding that the goods in the white packages — called "free products" — are 7 to 30 per cent cheaper than the name brands on the same shelves.

The new idea of the Carrefour chain, which has 38 giant supermarkets throughout France, has come under sharp attack from competitors, manufacturers, advertisers and consumer organizations.

The plan is similar to what American supermarket chains do in marketing their own brands of foods at prices cheaper than big-name brands. But Carrefour cuts costs even more because packaging and advertising are less expensive.

Carrefour, which had a turnover of $2.2 billion last year, launched the idea in a nationwide blaze of publicity and reported that it increased the number of customers by 9 per cent in its first four weeks.

A clamor of indignation has come from all sides. The scheme "undermines the very basis of the free enterprise system," thundered one leading food processor. "It has done more to pave the way to a socialistic society in France than all the leaders of the Communist party taken together."

The sponsor of the idea, 62-year-old distribution tycoon Marcel Fournier, is one of the pillars of the French capitalist system and the very antithesis of a Communist. His associates say Fournier shrugs off the attacks as a combination of spite and envy.

Competitors have accused Fournier of unfair trading practices. Advertising agencies have denounced the multi-million-dollar publicity campaign for the "free products" as false and misleading. Manufacturers' associations have tried — unsuccessfully — to organize a boycott to cut off Carrefour's sources of supply. Even the consumer organizations are up in arms, claiming that Carrefour has no proof of its assertion that the nameless products are cheaper and at least as good as nationally advertised brands.

The controversial idea came from Fournier's team of marketing experts headed by Etienne Thil, a former journalist. Only 50 of the 35,000 products sold by the Carrefour chain are affected by the scheme thus far, but Thil says it is so successful that it will undoubtedly be expanded.

A spot check in the chain's 215,000-square-foot supermarket south of Paris showed that nearly every shopper had at least one "free product" in his cart.

A two-pound package of nameless spaghetti was 2.98 francs (65 cents), while the name brand next to it was 3.84 francs (83 cents). A 10-pound box of nameless detergent was 22 francs ($4.78) while the name brand was 27.20 francs ($5.91).

The price differences are enough to convince thousands of housewives to abandon their familiar brands, Thil said. In the first four weeks of the campaign the "free products" sold by Carrefour represented nearly 4 per cent of the chain's total turnover and nearly 14 per cent of the grocery turnover.

At an annual rate, this could put about $360 million worth of the no-name brand products into French shopping carts by next April. Thil expects the total sales to be substantially higher as the campaign gains momentum.

"The manufacturers' associations are all very vociferous in denouncing our idea," he said. "But individually, many manufacturers come to us on the quiet and ask to produce 'free products' for us."

One of Europe's largest food processing firms has refused to have anything to do with the scheme. Its products continue to be sold in Carrefour stores, but the turnover has dropped sharply, Thil said.

France's largest coffee packaging firm took a different attitude, and agreed to supply Carrefour's nameless coffee.

"As a result, our sales of this firm's brand of coffee have dropped by 20 per cent, but sales of the same firm's coffee without a brand name represent some 40 per cent," Thil said. "On balance, the firm has gained substantial sales and is very happy with our scheme."

The record is held by toilet tissue, where the "free product" has captured 60 per cent of Carrefour's tissue sales. Nameless candy sales in the first four weeks represented 50 per cent of Carrefour's total, detergents 30 per cent, cooking oil 28 per cent. The over-all average was 30 per cent.

"Our customers remain completely free to choose a free product or a brand product," Thil said. "Free choice is the essence of our idea. We believe that many people resent paying for brand names, but we are not forcing their hand by offering a

A seagull "free as the air" is the symbol of the advertising campaign for the scheme.

The real test of the nameless products will come some time this summer, when France's two leading consumer organizations plan to publish the first comparative tests, comparing the "free products" with their brand rivals for quality, price and packaging.

"We have nothing to fear," Thil said.

See Good Season Ahead For BH Fruit Market

Again this season, the Benton Harbor Fruit Market will be open seven days a week, according to Market Manager Al Braudo. Braudo said that the seven-day-a-week market, first tried last year, worked out well during strawberry season and enjoyed moderate success for the rest of the summer.

He noted that growers apparently like the idea of the full-time market better than buyers, but he hopes that buyers will become accustomed to the new schedule.

In 1974 and before, he recalled, the market was closed on Saturdays and the day before holidays. Braudo said that he, Southwestern Michigan Marketing Agent Glen Antle, and others believe that the market will return particularly good prices this season, in light of freeze damage. They ask growers who in the past have not used the market to reconsider the decision.

The market will open for trading at 9 a.m. this season, Braudo said. He expects strawberry volume to pick up by next week. The market will be closed tomorrow, Saturday, but will be open Sunday and Monday for the beginning of the strawberry season.

The minimum fee that growers must pay to enter the market remains the same as last year, 50 cents. Braudo is considering raising that to $1, and he would like to hear comments from growers about the proposal.

Package fees this season are the same as in 1975, with two exceptions. A bushel of peaches will cost four cents and a 1/2-bushel will cost three cents, both up one penny from last year.

The fees represent one per cent of the 10-year average price that each package brought at the market. Fees for this year follow:

Neibauer first learned of the pest a few weeks ago. The cutworms spend the day underground. At night they crawl up the spears, feeding, leaving a vegetable that isn't acceptable for processing, according to Neibauer.

HORSE OF ANOTHER KIND: Viri Norton of San Jose, Calif., and his mules "Lady Eloise" and Lord Fauntleroy, amble along at the Herkimer County Fairgrounds, Utica, N.Y. They plan on competing in the $25,000 New York to California cross country race this summer. Despite its billing as a "horse" race, the 3,200 mile race which starts Memorial Day from Frankfurt, N.Y., is attracting a lot of mules and their riders. (AP Wirephoto)

JOHN P. ROCHE

A Word Edgewise

By BAYARD RUSTIN
For JOHN ROCHE

It is fashionable in downstate black colleges with the mistaken notion that they have fulfilled their function and can't really measure up to the "elite" white universities, whether public or private. There are at least two things wrong with this set of attitudes. First, many black colleges — Howard, Lincoln, Fisk, Clark, to name a few — rank among the finest schools in the United States in academic excellence and the contributions their graduates have made to the country. Second, it ignores the fact that there are also many second-rate white colleges and that the so-called second-rate institutions have served an indispensable role in educating America.

It is hard to imagine anyone arguing that the black colleges were historically unimportant, when four-fifths of black degree holders alive today got their degrees at black schools. What one does hear is the view that black colleges were necessary when blacks couldn't get into white schools in large numbers, but that they are now in an anachronism.

Yet black colleges are, despite the importance of integrating the University of Mississippi and other bastions of exclusivity, still important. There are over 200,000 students in the 100 historic black colleges. Although the percentage of black undergraduates who are enrolled in these institutions declined from about 80 per cent in 1950 to 33 per cent in 1970, the absolute number of blacks in predominantly black colleges had not declined but increased. In the last decade black college enrollment has almost tripled until one out of six black youths between the ages of 18 and 24 are matriculated. We have passed well beyond the distant goal black leaders once held whereby only a "talented tenth" of black youth would go to college. Unfortunately, the drop-out rate among college students also is all too high.

While once the justification for black colleges was to educate blacks whom white colleges could not admit, today their function is to educate better and more effectively. The black colleges have a superior record at educating black students. In 1974, over half of the estimated 48,000 blacks who graduated received their degrees from black colleges, even though those schools had far less than half of the black students.

The very factors which are derided as parochial and limiting are the reasons that the black colleges have been able to succeed where more prestigious and richer schools have failed. The small size of the black colleges means that they can do a better job at remedial education. These schools have a sense of mission and community that is only rarely approached in the large state universities or even in the small elite colleges. Particularly for students coming from the farm, small town or ghetto, black colleges are able to provide a social and educational environment that encourages confidence and develops untapped talents and abilities. The exorbitantly difficult transition from under-staffed, crowded and inadequate high schools to the demands and rigors of college is eased by the supportive atmosphere of the black college.

Many black students who might flounder at larger, more prestigious institutions flower and develop at the black colleges and ultimately succeed at schools like Harvard and Yale. Many graduates of black colleges are able to do well in graduate schools. During the 1972-73 school year, 60 per cent of the blacks who earned doctorates had earlier earned their baccalaureates at black colleges.

240 STARTING STEEDS 3,200-Mile Horse Race Ready

AUBURN, Wash. (AP) — A prize of $25,000 awaits the first horse across the finish line of this summer's New York to California cross-country horse race. Calvin Paulette says he plans to win it if he has to carry his horse across the finish line. Paulette, 24, who will be riding Mr. Tinkley Cat, will be among the men and women, ages 18 to 68, from 47 states and 10 foreign countries who will gather in Frankfort, N.Y., on Monday, Memorial Day, to start the 3,200-mile race.

With 240 starting steeds, the 99-day race will use 15,000 bales of hay and 17,000 horseshoes.

Paulette, an Auburn resident who along with the other racers has had to pay a $500 entry fee, promises: "If I had to carry the horse, maybe I could."

The jockeys include secretaries, housewives, businessmen and cowboys, who will be riding palominos, Appaloosas, Arabians and even mules.

The mules belong to Eva Taylor, a 52-year-old Port Townsend woman who signs her letters: "The Mule Rider." What her mule, Hugo, lacks in speed, it makes up for in perseverance.

"That mule never quits," says Paulette, who has vied with Hugo in other "horse" races. "Eva Taylor is tough, and so are the mules. A mule has a more steady pace than a horse. They can go for hours and hours. They just never get tired."

The idea of a cross-country horse race was conceived by two men, Randy Schelling, 32, and Charles Waggoner, 26, who set up race headquarters in a bedroom-office in Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge in Kankakee, Ill.

They've amassed a $50,000 purse, with $25,000 for first place and $25,000 distributed between second and 10th places.

Each rider is allotted two mounts to cover the five phases of the race: from Frankfort in Lisa, Ohio, to St. Joseph, Mo.; to Cheyenne, Wyo.; to the Nevada-Utah state line, and on to an historic pony express stop in Sacramento, the finish line.

The riders will complete a given distance of about 90 miles each day, with the winner selected on the basis of total riding time.

TO DROP PROBE
WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee is dropping its request for a probe of Cuban activity in Panama following assurances from the Pentagon that it knows of no Cuban military personnel there.

Experienced veterinarians will be in charge of preliminary inspections before the start of the race as well as checks several times daily during each day of riding.

The ride is expected to take about 100 days, with 76 days riding time and 23 of rest. Mr. Tinkley Cat is going to have to forget the advice on the sign outside his home town of Kent, where he is enjoying his last relaxing days in the pasture: "You're entering God's Country. Please don't drive through it like hell."

JOHN P. ROCHE

A Word Edgewise

For JOHN ROCHE

It is fashionable to downgrade black colleges with the mistaken notion that they have fulfilled their function and can't really measure up to the "elite" white universities, whether public or private. There are at least two things wrong with this set of attitudes. First, many black colleges — Howard, Lincoln, Fisk, Clark, to name a few — rank among the finest schools in the United States in academic excellence and the contributions their graduates have made to the country. Second, it ignores the fact that there are also many second-rate white colleges and that the so-called second-rate institutions have served an indispensable role in educating America.

It is hard to imagine anyone arguing that the black colleges were historically unimportant, when four-fifths of black degree holders alive today got their degrees at black schools. What one does hear is the view that black colleges were necessary when blacks couldn't get into white schools in large numbers, but that they are now in an anachronism.

Yet black colleges are, despite the importance of integrating the University of Mississippi and other bastions of exclusivity, still important. There are over 200,000 students in the 100 historic black colleges. Although the percentage of black undergraduates who are enrolled in these institutions declined from about 80 per cent in 1950 to 35 per cent in 1970, the absolute number of blacks in predominantly black colleges had not declined but increased. In the last decade black college enrollment has almost tripled until one out of six black youths between the ages of 18 and 24 are matriculated. We have passed well beyond the distant goal black leaders once held whereby only a "talented tenth" of black youth would go to college. Unfortunately, the drop-out rate among college students also is all too high.

While once the justification for black colleges was to educate blacks whom white colleges could not admit, today their function is to educate better and more effectively. The black colleges have a superior record at educating black students. In 1974, over half of the estimated 48,000 blacks who graduated received their degrees from black colleges, even though those schools had far less than half of the black students.

The very factors which are derided as parochial and limiting are the reasons that the black colleges have been able to succeed where more prestigious and richer schools have failed. The small size of the black colleges means that they can do a better job at remedial education. These schools have a sense of mission and community that is only rarely approached in the large state universities or even in the small elite colleges. Particularly for students coming from the farm, small town or ghetto, black colleges are able to provide a social and educational environment that encourages confidence and develops untapped talents and abilities. The excruciatingly difficult transition from understaffed, crowded and inadequate high schools to the demands and rigors of college is eased by the supportive atmosphere of the black college.

Many black students who might flounder at larger, more prestigious institutions flower and develop at the black colleges and ultimately succeed at schools like Harvard and Yale. Many graduates of black colleges are able to do well in graduate schools. During the 1972-73 school year, 60 per cent of the blacks who earned doctorates had earlier earned their baccalaureates at black colleges.

240 STARTING STEEDS 3,200-Mile Horse Race Ready

AUBURN, Wash. (AP) — A prize of $25,000 awaits the first horse across the finish line of this summer's New York to California cross-country horse race. Calvin Paulette says he plans to win it if he has to carry his horse across the finish line.

Paulette, 24, who will be riding Mr. Tinkey Cat, will be among the men and women, ages 18 to 69, from 47 states and 10 foreign countries who will gather in Frankfort, N.Y., on Monday, Memorial Day, to start the 3,200-mile race.

With 240 starting steeds, the 99-day race will use 15,000 bales of hay and 17,900 horseshoes. Paulette, an Auburn resident who along with the other racers has had to pay a $500 entry fee, promises: "If I had to carry the horse, maybe I could."

The jockeys include secretaries, housewives, businessmen and cowboys, who will be riding palominos, Appaloosas, Arabians and even mules.

They've amassed a $50,000 purse, with $25,000 for first place and $25,000 distributed between second and 10th places.

Averts School Crisis

BOSTON (AP) - The threat of Boston's schools closing early because of the expense of racial integration has been averted by city officials who say they have the cash and the legal authority to pay teachers' salaries. The financial crisis was resolved Thursday during a heated exchange in U.S. District Court between Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. and Herbert Gleason, the city's corporation counsel.

BOSTON (AP) — The threat of Boston's schools closing early because of the expense of racial integration has been averted by city officials who say they have the cash and the legal authority to pay teachers' salaries.

The financial crisis was resolved Thursday during a heated exchange in U.S. District Court between Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. and Herbert Gleason, the city's corporation counsel.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Edging Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged upward today amid hopes for a letup in upward pressure on interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction in the early going, and gainsers took a 3-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Several major banks, this morning announced increases in their prime lending rates from 8 1/2 to 7 per cent.

But such a development had been widely anticipated all week on Wall Street.

And analysts said there were hopes that a decline in the money supply reported by the Federal Reserve late Thursday would mean less pressure on the Fed to tighten credit.

Recent moves by the Fed that pushed up market money rates higher set the stage for today's prime rate increases.

Early prices among Big Board stocks included Sony, unchanged at 9 1/2; American Broadcasting, down 1/4 at 31 1/2; McDonald's, up 1/4 at 55 1/2; and American Telephone & Telegraph, ahead 1/4 at 54 1/4.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 3.08 to close a three-month low of 955.57.

The average, however, did manage an afternoon rebound from a mid-day reading of minus-5.

Losers held a 5-3 edge on gainers among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index dipped .02 to 52.83.

Big Board volume was a sluggish 15.31 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .60 at 108.53.

Columbus Out As VW Plant Site

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus plant has been deleted from a list of proposed locations for an American Volkswagen factory, the German automaker has confirmed.

That leaves sites in New Stanton, Pa., and Brook Park, Ohio, as possibilities, with the final decision possible by next week, a VW spokesman said. VW plans to spend as much as $200 million for a plant to build its Rabbit, with assembly possible by late 1977.

VW says a U.S. plant is necessary for it to remain competitive.

Before making a final decision, VW officials are seeking commitments to make the two remaining plants better fit the firm's needs.

At one time, 13 sites, including one in Michigan, were checked by VW.

The operation could provide 3,000 jobs with workers building 200,000 cars a year.

Manufacturer Says BH Firm A Top Dealer

Pearson Construction company of Benton Harbor has been named an outstanding dealer by Star Manufacturing company of Oklahoma City, a manufacturer of metal building systems.

The award was accepted for Pearson firm by Erik Fliskars during recent Star sales Manufacturing regional meeting in Atlanta, Ga.

First Berries Sell For $850

The first crate of strawberries of the season, brought on the Benton Harbor Fruit market Tuesday, sold for $850 at the traditional season-opening auction this morning.

A combine of eight farming-related firms bought its own $800 bid to $850 before Auctioneer John Glassman's hammer fell, to push the price above a $800 price for the first berries in 1976.

As is customary, the grower, Terry Ausra of Dowagiac, gets the first $25 and the remaining $825 go to well charities designated by the members of the combine.

The all-time record price for the first crate of strawberries at the market was set in 1974, when bidding soared to $1,925.

Members of the successful bidding combine this morning were: Coloma Canning Cooperative; Plerson's Fruit Market; Sister Lakes; Farmer Friday's Market; Coloma; Radom Farm Supply; Bainbridge Center; Blossomland Container Corp.; Benton Harbor; First National Bank of Waterliet; Waterliet Fruit Exchange; and Coloma Growers, Inc.

In the interim, since Ausra and his fiancée, Miss Ruth Hassle of Decatur, brought the first crate to the market Tuesday morning, the crop has ripened the point that Ausra brought another 38 crates of berries to the market this morning. No other berries have appeared in the meantime, however.

BH Man Convicted On Federal Count

GRAND RAPIDS — A Benton Harbor man was convicted Thursday in U.S. District court of participating in the theft of some $1,200 in checks from a truck brokerage firm in Benton township 18 months ago.

Jurors in the court of Judge Noel P. Fox deliberated six hours before finding John Paul Rodgers guilty of aiding and abetting in the interstate transportation of stolen property.

Rodgers, 31, was one of three men indicted by a federal grand jury last year in connection with the theft and cashing of checks taken in October 1974 from the Benton township office of Transportation Services, Inc., a truck brokerage firm headquartered in Shawnee Mission, Kansas.

The three were identified and apprehended through the joint efforts of the FBI and the Michigan State police.

One co-defendant, Frederick Alan Fuller, a former Benton Harbor man now living in MI. Pleasant, pleaded guilty to the charge earlier this week. Charges against the third co-defendant, Gerald Dean Colard, 18, of Buchanan, were returned county jail, where he is being held on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. Fuller remains free on bond.

Dismissed because he was a juvenile under federal law at the time of the offense and because he had cooperated in prosecution of the case, according to an FBI spokesman.

While awaiting sentencing, Rodgers was returned to the

A Ban On Racing

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Highway Commission voted unanimously Thursday to ban auto racing on state roads. "Our state highways were not designed for racing," said commission Chairman Peter Fletcher. The vote prohibits a race run the last two years on Wide Track Drive, a state highway in Pontiac. Both races were sponsored by the City of Pontiac and the Waterford Hills Racing Club. Six spectators and a race-car driver were injured in the first race, and a driver was killed last year. The commission said its ban is effective "under any circumstances."

BH Firm Target Of Suits

Three firms seeking a total of $11,648 from Hayes and Sons Construction Co., Benton Harbor, the firm which remodeled the auditorium at Benton Harbor high school, filed lawsuits in Berrien Fifth District court this week.

Fenner Roofing and Sheet Metal Co. of Sodus, filed suit yesterday in the civil division of District court. The company alleges that it subcontracted with Hayes and Sons and did $3,779.88 worth of repair work at the auditorium for which it hasn't been paid.

Also named as a defendant in all three suits is the Benton Harbor Insurance Co., of Newport Beach, Calif., which through a bond has insured payment of all of the Benton Harbor company's debts, according to the suits.

Plaintiffs in the other two suits are Michigan Woodwork and Specialties Co. of Battle Creek, and Abbott K. Schulin Co. of Lathrup Village. Because the insurance company delivered its bond to the Benton Harbor school district, the district in these two suits is also listed as a plaintiff, according to Atty. Lowell M. Seyburn, of Kalamazoo.

The Lathrup Village company alleges that it supplied Hayes and Sons with equipment valued at $5,794; the Battle Creek company claims that it delivered materials valued at $2,074.84. Neither bill has been paid, according to the suits.

All of the suits involve work done or materials delivered in 1975. The $385,000 project to renovate the auditorium was completed last year.

In February, a Grand Rapids firm filed suit in Berrien Circuit court seeking $15,814 from Hayes and Sons in connection with the remodeling.

Copy Shopping Centers, SJ Merchants Advised

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Downtown St. Joseph will have to operate like a shopping center if it is to survive "stiff competition" from other shopping areas, St. Joseph merchants were advised last night.

The recommendation was made by Steven A. Reed, president of Telgroup, a St. Joseph consulting firm commissioned by the St. Joseph Business association to do a marketing development study for downtown.

The study is called "Project Foresight," discussed it at a meeting attended by about 50 people in the conference room of Peoples State bank.

Reed's report stressed unity among merchants and suggested that downtown come up with a logo and name such as "Lakepark" to give it identity. Another suggestion was a calendar of events ranging from contests to fashion shows.

Reed said shopping centers have four basic strengths. They are: newer facilities, planned development, good locations and single-unit marketing.

He added that single-unit marketing, promoting the shopping area as a whole rather than by separate stores, was the biggest difference between shopping centers and downtowns.

Reed noted that downtown merchants tend to be more independent than shopping center merchants. He said shopping center merchants are more unified by virtue of the store leases they sign that can dictate matters like the hours their businesses should be open.

Project Foresight was presented in three major parts: area development, marketing and organization.

Under area development there were long and short range goals. Among short range goals were suggestions to make State street a one way street and allow 30 minute, angle parking on one side of the street.

Traffic would head one-way south from Broad street (on State street) and the other way north from Broad street.

HOUSING BILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $4.9-billion omnibus housing bill approved by the House would provide federal funds to local governments in areas hit by high unemployment.

Another short term parking proposal was to allow either all day angle or parallel parking on Lake boulevard where there is two-hour parking. In another area, Reed suggested the possibility of developing the intersection of Pleasant and State streets into a "focal point" for the downtown. That would be done by employing various streetscape (landscape, such as grass islands) ideas and by limiting traffic flow on Pleasant near the intersection.

Long range plans, those that would probably not take place within two years, improved lighting on State, development of pedestrian streets (especially to the office district), widening of sidewalks, elimination of curb parking and the creation of additional parking lots.

Reed did not have a cost of what the "brick and mortar" improvements might cost. After the meeting, Reed said the next step with Project Foresight was a meeting with the executive board of the St. Joseph Business association to determine what type of organizational structure to develop and to discuss possible financing methods.

Nuclear Waste Test Site Is Pinpointed

Federal scientists say they hope to begin testing soon at a site 10 miles due west of Alpena to see if northeastern lower Michigan is suitable for underground disposal of radioactive wastes.

Meanwhile, Gov. William Milliken hastily set up a task force Thursday to study the possible dumping and said the prospect "should be approached very cautiously and...very openly."

Scientists from the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) said they hope to begin drilling at the site next month to check on the rock structure in the area.

Thomas Lomenick, geologist in charge of the project, said the test borings, possibly as deep as 4,000 feet, will give ERDA information

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 3.06 to close a three-month low of 965.57.

The average, however, did manage an afternoon rebound from a mid-day reading of minus-8.

Losers held a 5-3 edge on gainers among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index dipped .02 to 52.89.

Big Board volume was a sluggish 15.31 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .60 at 108.53.

Columbus Out As VW Plant Site

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus plant has been deleted from a list of proposed locations for an American Volkswagen factory, the German automaker has confirmed.

That leaves sites in New Stanton, Pa., and Brook Park, Ohio, as possibilities, with the final decision possible by next week, a VW spokesman said.

VW plans to spend as much as $200 million for a plant to build its Rabbit, with assembly possible by late 1977.

VW says a U.S. plant is necessary for it to remain competitive.

Before making a final decision, VW officials are seeking commitments to make the two remaining plants better fit the firm's needs.

At one time, 13 sites, including one in Michigan, were checked by VW.

First Berries Sell For $850

The first crate of strawberries of the season, brought on the Benton Harbor Fruit market Tuesday, sold for $850 at the traditional season-opening auction this morning.

A combine of eight farming-related firms boosted its own $500 bid to $850 before Auctioneer John Glassman's hammer fell, to push the price above a $800 price for the first berries in 1975.

As is customary, the grower, Terry Austra of Dowagiac, gets the first $25 and the remaining $825 to will charities designated by the members of the combine.

The all-time record price for the first crate of strawberries at the market was set in 1974, when bidding soared to $1,925.

Members of the successful bidding combine this morning were: Coloma Canning Cooperative; Pierson's Fruit Market, Sister Lakes; Farmer Friday's Market, Coloma; Radom Farm Supply, Blairbridge Center; Blossomland Container Corp., Benton Harbor; First National Bank of Watervliet; Watervliet Fruit Exchange, and Coloma Growers, Inc.

In the interim since Austra and his fiancée, Miss Ruth Hassle of Decatur, brought the first crate to the market Tuesday morning, the crop has ripened the point that Austra brought another 58 crates of berries to the market this morning. No other berries have appeared in the meantime, however.

BH Man Convicted On Federal Count

GRAND RAPIDS — A Benton Harbor man was convicted Thursday in U.S. District court of participating in the theft of some $1,200 in checks from a truck brokerage firm in Benton township 19 months ago.

Jurors in the court of Judge Noel P. Fox deliberated six hours before finding John Paul Rodgers guilty of aiding and abetting in the interstate transportation of stolen property.

Rodgers, 31, was one of three men indicted by a federal grand jury last year in connection with the theft and cashing of checks taken in October 1974 from the Benton township office of Transportation Services, Inc., a truck brokerage firm headquartered in Shawnee Mission, Kansas.

The three were identified and apprehended through the joint efforts of the FBI and the Michigan State police.

One co-defendant, Frederick Alan Fuller, a former Benton Harbor man now living in Mt. Pleasant, pleaded guilty to the charge earlier this week.

Charges against the third co-defendant, Gerald Dean Colard, 19, of Buchanan, were returned county jail, where he is being held on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. Fuller remains free on bond.

dismissed because he was a juvenile under federal law at the time of the offense and because he had cooperated in prosecution of the case, according to an FBI spokesman.

While awaiting sentencing, Rodgers was returned to the

A Ban On Racing

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Highway Commission voted unanimously Thursday to ban auto racing on state roads. "Our state highways were not designed for racing," said commission Chairman Peter Fletcher. The vote prohibits a race run the last two years on Wide Track Drive, a state highway in Pontiac. Both races were sponsored by the City of Pontiac and the Waterford Hills Racing Club. Six spectators and a race-car driver were injured in the first race, and a driver was killed last year. The commission said its ban is effective "under any circumstances."

BH Firm Target Of Suits

Three firms seeking a total of $11,648 from Hayes and Sons Construction Co., Benton Harbor, the firm which remodeled the auditorium at Benton Harbor high school, filed lawsuits in Berrien Fifth District court this week.

Fenner Roofing and Sheet Metal Co. of Sodus, filed suit yesterday in the civil division of District court. The company alleges that it subcontracted with Hayes and Sons and did $3,779.88 worth of repair work at the auditorium for which it hasn't been paid.

Also named as a defendant in all three suits is the Balboa Insurance Co., of Newport Beach, Calif., which through a bond has insured payment of all of the Benton Harbor company's debts, according to the suits.

Plaintiffs in the other two suits are Michigan Woodwork and Specialties Co. of Battle Creek, and Abbott K. Schlain Co. of Lathrup Village. Because the insurance company delivered its bond to the Benton Harbor school district, the district in these two suits is also listed as a plaintiff, according to Atty. Lowell M. Seyburn, of Kalamazoo.

The Lathrup Village company alleges that it supplied Hayes and Sons with equipment valued at $5,794; the Battle Creek company claims that it delivered materials valued at $2,074.84. Neither bill has been paid, according to the suits.

All of the suits involve work done or materials delivered in 1975. The $385,000 project to renovate the auditorium was completed last year.

In February, a Grand Rapids firm filed suit in Berrien Circuit court, seeking $15,814 from Hayes' and Sons in connection with the remodeling.

Copy Shopping Centers, SJ Merchants Advised

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Downtown St. Joseph will have to operate like a shopping center if it is to survive "stiff competition" from other shopping areas, St. Joseph merchants were advised last night.

The recommendation was made by Steven A. Reed, president of Telgroup, a St. Joseph consulting firm commissioned by the St. Joseph Business association to do a marketing development study for downtown.

The study is called "Project Foresight," discussed it at a meeting attended by about 50 people in the conference room of Peoples State bank.

Reed's report stressed unity among merchants and suggested that downtown come up with a logo and name such as "Lakepark" to give it identity. Another suggestion was a calendar of events ranging from contests to fashion shows.

Reed said shopping centers have four basic strengths. They are: newer facilities, planned development, good locations and single-unit marketing.

He added that single-unit marketing, promoting the shopping area as a whole rather than by separate stores, was the biggest difference between shopping centers and downtowns.

Reed noted that downtown merchants tend to be more independent than shopping center merchants. He said shopping center merchants are more unified by virtue of the store leases they sign that can dictate matters like the hours their businesses should be open.

Project Foresight was presented in three major parts: area development, marketing and organization.

Under area development there were long and short range goals. Among short range goals were suggestions to make State street a one way street and allow 30 minute, angle parking on one side of the street.

Traffic would head one-way south from Broad street (on State street) and the other way north from Broad street.

HOUSING BILL
WASHINGTON (AP) — A $4.9-billion omnibus housing bill approved by the House would provide federal funds to local governments in areas hit by high unemployment.

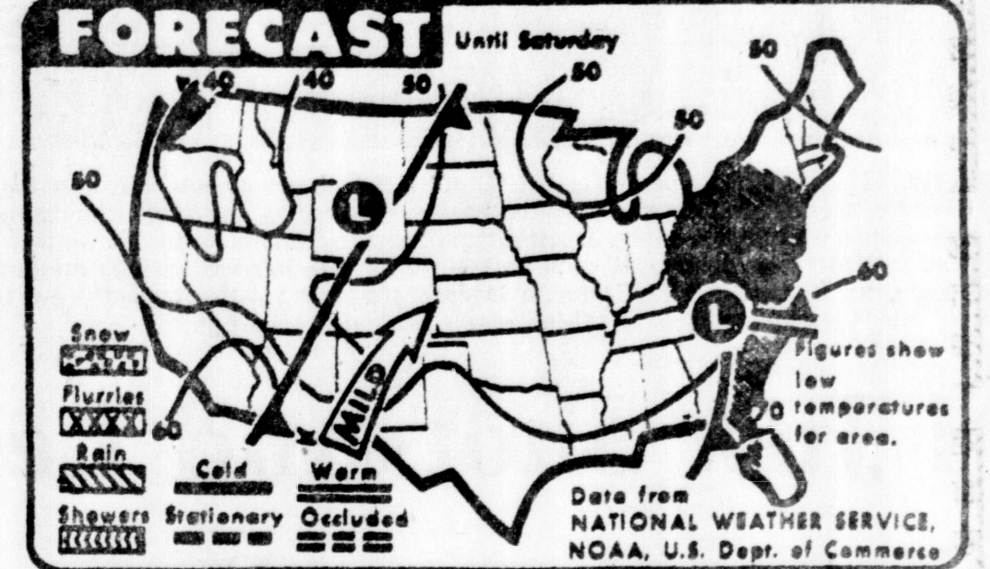

Another short term parking proposal was to allow either all day angle or parallel parking on Lake boulevard where there is two-hour parking. In another area, Reed suggested the possibility of developing the intersection of Pleasant and State streets into a "focal point" for the downtown. That would be done by employing various streetscape (landscape, such as grass islands) ideas and by limiting traffic flow on Pleasant near the intersection.

Long range plans, those that would probably not take place within two years, improved lighting on State, development of pedestrian streets (especially to the office district), widening of sidewalks, elimination of curb parking and the creation of additional parking lots.

Reed did not have a cost of what the "brick and mortar" improvements might cost.

After the meeting, Reed said the next step with Project Foresight was a meeting with the executive board of the St. Joseph Business association to determine what type of organizational structure to develop and to discuss possible financing methods.

Nuclear Waste Test Site Is Pinpointed

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Federal scientists say they hope to begin testing soon at a site 10 miles due west of Alpena to see if northeastern lower Michigan is suitable for underground disposal of radioactive wastes.

Meanwhile, Gov. William Milliken hastily set up a task force Thursday to study the possible dumping and said the prospect "should be approached very cautiously and...very openly."

Scientists from the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) said they hope to begin drilling at the site next month to check on the rock structure in the area.

Thomas Lomenick, geologist in charge of the project, said the test borings, possibly as deep as 4,500 feet, will give ERDA information about salt formations beneath Alpena, Montmorency and Presque Isle counties.

He said the tentative site of the test hole is somewhere in a square-mile section just south of Michigan 32. Most of the land in the area is owned by the Huron Cement Co.

ERDA officials outlined their plans to state Department of Natural Resources officials at an unannounced meeting Tuesday in Lansing.

Although a representative of the governor's office was present at the meeting, Milliken on Thursday criticized the secrecy of the session.

"I think that whatever is done, unlike the start, should be done right in the open," the governor said. "We need to approach this one very cautiously."

Milliken said Thursday he would ask the newly formed Nuclear Waste Disposal Task Force to review ERDA's plans immediately.

Milliken said the task force's report is due in September.

Named to the panel were: —William G. Taylor, the governor's science adviser and chairman of Michigan State University's Civil and Sanitary Engineering Department.

—Michael A. Dively, director of the Michigan Energy Administration.

—Donald Van Farowe, chief of the state's Radiological Health Division.

Ronald C. Callen, director of scientific research and evaluation for the Michigan Public Service Commission.

—James G. Truchan, an aquatic biologist with the Water Quality Control Division of the Department of Natural Resources.

Consumers Wins PR Honor

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Consumers Power company of Jackson, Mich., has received the first place award for community relations in the 19th annual American Gas Association public relations achievement awards competition.

The utility's outstanding community relations program was one of 12 utility campaigns to receive awards here at the Association's Workshop.

Consumers Power received the award in recognition of its coordination and support of a one-call underground utility damage prevention system — "Miss Dig."

The program promoted the use of the one-call system by those people concerned with underground construction planning and the actual construction, and emphasized the safe treatment of underground utilities once they are unearthed.

With the one-call system, a contractor can call one telephone number and alert all participating utilities and government agencies 48 hours before excavation.

If utility lines are at the site, the involved utility sends a trained employee to locate and mark the lines with color-keyed stakes. If the site is clear, a phone call gives the contractor the okay to proceed with the project.

In February 1976 the "Miss Dig" program becomes statewide when it was expanded to all 83 counties in Michigan.

Berrien To State GOP: Chalk Up 33 For Ford

By DICK DERRICK
Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Berrien county will send 40 delegates to the Republican state convention in Grand Rapids June 11-12 — all but seven committed to President Gerald Ford.

Ford received 14,891 votes in unofficial returns in the May 18 presidential primary election in Berrien county to 8,278 for Ronald Reagan.

Delegates voted 92 to 67

against a platform plank to take to the state that would give development of energy sources by private enterprise priority over "ecological purity."

The convention voted unanimously for welfare reform and 114 to 53 for a balanced federal budget.

The convention lacked a keynote, major controversy or floor fights. Chairman was Warren Gast of St. Joseph, a St. Joseph city commissioner.

The biggest noise on the floor came from a chorus of 30 voices of supporters of David Stockman, Fourth district congressional candidate. The group sang several patriotic songs. Monna Woodworth, former House of David music director, unveiled a new song, "March Victorious," which backs President Ford.

State Chairman William McLaughlin, who was scheduled to give the keynote address, reported he was busy calling county chairmen about a legislative ruling affecting delegates passed by the legislature yesterday. He said he could not leave Lansing.

An expected clash did not develop between abortion foes and supporters. A note from Lee Auble, county GOP chairman, pointed out any deviation from the issues approved by the state issues committee would be fruitless, apparently killing any demonstrations on that controversial subject.

The federal energy issue, which was branded as ambiguous and unworkable, sparked the most debate. The platform statement noted that "Congressional policy in recent years has advocated 'ecological purity' while ignoring energy needs. Therefore the U.S. government should encourage, through private enterprise, the development of energy sources to enable the U.S. to become independent of foreign energy supplies. The policy should put primary emphasis on energy needs rather than environmental quality."

There were only "yes" votes on a platform proposal that "Congress act with dispatch to reform the welfare system and replace it with a work-incentive program." Tellers counted 178 "yes" votes on that issue.

The balanced budget plank in the platform asked that "Congress eliminate the federal debt and initiate a Constitutional Amendment requiring a balanced budget." That was also assailed as wishful thinking and impossible to attain. But the delegates approved it by better than a 2 to 1 majority.

Michael Williamson of Coloma, who headed the platform committee, sidetracked debate on the three issues when he reported they were "non amendable." But he said delegates' comments would be recorded and reported to the state issues committee.

The delegates are:

John Glibensky, Hagar township; Robert Wooley and Robert Palmer, Coloma city and township; Thomas Murphy, Watervliet city and township; Montgomery Shepard, Michael Polunhany, Virginia Pearson and Irene Forburger, Benton Harbor and Benton township; Kenneth L. Wendzel, Bainbridge and Pipestone townships; Frederick S. Upton, Jeffrey McAkey, Forrest Jewell and Donald Baer, St. Joseph township; Claudia J. Norris, David F. Upton, Angela Naites and F.A. (Mike) Jones, St. Joseph.

Also Ron Both, Royall and Sodus townships; Bernice Tretheway, Jackson Hartman Jr., and Martin Tretheway, Lincoln township; Doris Walton and Robert Feather, Orinako township; Walter Heyn and William C. Heyn, Baroda and Lake townships; Marian Auble, Berrien township; Herbert Seeder and Lawrence Bates, Chikaming and Weesaw townships; Chester C. Guy Jr., New Buffalo city and township; Ernest A. Chase, Three Oaks and Gattien townships; Kimberly A. Sullivan, Bertrand and Buchanan townships; Joseph Garbert II, Buchanan; Faye Dykstra, Clarence Hodges and Arleta Hodges, Niles township; and Eugene White, James Yocum and Harold R. Hostler, Niles.

Auble, county chairman, and Mrs. Judith Hecht, register of deeds and county vice chairman, are automatically included as delegates.

'I Just Shot And Left,' Sister Quotes Defendant

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The sister of a man charged with killing a South Haven woman during a holdup last Dec. 1, testified in Van Buren circuit court yesterday that she overheard her brother say to another man that he had fired a gun but that he did not know if he hit anyone.

Mrs. Alta Madry, 422 Abel, South Haven, said her brother, Ronnie L. Wilson, told Edwin Lamar Langston that he thought the safety on a 9-mm pistol was on, and that he did not intend to shoot anyone.

"Did you shoot her?" Mrs. Madry quoted Langston as asking.

"Man, I don't know. I just shot and left," Mrs. Madry said was Wilson's response.

The testimony was delivered during the third day of the trial of Wilson, 27, Gary, Ind., on a charge of first-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Arretta Lou Ingraham, wife of South Haven Councilman Wilbur Ingraham.

Mrs. Ingraham was shot to death during a robbery of the Maple Street grocery store which she and her husband owned. Langston, 23, of South Haven, is also charged with first-degree murder in connection with the case, and will go on trial July 21.

Judge Meyer Warshawsky recessed the trial at noon yesterday until next Wednesday morning. He explained that he had to act as a visiting judge in Calhoun county later in the day, and that court business had been already scheduled for today and next Tuesday. Monday is Memorial Day.

Mrs. Madry quoted her brother as saying that the woman had picked up the phone several times and was trying to call police. Although Wilson told her to put the phone down, another man said to continue calling police, she said her brother remarked.

When Wilson said he did not intend to shoot her, Mrs. Madry testified that Langston said, "It didn't matter because she was overdue anyway." Asked by Prosecutor Frank D. Willis what Langston meant by this, Mrs. Madry replied that Langston felt that when he had gone into the store as a child, the woman had acted in a prejudiced manner. Wilson and Langston are black and Mrs. Ingraham white.

Mrs. Madry said that during the course of the conversation between Wilson and Langston, Wilson also described struggling with a man before the shooting, but did not give the man's name.

Earlier in her testimony, Mrs. Madry said that when he came to stay with her, Wilson had a 9-mm pistol. She said he asked for the pistol, because he was going back to Gary, on the afternoon of the robbery.

She also said that evening Langston told Wilson to move

Wilson's car from the backyard of the Madry home to the front, before they got "busted."

Mrs. Madry also described a wallet which she said Langston and Wilson put into a brown paper bag and burned. She said that while they were handling it, some keys fell out.

"Man, I believe this is the key that fits the store," she quoted Langston as saying. "I'll keep it and some weekend when they're gone, I'll rip them off."

Mrs. Madry also said a driver's license and a picture of a man and woman fell out of the wallet before it was burned. She said she later identified the man in the picture as Wilbur Ingraham when she saw a photograph of him in the newspaper.

She also testified the wallet contained some foreign currency and several old $3 bills.

Wilson's girlfriend, L'Taska Courtney, also said she overheard Langston tell Wilson to move the car before they got busted. She said Langston told Wilson he'd better "get out of town" because the police were looking for him.

Both Miss Courtney and Mrs. Madry said that they saw Wilson go underneath the house through a trapdoor in a back room.

Robert Sink, a South Haven police officer, said the day after Wilson had been arrested at the home, he crawled underneath it and recovered a blanket, water glass, and some cigarette butts.

Emergency Calls Still In Doubt

NEW BUFFALO — Officials of three municipalities here will meet again June 2 in an attempt to determine whether their emergency fire and ambulance calls will be dispatched through the state police at Benton Harbor, or Berrien county sheriff's department in St. Joseph.

No decision on the matter was reached last night at a special meeting of the New Buffalo township board attended by New Buffalo city and Three Oaks village officials.

The New Buffalo state police post will become a substation of the Benton Harbor post after June 13 and will not dispatch emergency calls as in the past.

Fire departments previously dispatched by the New Buffalo post were New Buffalo city and township, Three Oaks, Chikaming township, Lakeside, Riverside and Sawyer.

It was indicated at last night's meeting that all but New Buffalo city and township and Three Oaks village have decided to be dispatched through the county sheriff's department.

New Buffalo city and township and Three Oaks village meet at New Buffalo city hall to officials will decide.

William Marx, New Buffalo city manager, and Joseph Stehla, New Buffalo township supervisor, said all factors will have to be looked at more closely before a final decision is reached.

Van Buren Republicans Supporting Bottle Ban

BANGOR — Some 125 Van Buren county Republicans meeting in convention here last night picked 13 delegates to the state GOP convention and approved two of three proposals submitted by an issues committee.

By an overwhelming margin delegates voted to support a proposal that would ban throw-away bottles, cans and tabs.

Another proposition calling on each state regulatory and licensing agency to prove to the public every six years that its existence is needed, passed by a solid majority.

Elected as delegates to the state GOP convention in Grand Rapids, June 11-12, were: William J. Hoyer and Ralph Gaines, South Haven; James Wellington, Lacota; Roger Thomas, Bangor; Sue Lackey, James Middaugh and James Week, Paw Paw; Gerald Rende, Pine Grove township; Harold Schultmaker, Antwerp township; Guy Rundo, Decatur; Ruth Lytle, Keeler; David Hampton, Hartford and Mrs. William (Bea) Lackey, Paw Paw.

Also Ron Both, Royall and Sodus townships; Bernice Tretheway, Jackson Hartman Jr., and Martin Tretheway, Lincoln township; Doris Walton and Robert Feather, Orinako township; Walter Heyn and William C. Heyn, Baroda and Lake townships; Marian Auble, Berrien township; Herbert Seeder and Lawrence Bates, Chikaming and Weesaw townships; Chester C. Guy Jr., New Buffalo city and township; Ernest A. Chase, Three Oaks

PHARMACY BREAK-IN THWARTED: A service station attendant frightened burglars early today as they attempted a break-in at rear of Richard Gillespie Pharmacy, 2029 Washington avenue, St. Joseph township police said. Attendant Herb Metz at Clark service station, 2008 Washington, said two men fled in a blue 1970 Ford about 6 a.m. when he investigated noises next door. Police said entry was gained to storage area at rear of vacant office adjacent to pharmacy (open door at left), but did not get into rear door of pharmacy despite attempt at breaking down door with trash barrel. Nothing was believed taken from storage area which is not part of the pharmacy, police reported. (Staff photo)

Cass Republicans Name 10 Convention Delegates

Gregarick memorial building at the county fair grounds, the county delegates voted to ask the legislature to reduce the tax value of property from 50 per cent to 40 per cent of real property value. They also voted to ask the legislature to examine the "total tax structure" with a view toward a complete tax revision.

State convention delegates elected were Herbert Phillips, Dowagiac; Steven Stalonis, Dowagiac; Lowell McMillen, Niles; Richard Jankowski, Cassopolis; LaVern Hazard, Cassopolis; Paul Knight, Cassopolis; Kenneth King, Cassopolis; Natalie Pankauski, Dowagiac; Wilbur Bresneman, Marcellus; and Marshal Schug, Vandalia.

CONVENTION CHIEF: Warren Gast (left) of St. Joseph prepares to take over the Berrien county Republican convention after it was opened by Lee Auble, chairman of the county committee. Auble, in setting up the arrangements for the convention, noted a "Carter for president" sign on the wall of the Berrien Springs middle school gym. It was for Julie Carter, a seventh grader but Auble tucked it away until after the convention so as not to distract delegates. (Staff photo)

Berrien To State GOP: Chalk Up 33 For Ford

By DICK DERRICK
Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Berrien county will send 40 delegates to the Republican state convention in Grand Rapids June 11-12 — all but seven committed to President Gerald Ford.

Ford received 14,891 votes in unofficial returns in the May 18 presidential primary election in Berrien county to 8,278 for Ronald Reagan.

The delegates, selected at caucuses at the county convention last night at Berrien Springs, listed their presidential preference. The lone Ronald Reagan supporter was Thomas Murphy of Watervliet. Six others are going to the convention uncommitted. The state convention picks delegates for the national presidential nominating convention.

Delegates voted 92 to 67

against a platform plank to take to the state that would give development of energy sources by private enterprise priority over "ecological purity."

The convention voted unanimously for welfare reform and 114 to 53 for a balanced federal budget.

The convention lacked a keynoter, major controversy or floor fights. Chairman was Warren Gast of St. Joseph, a St. Joseph city commissioner.

The biggest noise on the floor came from a chorus of 30 voices of supporters of David Stockman, Fourth district congressional candidate. The group sang several patriotic songs. Manna Woodworth, former House of David music director, unveiled a new song, "March Victorious," which backs President Ford.

State Chairman William McLaughlin, who was scheduled to give the keynote address, reported he was busy calling county chairmen about a legislative ruling affecting delegates passed by the legislature yesterday. He said he could not leave Lansing.

An expected clash did not develop between abortion foes and supporters. A note from Lee Auble, county GOP chairman, pointed out any deviation from the issues approved by the state issues committee would be fruitless, apparently killing any demonstrations on that controversial subject.

The federal energy issue, which was branded as ambiguous and unworkable, sparked the most debate. The platform statement noted that:

"Congressional policy in recent years has advocated 'ecological purity' while ignoring energy needs. Therefore the U.S. government should encourage, through private enterprise, the development of energy sources to enable the U.S. to become independent of foreign energy supplies. The policy should put primary emphasis on energy needs rather than environmental quality."

There were only "yes" votes on a platform proposal that "Congress act with dispatch to reform the welfare system and replace it with a work-incentive program." Tellers counted 178 "yes" votes on that issue.

The balanced budget plank in the platform asked that "Congress eliminate the federal debt and initiate a Constitutional Amendment requiring a balanced budget." That was also assailed as wishful thinking and impossible to attain. But the delegates approved it by better than a 2 to 1 majority.

Michael Williamson of Coloma, who headed the platform committee, sidetracked debate on the three issues when he reported they were "non amendable." But he said delegates' comments would be recorded and reported to the state issues committee.

The delegates are: John Globensky, Hagar township; Robert Wooley and Robert Palmer, Coloma city and township; Thomas Murphy, Watervliet city and township; Montgomery Shepard, Michael Poluhanycz, Virginia Pearson and Irene Forburger, Benton Harbor and Benton township; Kenneth L. Wendzel, Bainbridge and Pipestone townships; Frederick S. Upton, Jeffrey McAlvey, Forrest Jewell and Donald Baer, St. Joseph township; Claudia J. Norris, David F. Upton, Angela Naines and F.A. (Mike) Jones, St. Joseph.

Also Ron Both, Royalton and Sodus townships; Bernice Tretheway, Jackson Hartman Jr., and Martin Tretheway, Lincoln township; Doris Walton and Robert Feather, Oronoko township; Walter Heyn and William C. Heyn, Baroda and Lake townships; Marian Auble, Berrien township; Herbert Seeder and Lawrence Bates, Chikaming and Weesaw townships; Chester C. Guy Jr., New Buffalo city and township; Ernest A. Chase, Three Oaks and Galien townships; Kimberly A. Sullivan, Bertrand and Buchanan townships; Joseph Garbert II, Buchanan; Faye Dykstra, Clarence Hodges and Arelia Hodges, Niles township; and Eugene White, James

Yocum and Harold R. Hosler, Niles.

Auble, county chairman, and Mrs. Judith Hecht, register of deeds and county vice chairman, are automatically included as delegates.

'I Just Shot And Left,' Sister Quotes Defendant

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The sister of a man charged with killing a South Haven woman during a holdup last Dec. 1, testified in Van Buren circuit court yesterday that she overheard her brother say to another man that he had fired a gun but that he did not know if he hit anyone.

Mrs. Alta Madry, 422 Abel, South Haven, said her brother, Ronnie L. Wilson, told Edwin Lamar Langston that he thought the safety on a 9-mm pistol was on, and that he did not intend to shoot anyone.

"Did you shoot her?" Mrs. Madry quoted Langston as asking.

"Man, I don't know. I just shot and left," Mrs. Madry said was Wilson's response.

The testimony was delivered during the third day of the trial of Wilson, 27, Gary, Ind., on a charge of first-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Arretta Lou Ingham, wife of South Haven Councilman Wilbur Ingham.

Mrs. Ingham was shot to death during a robbery of the Maple Street grocery store which she and her husband owned. Langston, 23, of South Haven, is also charged with first-degree murder in connection with the case, and will go on trial July 20.

Judge Meyer Warshawsky recessed the trial at noon yesterday until next Wednesday morning. He explained that he had to act as a visiting judge in Calhoun county later in the day, and that court business had been already scheduled for today and next Tuesday. Monday is Memorial Day.

Mrs. Madry quoted her brother as saying that the woman had picked up the phone several times and was trying to call police. Although Wilson told her to put the phone down, another man said to continue calling police, she said her brother remarked.

When Wilson said he did not intend to shoot her, Mrs. Madry testified that Langston said, "It didn't matter because she was overdue anyway." Asked by Prosecutor Frank D. Willis what Langston meant by this, Mrs. Madry replied that Langston felt that when he had gone into the store as a child, the woman had acted in a prejudiced manner. Wilson and Langston are black and Mrs. Ingham white.

Mrs. Madry said that during the course of the conversation between Wilson and Langston, Wilson also described struggling with a man before the shooting, but did not give the man's name.

Earlier in her testimony, Mrs. Madry said that when he came to stay with her, Wilson had a 9-mm pistol. She said he asked for the pistol, because he was going back to Gary, on the afternoon of the robbery.

She also said that evening Langston told Wilson to move Wilson's car from the backyard of the Madry home to the front, before they got "busted."

Mrs. Madry also described a wallet which she said Langston and Wilson put into a brown paper bag and burned. She said that while they were handling it, some keys fell out.

"Man, I believe this is the key that fits the store," she quoted Langston as saying. "I'll keep it and some weekend when they're gone, I'll rip them off."

Mrs. Madry also said a driver's license and a picture of a man and woman fell out of the wallet before it was burned. She said she later identified the man in the picture as Wilbur Ingham when she saw a photograph of him in the newspaper.

She also testified the wallet contained some foreign currency and several old $5 bills.

Wilson's girlfriend, L'Taska Courtney, also said she overheard Langston tell Wilson to move the car before they got busted. She said Langston told Wilson he'd better "get out of town" because the police were looking for him.

Both Miss Courtney and Mrs. Madry said that they saw Wilson go underneath the house through a trapdoor in a back room.

Robert Sink, a South Haven police officer, said the day after Wilson had been arrested at the home, he crawled underneath it and recovered a blanket, water glass, and some cigarette butts.

Van Buren Republicans Supporting Bottle Ban

BANGOR — Some 125 Van Buren county Republicans meeting in convention here last night picked 13 delegates to the state GOP convention and approved two of three proposals submitted by an issues committee. By an overwhelming margin delegates voted to support a proposal that would ban throw-away bottles, cans and tabs.

Another proposition calling on each state regulatory and licensing agency to prove to the public every six years that its existence is needed, passed by a solid majority.

Cass Republicans Name 10 Convention Delegates

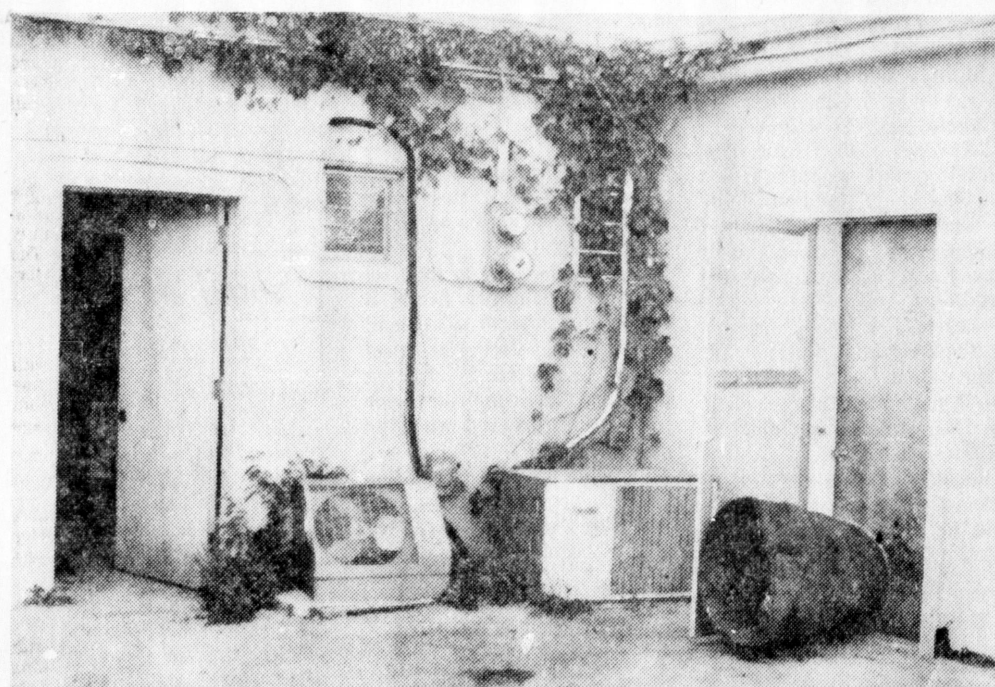

CASSOPOLIS — Cass county Republicans elected 10 delegates last night to the state Republican convention scheduled for June 11 and 12 at Grand Rapids.

The approximately 130 people at the county convention here also passed two resolutions calling for state tax reforms.

Meeting in the Agnes

Gregarick memorial building at the county fair grounds, the county delegates voted to ask the legislature to reduce the tax value of property from 50 per cent to 40 per cent of real property value. They also voted to ask the legislature to examine the "total tax structure" with a view toward a complete tax revision.

State convention delegates elected were Herbert Phillips, Dowagiac; Steven Staloni, Dowagiac; Lowell McMillen, Niles; Richard Jankowski, Cassopolis; LaVern Hazard, Cassopolis; Paul Conkright, Jones; Kenneth King, Cassopolis; Natalie Pankauski, Dowagiac; Wilbur Bresmen, Marcellus; and Marshal Schug, Vandalia.

PHARMACY BREAK-IN THWARTED: A service station attendant frightened burglars early today as they attempted a break-in at rear of Richard Gillespie Pharmacy, 2020 Washington avenue, St. Joseph township police said. Attendant Herb Metz at Clark service station, 2008 Washington, said two men fled in a blue 1970 Ford about 6 a.m. when he investigated noises next door. Police said entry was gained to storage area at rear of vacant office adjacent to pharmacy (open door at left), but did not get into rear door of pharmacy despite attempt at breaking down door with trash barrel. Nothing was believed taken from storage area which is not part of the pharmacy, police reported. (Staff photo)

OUTBOARDS

Imperial

Come in and see the 1976 Riviera Cruiser. Size it up for yourself — the usable deck space, the multi-function capabilities, the safety, the comfort. You'll find Riviera Cruiser is a lot of boat for the money. With a lot more boating possibilities than most water craft can afford. See them during our Grand Opening.

This Deep-Vee bow rider features an open bow area and walk through windshield. With stainless steel and teak trim and swim ladder, the SS205 is sporty enough for avid skiers yet with plenty of room for the serious fisherman. And now through May 31 when you purchase the SS205 or the SS195 you get $495 worth of Voit water skiing equipment!

This year the good news in out-boarding is all Johnson, with industry-leading engineering and performance features to efficiently use every drop of fuel, to make the most of your outboarding times. Visit us during our Grand Opening and let us show you and tell you about Johnson for 1976.
